ACTION TO IMPEACH HARDY BEGUN AT SACRAMENTO

Judiciary Committee Orders Trial Resolution to be Presented for Assembly Vote Today

BY C. A. JONES
"Times" Staff Representative

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—An impeachment resolution aimed at Superior Judge Hardy of Los Angeles county is being drawn here tonight by the Legislative Council, at the instance of the Assembly Judiciary Committee, following a day's delay put on an abortive attempt to investigate the jurist's receipt of a check for $2500 from Aimee Semple McPherson.

The resolution, calling for the appointment of a board of managers to prosecute charges against Judge Hardy and to notify him and the Senate, which will sit as the high court of impeachment, will be submitted to the Assembly tomorrow morning, according to the announced purpose of the committee. The members of the committee are Assemblymen Little, Woolwine and Byrne, all of Los Angeles. It is probable that the managers named in the resolution will be Senators Little and Sewell, the latter chairman of the Judiciary committee.

HYDE DETERMINED

The committee was named at a meeting this afternoon of the Judiciary Committee, called as a special session of business to consider the impeachment resolution, offered by Assemblyman Arnold of Los Angeles. The resolution called for the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate Judge Hardy. The Judiciary Committee was of the unanimous opinion that this is the proper mode of procedure and voted to recommend it unfavorably. However, the Los Angeles Assembly delegation met and voted to proceed directly in proper manner for the impeachment. This is the first time the Los Angeles delegation has come to question its plan to act as a unit, the majority governing. The Judiciary Committee called in Fred Hyde, head of the Legislative Council Bureau, to advise them. Hyde dug deep into the records and suggested that if resolution naming the board of managers be laid before the Assembly. The resolution of Little, Woolwine and Byrne was organized to handle the matter, and after a conference with Mr. Wood to draw the resolution.

HYDE WOULD PRESIDE

The appointment of an official is a first in California history and for that reason the committee proceeded with care, so as not to void the case by creating a reversible error. If the Assembly adopts the resolution tomorrow, forming a board of managers, these in turn will investigate the facts, draw charges, notify the respondent, Judge Hardy, and the Senate will sit as a court of impeachment, with Justice Waste presiding. The managers will prosecute the case, while the respondent will appear before the bar of the Senate in person. The move must originate in the Assembly. A two-thirds vote of the Assembly—forty-seven, is required for conviction. Conviction means removal from office and the right to hold any public office. It acts as no criminal proceedings in the matter of law. Only the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, elective executive officers and judges of the Supreme, Appellate and Superior courts are subject to impeachment.

AIRPLANES PRACTICE FOR FIGHT

Two Hundred Units of Navy's Flying Fleet Drill En Route to Canal

BY LIEUT. A. AGETON, U.S.N.

ABOARD U.S.S. IDAHO, EN ROUTE TO PANAMA, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Despite boisterous, cold and unpleasant weather, experienced since the battle fleet departed San Pdro for Panama on the 15th inst., the Navy's new air fleet of approximately 200 planes has passed with high success its first rigorous tests in high seas flying operations during the past three days.

All types of naval aircraft—fighters, scouts and bombers—have been sent up from the decks of the carriers Saratoga and Lexington and catapulted from the battleships during the exercising formations and maneuvers, in preparation for the great "battle" for possession of the Panama Canal, in which the battle fleet will engage the scouting fleet, now in the Atlantic hurrying toward Panama, within the fortnight. The aircraft carrier Lexington, rushing on ahead to join the scouting fleet in defense of the canal, also has reported complete success in plane tests.

The dreadnaught squadron and train force were joined on Tuesday night by the destroyers, submarines and aircraft squadrons, the fleet of eighty vessels immediately going into a circular cruising formation, covering more than 100 square miles. Individual ships also are exercising at division and gunnery drills, preparing for the coming battle problem and spring target practice off San Pedro, and athletic teams are working out each afternoon in preparation for the all-fleet championships at Panama.

Olympic Games Bill Presented

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Creation of an Olympic Games Commission and appropriation of $500,000 as the first preparatory step for holding of the 1932 Olympic meet in Southern California was called for in a bill introduced today by Assemblymen Coombs and Woolwine.

A $1,000,000 State Bond Act was passed at the November election to defray the expense of the world-wide games.

SCORE DEAD IN TEMBLOR

Venezuela City Destroyed

Early Morning Disaster Brings Wireless Call for Assistance

Cumana Razed by Shocks; Doctors, Nurses and Supplies Rushed

CARACAS (Venezuela) Jan. 17. (AP)—The newspaper El Universal says that twenty-five dead and a great number of injured have been taken from the ruins of the city of Cumana which was shaken by an earthquake this morning.

The Governor of Cumana sent a wireless message to President Gomez tonight saying that the quake, which occurred at 7 a.m., destroyed every building in the city. He said there is a great number of victims and he appealed for physicians, medicine and food.

The government is rushing steamers and other vessels with supplies, physicians, nurses and tents to the stricken area.

About sixty years ago Cumana was nearly destroyed by an earthquake and since has been subject to occasional shocks.

It is the capital of the Department of Sucre and has a population of about 15,000. It is situated about a mile above the mouth of the Manzanares River, about 250 miles east of Caracas. Cotton goods manufacture is one of the chief industries.

It is noted as the birthplace of Marshal Antonio Jose De Sucre, South American liberator, for whom Sucre, the nominal capital of Bolivia, is named.

Marshal Foch's Condition Shows Continued Gain

PARIS, Jan. 17. (AP)—A slight improvement in the condition of Marshal Foch was noted by his four physicians this evening at the conclusion of the fourth day of his illness.

Dr. Heitz-Boyer, spokesman for the four, said, "We are satisfied with the progress of the illness. There is no aggravation of his condition; rather the slight improvement continues. But we cannot promise for the future. His condition remains grave."

No official communique on the marshal's condition is to be issued until 9 a.m. Friday. None of the doctors remained with him tonight.

King's Condition "Satisfactory"

LONDON, Jan. 17. (AP)—One of the most favorable bulletins drafted by the King's doctors since the beginning of his illness was posted at Buckingham Palace at noon today.

It described His Majesty's progress as "satisfactory," even if it continues to be slow, and palace circles are plainly gratified with the report.

It is pointed out that this was the first time the physicians had thus characterized the King's condition during his long illness and it is taken as an indication that the improvement continues to be of a definite character.

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Al Smith made a mighty nice straightforward speech last night over the radio. And it's a good idea to not let the party die down, for you got to watch. You let the Democrats not be looking for just a minute and one of them Republicans will grab that Washington's monument and light out with it.

I hated to see Al passing the hat for the rich Democrats. He is too big a man to be handed a tin cup and sent out on the highways.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

JOHN D., SR., ENTERS FIGHT

Elder Rockefeller's Support of Son in Standard Oil War Makes Trouble for Stewart

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who although retired still is recognized as the titular head of the Standard Oil group, has thrown the full weight of his influence into the fight which his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is making to prevent the re-election of Col. Robert W. Stewart as a director and chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

It was learned today at the Standard Oil Building that the elder Rockefeller has taken sides with his son so determinedly that he may shortly assume actual direction of the contest.

He was represented as being more aroused than he ever has been over any dispute that has arisen since he turned over his affairs to his son.

He regards Col. Stewart's attitude as an affront to the Rockefeller dynasty and has passed the word along to all of his connections that every possible effort is to be made to wrest control of the Standard of Indiana from the present chairman.

Because of the interest which Mr. Rockefeller, Sr., is taking in the contest Wall street concluded that Col. Stewart has on his hands a much more difficult problem than was first thought. Brokerage houses, banks, insurance companies and other large holders of Standard of Indiana stock, which previously were disposed to take a neutral position in the fight, now are inclined to rally to the support of the Rockefeller interests, it was said in Wall street. Col. Stewart left Chicago hurriedly for New York today and tomorrow will take active charge of the canvass for proxies to be used in the annual meeting of stockholders on March 7, next.

Wall street ran out on the Standard Oil of Indiana stock fight today when rumor spread that Rockefeller, Jr., had obtained sufficient proxies to defeat Col. Stewart for re-election as chairman of the board.

Although the stock opened enthusiastically at 100 on a turnover of 6500 shares and struggled half a point higher in the early hours, it had sagged to 96½ at the close with 48,000 shares changing hands.

PROXIES OF ALIENS GO TO ROCKEFELLER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Howard E. Sutherland, Alien Property Custodian, said today that he has assigned the voting power of between 12,000 and 13,000 shares of the stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The stock, the property of Germans seized during the World War, was deposited by Mr. Sutherland with the Equitable Trust Company of New York, for the use of Mr. Rockefeller for voting power. Mr. Sutherland explained that he has entire disposal of the voting power of the stock as Alien Property Custodian.

Mr. Sutherland said that he had received the request for proxies on the stock from Mr. Rockefeller a week ago and a similar request was received today from Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the company. Rockefeller has announced an attempt to oust Stewart from the chairmanship because of the latter's testimony before the Senate Teapot Dome Investigating Committee.

Thomas Nelson Perkins of Boston was chosen as an alternate.

The Ambassador advised the Secretary he is leaving tonight for New York to extend the invitation to the Americans. Mr. Kellogg was informed as a diplomatic courtesy and said the selections have his approval.

Princess Mary Escapes Injury as Horse Falls

LONDON, Jan 17. (AP)—The Daily Mail tomorrow will say that Princess Mary was thrown from her horse while hunting Monday with the Branham Moor hounds, but escaped injury.

Her horse floundered in the mud and fell on its side. The Princess was thrown clear some distance away, but the ground being soft she was not hurt. Other riders, however, were so close to her that they had difficulty in reining in their horses.

They dismounted and helped the Princess to her feet. She laughed, got back on her horse, and went on with the hunt.

MARYLAND RAIL WRECK KILLS FOUR

All Victims Trainmen and No Passengers Were Hurt Seriously, Says Reports

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17. (AP)—Four trainmen were killed and another was critically injured tonight in a Pennsylvania Railroad wreck near Aberdeen, Md., in which two passenger trains and a freight were involved. No passengers were seriously hurt, the company reported.

Those killed were A. C. Terhune and T. J. Kavanaugh, respectively, engineman and fireman, on one of the passenger trains, and B. W. Stewart and K. A. Klein, members of the freight crew.

Stewart and Klein were removed from the wreckage shortly after the accident, but because of steam escaping from the locomotives, the bodies of Kavanaugh and Terhune were not found for several hours.

Leon Sweeding, engineman of one of the passenger trains, was so badly hurt that physicians said he has but slight chance of recovery.

Passenger train No. 412, northbound from Washington to Philadelphia and New York, crashed into the rear of a northbound freight train at a station called Short Lane, piling wreckage over both north and southbound tracks. A moment later Passenger No. 121 from New York to Washington, with through sleeping cars for points farther south, plunged into the wreckage.

Several passenger cars were derailed and three of the sleeping cars turned over on their sides.

Relief trains carrying physicians and nurses were sent to the scene from Baltimore and Perryville, Md., and Wilmington, Del.

Frita Kreisler, concert violinist, was aboard the Washington-bound express train. He was thrown to the floor of the car but was bruised only slightly. He made his way to a neighboring farmhouse and then obtained tansportation to Hare De Grace, where he entrained for Washington, where he was scheduled to appear in concert.

KEYES GOT ROLL OF MONEY FROM TAILOR, JURY TOLD

Riemer Also Handed Wad of Bills at Dividing-Up Party, Declares Former Getzoff Employee

A roll of currency "three inches thick" was divided between former Dist.-Atty. Asa Keyes and his chief investigator, Charles Riemer, in Ben Getzoff's little tailor shop on Spring street, it was testified late yesterday at the trial of Keyes and five others in Superior Judge Butler's court.

Coming as a dramatic climax to the State's case, such was the testimony of John Rettenger, once employed in Getzoff's shop as a bushelman, who testified he observed the comings and goings of Keyes and the others who are now defendants on bribery conspiracy charges.

It was during the trial of the Julian conspiracy cases, said Rettenger, that he saw Dave Getzoff come into the tailor shop with a large amount of paper money and hand it to his father, Ben Getzoff, in the office in the rear of the shop.

PEELS OFF BILLS

Asa Keyes was in the office and Rettenger, looking through the window, according to his testimony, saw Ben Getzoff peel off the bills from the roll.

"How big was the roll," demanded Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart.

"About so big," said the witness, raising his hand appreciably from the witness stand.

"About three inches," observed Judge Butler.

"And what did Mr. Keyes do?" relentlessly continued the prosecutor.

"He took it," said Rettenger, simply.

Riemer, who also was in the shop at the time, also got some, the witness continued, but he argued about the amount.

"Riemer said he had $2200 coming and Getzoff only had $1200 left," testified Rettenger.

SURPRISE WITNESS

Rettenger's amazing testimony came on the heels of that of another surprise witness, who also testified that he was in the shop and saw Keyes come out of the tailor's office "adjusting his bill fold."

The surprise witness, Ernest Nollac, 103 South La Jolla street, every few weeks, he asserted, trimmed the windows of Getzoff's tailor shop, and saw Keyes, Riemer, the Getzoffs and Ed and Jack Rosenberg, the defendants, in the shop at various times.

With the testimony of Nollac, Rettenger and Joseph Sherman, the prosecution has presented three witnesses who declare that they witnessed parts of the actual passing of money between Ben Getzoff, so-called pay-off man in the bribery case, and Keyes.

Each corroborated the other in the following essentials:

That on the day in question Ed Rosenberg came into the tailor shop and wrote a check, that the check was handed to Dave Getzoff, who went out and returned with a roll of bills. Sherman and Rettenger maintain they saw the actual passage of money.

McNABB MENTIONED

Although the testimony of Rettinger and the window trimmer furnished the climax of the day's court session, attempts of cross-examining defense counsel during the morning to bring the name of U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb prominently into the case furnished a second sensation. Defense Attorney Le Compte Davis, during an argument over the cross-examination of Joseph Sherman, made the blunt statement to the court "that if money was given to Ben Getzoff it was given to bribe McNabb."

McNabb dismissed with a mere comment the charge.

"When this matter first came up," he said, "I made a statement and have nothing more to say about that. This statement lokos to me like a smoke screen. I can conceive of no reason why Getzoff should offer me any money and he never did; nor did I receive any."

STILL ON STAND

Rettenger was on the witness stand last night when court adjourned and there were no disclosures from the prosecution as to what other testimony he might be expected to give. His testimony is considered particularly strong in view of the fact that he has not

Magnetic Compasses Quit as Pole Deflects Needles; Motor Also Halts

BAY OF WHALES (Antarctica) Jan. 16. (Delayed) (Exclusive)—It has been difficult to get here, the furthest point south that a ship can go, but today we have felt repaid for the 11,600 odd miles of sea over which we have sailed since the City of New York left the States last August for we find ourselves at the threshold of unexplored areas.

We have lost no time in flying out in one of these areas. At 3:45 p.m. today Smith, June and I took the air in our Fairchild plane, the Stars and Stripes, setting a course to the southwestward. In five minutes we were looking into areas never before seen by man so far as we know. It did not take us long to find out that our nearness to the south magnetic pole made all three of our magnetic compasses entirely useless so we had to use the sun compass.

The magnetic compass started swinging immediately after our skis left the ice and kept on swinging until our return. First we flew over an uncharted harbor about three miles deep which is on the west side of the Bay of Whales near Floyd Bennett harbor. As we flew over this harbor I found myself comparing this flight over the ice and snow with trans-Atlantic flying and, with our compasses swinging, I thought of the trouble Chamberlin had with his compass at the beginning of his trans-Atlantic flight so decided that I would name it Chamberlin Harbor. There stretched ahead of us a great snow-covered ice field that the eye of man was looking upon for the first time. That always gave me a kick and is one of the great lures of the unknown.

THICK ICE SEEN

The ice we were flying over should be several hundred feet thick. How much of it is above the water or the land that some of it rests on was impossible to tell. Some miles to our left we could see a ridge formed by great pressure in the barrier and this seemed to extend well over fifteen miles. Dean Smith was at the stick filling up the whole forward part of the cabin with his six feet four of brawn. Just behind me sat June at the radio. The business of looking out the windows with glasses searching for something new to put on the maps was a fascinating one. Although we had

NEW PARK CHIEFS NAMED

Former Head at Crater Lake Takes Yosemite Post; Colorado Man Goes to Yellowstone

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Charles G. Thomson today was named superintendent of the Yosemite National Park by Secretary of Interior West. At the same time he announced the naming of Roger W. Toll as superintendent of the Yellowstone National Park. Horace M. Albright, director of the park service, left today for New York on park conference and will make a trip West shortly after March 4 to complete the reorganization of the service for the coming season of travel.

Vacancies in the superintendencies of two of the major parks, Yellowstone and Yosemite, occurred through the appointment of Supt. Horace M. Albright of the Yellowstone to the position of director of the National Park Service upon the resignation of Director Stephen T. Mather and the calling to the Washington office of W. B. Lewis, superintendent of Yosemite, as assistant to the director.

In line with the department's well-established policy, these two vacancies were filled by promotions within the service. Supt. Roger W. Toll of Rocky Mountain National Park has been appointed the Yellowstone superintendent, while C. G. Thomson, until the transfer superintendent of Crater Lake National Park, has been placed in charge of the Yosemite. Both of these men by their several years' experience in the National Park Service, as well as their previous general training, are exceptionally well qualified to administer the two important parks which have been intrusted to them.

Supt. Thomson spent nearly ten years in the Philippines and South Seas on Federal work. His first assignment in the Philippines was in the control of epidemic diseases then seriously menacing the supply of work animals in agricultural districts. This work required not only professional skill, but also a high order of tact and administrative ability in establishing quarantine and developing other preventive measures. He later was made assistant director and acting director of the Central Bureau of Prisons with administrative control of the large insular prison in Manila and the numerous provincial prisons. In France during the World War he served as captain and lieutenant-colonel in the remount division and was commander of all troops at Lux. July 19, 1919, he was cited "for exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous service." In 1923 he was appointed superintendent of Crater Lake National Park in Oregon.

Asserted Dividing Up of Huge Roll of Bills in Tailor Shop Told to Bribe-Case Jury received any reward for telling his story, as did Sherman and Milton Pike, the other two employees of the tailor establishment.

The roll that was "three inches thick" was not the only one Rettenger testified he saw.

He testified that at times he cleaned and pressed Ben Getzoff's clothes. One day Getzoff came up on the mezzanine floor of the shop where Rettenger's pressing equipment was and divested his suit and "cleaned out his pockets." Another "roll" made its appearance out of the pockets.

PROUD OF MONEY

"John, how do you like that?" the witness testified the elder Getzoff asked him with considerable pride.

"It looked like ten $1000 bills to me," said Rettenger. "Getzoff said that Jack Bennett (true name, Jacob Berman) had wired the money to him and that he was going to get $7000 more from the same source that day."

Jacob Berman (alias Jack Bennett) originally was one of the defendants in the present case, but turned State's evidence and the charges were dismissed against him. Known as the "bright young man of the Julian case," he previously testified at the trial that he gave Getzoff approximately $40,000 on the latter's assertion that he could "square" with Keyes the charges pending against Berman as a result of the Julian stock overissue fiasco.

Step by step Dist.-Atty. Fitts and his two aides connected up their evidence yesterday as they prepared to close the prosecution's case—they estimated that all of their evidence will be presented by Saturday morning or Monday.

TELLER TESTIFIES

The first witness called yesterday afternoon was Frank Kelleher, assistant manager of the Hayward Hotel, Sixth and Spring streets. Kelleher testified that the Getzoffs rented rooms at the Hayward on March 7, 1928, and September 17, 1928. The State contends that some of the payments made by Berman were paid in the Hayward. Kelleher said that Dave Getzoff said he wanted the room for his father to "rest" in.

Ohmer Oswald, teller of the Merchants' Trust and Savings Bank, went on the stand and identified checks made out by Louis Berman, brother of Jacob, and indorsed by Ben and Dave Getzoff. The State claims that Louis Berman wrote the checks at his brother's request to satisfy the Getzoffs' demand for more bribe money.

Richard Kern, salesman; George Wagner, credit manager; Maud Holsinger, cashier, and C. A. Carlson, delivery man, all of Barker Brothers, Inc., were on the witness stand in the order named and testified regarding the purchase of a chaise longue that the State maintains was purchased for Keyes by Jacob Berman at the instigation of Ben Getzoff.

GOT COVERING, TOO

Refreshing their memories from records of their departments, these witnesses established that the lounge had been purchased in the early part of March, 1928, at a price of $435.50, including a damask covering that was made to order. The records showed that the order was made by a person giving his name as B. Getzoff, address 305 East Avenue 31—the address of Keyes's home at that time. The telephone number given was that of Getzoff's tailor shop.

It was further testified that $140 first payment was made and Miss Holsinger released the lounge for delivery when one "B. Getzoff" paid the remaining $295.50. Carlson then testified that he delivered the lounge and that some person at 305 East Avenue 31 signed "Keyes" on the delivery receipt slip.

Milton Pike, "the front-door man" of the tailor shop, was recalled for brief cross-examination late in the afternoon by Defense Counsel Davis and questioned regarding a conversation which Pike said he heard between Jack Rosenberg and Ben Getzoff in which Rosenberg is asserted to have declared that he would double-cross Keyes if the latter didn't keep his promises. An attempt on the part of the defense will be made to show that all criminal charges against Rosenberg had been dropped before the time of this asserted conversation, it was declared by those close to the defense.

DAVIS TO BE CALLED

With Rettinger still on the stand, Harold L. Davis, chief deputy District Attorney under Keyes, is slated to testify at today's session of court.

Two police officers made their appearance as witnesses at the trial during the afternoon. Policeman Dewey L. Sund testified that he checked the time automobiles were parked between Fifth and Seventh streets on Spring street and several times saw Keyes get in and out of his car near the tailor shop. Policeman William R. Neilson said that the same territory described by Sund was his (Neilson's) beat and that he saw Keyes go into the tailor shop several times.

BUDDY DAVIS NAMED

Mention of the name of Harold (Buddy) Davis, former Chief Deputy District Attorney, furnished the high light of the morning's cross-examination of Sherman.

After a bitter argument between counsel as to whether the testimony was admissible, Judge Butler allowed Defense Attorney Le Compte Davis to ask the witness whether he heard a conversation between "Buddy Davis and Ben Getzoff" in the office of the tailor shop during the latter part of May, 1928, about the time of the conclusion of the Julian case trials.

"I did," answered Sherman.

"Just state what you heard," the witness was instructed by the defense counsel.

"I heard Buddy Davis say to Ben Getzoff: 'Let him come across with the money,'" testified Sherman.

Although the defense counsel did not further cross-examine the witness regarding this conversation, it was considered significant in view of the announcement that Davis later will be called as a State's witness. A hectic cross-examination of Davis is expected after he completes his direct testimony.

WRANGLE ON McNABB

Mention of the name of U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb caused another lengthy argument on the part of counsel that at times had counsel for both sides on their feet.

"Now, at the time that you say these men were conspiring, particularly Jack Bennett (Jacob Berman) and others, to bribe Mr. Keyes with reference to his duties, did you see Mr. McNabb in the place there?" asked Attorney Davis.

"Yes, sir," answered the witness.

"What day did you see McNabb?"

At this point the arguments between counsel began and lasted for the better part of an hour, the jury finally being excused that they might not be influenced by the remarks of counsel.

Defense Attorneys Davis, Beirne and Schenck joined in arguing with the court that they be allowed to question the witness on an asserted statement that he made to the grand jury that Ben Getzoff once declared to McNabb: "You will be paid well. You could do that favor for me."

STATE RESISTS

Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Chief Deputy Stewart resisted on the ground that the matter had not been touched on in direct testimony and therefore was not proper cross-examination.

"Now the jury is entitled and we are entitled to have it if they believe that the money was paid to Ben Ketzoff, to determine who it was being paid for, and who it was being used to bribe," declared Attorney Davis

"Your theory is that if money was paid a tall that it went to McNabb?" questioned Judge Butler.

"If it was given to Ben Getzoff it was given to bribe McNabb," was the blunt answer of the defense counsel.

"And not to bribe Keyes?" interrogated the court again.

"Yes, sir, and not to bribe Keyes," reiterated Davis.

Prosecutor Stewart again objected, saying that if the defense counselor wanted such testimony he could call Sherman later as his own witness, but that the present cross-examination was nothing but an attempt to enter defensive matter under the guise of cross-examination.

"Your honor, I would not put that witness o nfor anything," Davis retorted.

RULE OUT QUESTION

The court ruled that Davis's question was not cross-examination and Sherman did not answer regarding his statement about McNabb to the grand jury.

At the opening of cross-examination yesterday morning, Sherman admitted that his true name originally was Joseph Peltsman, but asserted that he had had it legally changed to Sherman fourteen years ago. He also admitted that while he worked in the shop he had not been friendly with Milton Pike, salesman for the Getzoffs, who, with Sherman, testified before the grand jury.

SHERMAN STEPS DOWN

Questioning of Sherman on cross-examination and redirect was concluded shortly after court convened following the noon recess. The conclusion was featured by his vehement denial of an asserted conversation, which Attorney Davis put to him in the form of a long query.

The hypothetical question propounded by the defense attorney sought to establish that Sherman met a David Weintraub in the lobby of the Hayward Hotel in the latter part of July, 1928, and attempted to enlist the aid of Weintraub in putting over a deal to "see Ben Getzoff and demand his store, and Ed Rosenberg and demand $25,000" for keeping quiet on the asserted deals in the tailor shop, in which Keyes and the other defendants are asserted to be implicated.

During the reading of the question Sherman's face broke into a broad grin, and hardly had Davis concluded when the witness rose in his chair and shouted: "That is a lie."

CALLS IT "LIE"

"Did you have any conversation like that?" asked Davis, and Sherman replied: "No, sir; it is a lie! I never had any conversation with Dave Weintraub."

Repeated efforts were made by the defense counselor to get Sherman to say that he had attempted to call Dave Getzoff on the telephone and arrange a meeting, but the witness was firm in his contention that young Getzoff had called him and arranged the meeting. Sherman also related to the jury his meeting with Getzoff and the conversation, wherein he testified that young Getzoff had said: "What is the idea of going to Bob Shuler to expose this thing on the radio," and then had called him a vile name and threatened him by saying: "You go ahead and I will show you what I will do for you."

Sherman testified that he then and there said to Dave Getzoff: "Just for that I will take it before the grand jury."

TRANSCRIPT OF BRIBE TRIAL DISCLOSURES

An eyewitness account of the asserted division of a large stack of currency between Asa Keyes, Ben Getzoff and Charles Reimer in the Getzoff tailor shop is charged in the official transcript of the testimony of John Rettenger, a tailor, taken at the trial before Superior Judge Butler yesterday.

Rettenger, a former Getzoff employee, testified that Dave Getzoff, a son of Ben, took a check from Ed Rosenberg, another of the defendants in the case, cashed it, handed the money to his father, who divided with Keyes, and in turn gave Riemer a sheaf of bills.

Ernest L. Nollac, former window dresser for the tailor, testified as a surprise witness, and also relates in the transcript that he saw Keyes come out of Getzoff's office "adjusting a billfold" on the day Rettenger asserts the money division was made.

Rettenger's testimony and that of others follows in part:

CROSS-EXAMINATION OF JOE SHERMAN

By Mr. Davis:
Q.: Mr. Sherman, did you shortly before the indictment in this case and shortly before you went before the grand jury to testify, have a conversation with Dave Getzoff over the telephone?
A.: No, sir.
Q.: Did you call Dave Getzoff up over the phone a short time before you went before the grand jury, or at any time before you went before the grand jury?
A.: He called me up.
Q.: Did you not, after you called up Mr. Dave Getzoff at the time that you say you called him up, make an appointment with him to meet him at the Hayward Hotel?
A.: He made an appointment with me?
Q.: Well, put it that way if you want to. And did you not therefore see him in the Hayward Hotel in the city here?
A.: Yes, I met him there in the hotel.
Q.: How many times.
A.: I met him once.

ANOTHER DENIAL

Q.: Did you not say to him, "Dave, Pike and I are going to the newspapers and the grand jury with a story of the bribery in the Julian cases, and do you want us to keep your father's name out of it"?
A.: No, sir.
Q.: Nothing to that effect?
A.: No, sir.
Q.: Tell us what the conservation was.
A.: He called me up at the hotel and I was not home so he left his telephone number to call him back. I called him back—when I got back to the hotel I called him up and I asked for Dave and he says, "Yes, that is me." I says, "This is Sherman; what do you want to see me about?" And he says, "I want to see you about something." I says, "What for?" and he said, "I cannot tell you over the telephone, but meet me in front of the Hayward Hotel," so I met him the next morning about 9 o'clock in front of the Hayward Hotel and he said, "What is the idea of going to Bob Shuler to expose the thing on the radio? You go ahead and I will show you what I will do for you." And I says, "Just for that I will take you before the grand jury."
Q.: Did anybody else besides you and Pike and Bob Shuler know?
A.: No.
The Court: Do you know how Dave Getzoff knew about it?
A.: He said he heard it on the radio; otherwise he would not call me up.
The Court: Did he tell you that?
A.: Well, he said, "I heard it. What did you go to Bob Shuler for?"

ASK ABOUT PIKE

Q.: Who was with you at that time?
A.: Myself.
Q.: Wasn't Pike there, too?
A.: Then after I met Pike accidentally.
Q.: Wasn't Pike right there in the Hayward Hotel when you and he were talking?
A.: No, I didn't see him.
Q.: And Pike never overheard any of this conversation, then, or took part in it?
A.: I didn't see Pike. It was Dave Getzoff and myself.
Q.: Now, Mr. Sherman, do you know Mr. David Weintraub?

AT THE HAYWARD

Q.: Did you not, in the lobby of the Hayward Hotel, at 1:30 p.m. in the latter part of July, 1928, have a conversation with David Weintraub, he and you alone being present, in which you said, "Dave, you need money, don't you?" And Dave Weintraub's reply, "I sure do." And did you not say, "Now, we can get something framed here pretty good on a case; we can get plenty of money." And did not David say, "Who do you mean by 'we'?" And did you not reply, "Pike and John and I, and we want you in it, because Pike thinks you could help us to put the deal over." And David said, "In what way?" And did you not say, "In the Julian case." And did he not say, "How is that? There is no more Julian case. That is all over, isn't it?" And did you not say, "It is all over with them, but not with us." And did not Mr. Weintraub say, "In what way will you make money out of it?" And did you not say, "Pike has got a lot of dates written down when he says Asa Keyes, Ed Rosenberg and other people were in to see Getzoff, and if you will join us and see Ben Getzoff and demand his store and $25,000 from Ed Rosenberg, they will sure pay and we can split up the money between us." And did not Mr. Winetraub say to you, "Where do you get those ideas that we can make money that way? That is blackmail and you are taking a chance of going to the penitentiary for it for at least twenty years. I don't want that kind of money. Take my advice, Joe, and stay out of this. Let them do what they want, but you keep out of it?"
A.: That is a lie.
Q.: Did you have any conversation like that?
A.: No, sir; it is a lie. I never had any conversation with Dave Weintraub.

MOVE MADE TO LEGALIZE HOME WINE

Senator Proposes Referendum of Family Beverage as Grape Industry Relief

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Each householder in California would be permitted to manufacture 200 gallons of wine and 200 gallons of beer should a resolution introduced in the upper house of the State Legislature receive passage and Congress do the bidding of the State by amending the Volstead Act.

Senator Canepa, San Francisco, wants wine and beer for consumption as a relief measure to the grape growers of California, "or any other who could find relief in this manner" of beverage.

The resolution states that the Volstead Act has caused thousands of tons of grapes in the State for want of a market. Soon, it says, grapes will no longer be grown in California and, therefore, "the Senate and Assembly jointly hereby respectfully memorialize and requests Congress to enact an amendment to the Volstead act to permit the manufacture of not to exceed 200 gallons of wine and 200 gallons of home-made beer annually by each householder."

The resolution goes further and would instruct California Congressmen to seek to obtain such an amendment, and stipulates that copies of the resolution when adopted, if so, be sent to the President, Vice-President and Speaker of the House of Representatives.

COOLIDGE'S PEN EXILES WAR GOD

Kellogg Treaty Ratification Attested in Ceremony

Cabinet Witnesses Signing in Historic Setting

Jurors, Senators and High Officials Also Present

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Bearing the signature of President Coolidge, a brief but portentous statement reposed tonight in the archives of the State Department to proclaim that the United States has given its full and unconditional approval to the Kellogg treaty for the outlawry of war.

The paper, known officially as the instrument of ratification, was signed today by the Chief Executive in the midst of ceremonies impressive in their simplicity, and surrounded by an atmosphere of solemnity befitting the supreme importance which Mr. Coolidge attaches to the pact.

In the historic East Room of the White House had gathered the entire Cabinet, high officials of the State Department, and more than a hundred of the membership of the senate. They looked on as the President signed his name to the instrument, passed it to Secretary Kellogg for certification of his signature and then followed the same course with a duplicate of the document.

AMERICA FIRST

To America fell the distinction of being the first of the fifteen original signatory nations to ratify the pact, but before it can become effective it must be approved by the governments other powers in the manner prescribed by their respective constitutions, and their own instruments of ratification must be deposited with the Washington government, which is custodian of the original treaty. When this has been accomplished, exchange copies of the pact will be signed by each of the fifteen states.

Responding to the invitation of President Coolidge, the Senators gathered at the White House shortly before 10 o'clock and were escorted to the East Room where they awaited the coming of the Chief Executive. A few minutes after the hour the doors were thrown open and Mr. Coolidge, with Vice-President Dawes at his side, preceded by his military and naval aides and followed by the Cabinet officers, entered the room.

FILMS MADE

Battery of calcium lights were turned on and motion-picture cameras ground away as the President signed his pen and began inscribing his signature on the instrument of ratification. When he had finished he handed the paper and the pen to Secretary Kellogg, who attached his name as a witness to the validity of the President's signature. In the same manner, the document was quickly signed by Mr. Kellogg. The gold pen presented to Mr. Kellogg by the city of Paris, at the time he visited France in summer to sign the treaty, was used by him in signing the document. While the President was affixing his signature, Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Dawes appeared at the doorway and remained as interested witnesses until the ceremony was completed. The dignity of the situation, however, had no awing effect upon "Tiny Tim," the ginger-colored kitten which is Mr. Coolidge's favorite. Clasped in his mistress' arms he trotted across the room to the desk and in position there until a secret service agent coaxed him away.

When the two copies of the document to which were signed today, one bearing with the original treaty deposited in the State Department archives where the other will remain with the consent of Congress until the pact has been ratified by the President.

PROGRESS IN COURSE
FINAL HISTORY EXPECTED

LONDON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Commenting on the ratification of the Kellogg treaty, the Times said today the difficulties associated with Kellogg names may be regarded as encouraging and promising a definite step in the course of the world's history.

Regarding the interpretations, the Times said: "It would be anything but a matter of security if the reservations appeared to challenge such an institution as the Monroe Doctrine or any arrangement manifestly vital to a signatory power."

The Daily Telegraph said: "The binding obligations for the future under the pact, including the Monroe Doctrine, are sufficiently and prudently drawn."

FRANCE INTRODUCES RATIFICATION BILL

PARIS, Jan. 17. (AP)—Foreign Minister Briand announced today that he formally introduced a bill ratifying the Briand-Kellogg renunciation of war pact in the Chamber of Deputies.

HUNGARY TO RATIFY KELLOGG TREATY SOON

BUDAPEST (Hungary) Jan. 17. (AP)—Foreign Minister Walko told the Foreign Relations Committee of the house today that the Hungarian government is about to conclude a treaty of friendship and alliance with the United States and will ratify the Kellogg pact.

PRESS PAPER ALSO FAVORS DISARMAMENT

LONDON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The Daily Herald, organ of the labor executive committee of the party, today said that ratification of the Kellogg pact, without disarmament, will leave the treaty a mere piece of paper. Comment in part was:

"We welcome Senator Brookhart's declaration anent the efforts by the soviet union and the United States in carrying out the ideas of the Kellogg pact. But we untiringly report that minus disarmament, the Kellogg obligations will be only so much paper."

JAPANESE PRESS CONGRATULATES AMERICA

TOKIO, Jan. 17. (AP)—General satisfaction was expressed by Japanese newspapers today at the United States Senate's ratification of the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing war.

The Tokio Asahi and the Tokio Nichi-Nichi editorially congratulated America on passing the treaty without modifications or reservations. Both papers expressed regret that the Senate introduced the naval program at the same session, dubbing such action a "breach of international courtesy."

Coolidges Give Formal Dinner for Longworths

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The annual White House dinner in honor of the Speaker of the House was given tonight by President Coolidge.

In addition to Speaker and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth the guests included the majority and minority leaders of both houses of Congress, Senator Curtis of Kansas, Senator and Mrs. Robinson of Arkansas, Representative and Mrs. Tilson of Connecticut, and Representative and Mrs. Garrett of Tennessee.

Other guests included Gov. Byrd of Virginia, and Mrs. William W. Atterbury of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas S. Brady of New York, Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee, Matthew O. Brush of New York, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Butler of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chrysler of Detroit, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and C. Bascom Slemp of Virginia, former secretary to Mr. Coolidge.

Departmental Costs Mount

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Expenditures of all government departments except two were declared today by the Treasury Department to have increased during the first six months of the present fiscal year, as compared with the same period a year ago.

The total departmental expenditures increased approximately $75,000,000 and amounted to $1,040,883,000 during the first half of this fiscal year. With the addition of the maintenance of independent establishments and public debt requirements the total governmental expenditures for the six months aggregated $2,036,114,000, compared with $1,924,429,000 last year.

ROME, Jan. 17. (AP)—At the suggestion of Premier Mussolini, the Council of Ministers at its session today approved a bill favoring increased rewards and further advantages for heads of large families and tending to prevent concentration of population in large cities.

LIQUOR CONVICTION MEANS LIFE TERM

MANISTIQUE (Mich.) Jan. 17. (AP) A Circuit Court jury convicted Tony Papich of a liquor charge after an hour's deliberation today. Papich has been convicted on similar charges four times previously and the present conviction makes a life sentence mandatory under the provisions of the Michigan habitual criminal code.

THIRD KING RULES AFGHANS

Habibullah Khan Reported to Have Driven New Monarch Out of Palace and Seized Crown

LONDON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Afghanistan today had its third King within the short space of a week, reports from Moscow, purporting to be of Kabul origin, indicated. The new King is Habibullah Khan, a rebel leader whose nickname, Bacha Sakao, means "water boy." His accession followed abdication by Inayatullah, older brother of Amanullah Khan, from whom Inayatullah gained his throne only a week ago.

Despite the fact that the reports had been confirmed from no other source, there seemed little inclination to question them. In fact, dispatches from New Delhi, British India, said that Bacha Sakao was in control of the Kabul area.

REBELS UNPACIFIED

Briefly, what has happened seems to be this:

The accession of Inayatullah to the throne on the abdication of Amanullah did not pacify the rebel leaders, who continued their offensive against Kabul, Afghanistan's capital, and succeeded in invading the city about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Inayatullah retained only the Arg, or citadel, and had only a small force to guard him. The rebel leader finally took the royal residence, too, and Inayatullah abdicated on a guarantee of safety for himself and his household.

Order was said to prevail in Kabul tonight with the foreign legations, missions and institutions guaranteed by rebels whose attitude toward the foreigners is quite friendly; no foreigners are known to have been injured during the fighting, which at times was quite heavy. The city's markets are all opening and functioning.

AMANULLAH IN KANDAHAR

Not all the government troops have given up, but it was said only a few isolated detachments continued the defense of intrenched positions.

Cannon and ammunition have been captured by the rebels, detachments of whom parade the streets as a constabuary.

The reports did not indicate whether Inayatullah had left Kabul, or where he would go when he did depart. From New Delhi it is learned that Amanullah has taken up his headquarters at Kandahar, where his wife, Queen Souriya, is said to be awaiting arrival of the stork. He is said to have flown the royal colors at Kandahar and to be exercising a measure of control over the city, which some interpret as indicating a possible desire to regain his throne, and intention to use that city as a base.

MUSICIANS NOT ARTISTS, UNION SAYS

Federation Wages Fight on Loophole That Lets Foreign Players In WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The problem of determining when a musician becomes an artist is worrying the House Immigration Committee.

Joe W. Webber, president of the American Federation of Musicians, in testifying today before the committee in favor of the Johnson bill to restrict the entrance of musicians as artists to those who can qualify under the definition, classified an artist as one whose skill and genius were sufficient to make him an independent attraction.

Webber and Samuel T. Ansell, counsel for the federation, said that at present any person who could declare they make a living by playing a musical instrument is being admitted into this country under this exemption in the Immigration Act. In addition, Ansell said, jugglers, pantomimists and other performers are admitted under the term of artists.

Webber said that the foreign musicians entering the country outside the quota are throwing American players out of employment as they are willing to accept lower wages.

The committee decided to name a subcommittee to work out a definition for the word.

New York Gem Bandits Make $200,000 Haul

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—In a smoothly executed invasion of fashionable Park avenue today, four young men held up the Mouboussin jewelry establishment, opposite St. Bartholomew's Church, and escaped with gems estimated by police to be worth $200,000.

The loss might have been far greater but for the fact that 80 per cent of the stock was sent to the Miami (Fla.) branch of the establishment yesterday, and that the robbers rejected one giant diamond valued at $500,000 because, detectives believed, they thought it was too large to dispose of.

John Churchill, the regular guard, had been sent south with the consignment of jewels for Miami.

"Where's Jack Churchill?" one robber asked, expressing surprise at not finding the regular guard. Jacob Lowenthal, substitute guard, was disarmed before he could draw his gun and four men and two women were tied up in a rear room.

Narcotics Net Snares Chinese

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Charged by U.S. Atty. Hatfield with being the Pacific Coast head of a narcotics ring operating between China, San Francisco and Honolulu, Tom Lett, Chinese, was arrested today as he walked from the United States District Court, where William L. Rosa, former clerk of the Federal court at Honolulu, had been taken for arraignment on a narcotics charge.

Tom Wing, said to be Lett's assistant, was arrested with his chief. They were charged with violating the Harrison narcotics law and released on $5000 bail each. Hatfield ordered issuance of a conspiracy complaint against the captured Chinese and Chew Fook Gum, another Chinese, already a fugitive from justice.

MEXICAN ENVOY TRANSFERRED

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 17. (AP)—Leopoldo Ortiz, Mexican Minister to Sweden, has been appointed Minister to London, succeeding Gilberto Valenzuela, who is a candidate for the Presidency.

Pastor Pleads for Suspect

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. (AP) Rev. Newton E. Moats, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, appeared in court here today to plead for Arthur C. Schneider, arrested for passing worthless checks. The pastor said Schneider had written the bad checks because he had been forced into penury by gambling.

The minister denounced the gambling places of the city and named several resorts where he said gaming is permitted by police. Police Judge O'Brien released Schneider to the minister. Schneider said he once was a "respectable citizen" of Los Angeles.

Mother Saves Drowning Babe

SAN BRUNO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive) Although unable to swim, Mrs. Mary Daggett, wife of a machinist, leaped into a flooded reservoir at the Capuchino Country Club, near here, today to save her son from drowning.

Inspired by desperation Mrs. Daggett kept afloat and managed to keep her son, Charles, 2 years of age, afloat until she was able to grasp a projecting stick and climb to safety. The child was resuscitated and will suffer no ill effects, Dr. F. Holmes Smith declared.

REAL ESTATE MEN ENJOY BANQUET

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 17.—More than 200 realty men and their wives attended the annual banquet of the Alhambra district realty board last night when new officers were installed.

E. V. Latham succeeded A. Jannsen as president, the latter becoming State director for the local board.

James Bradley Clayton of San Jose, president of the State Association, was the speaker of the evening and predicted a bright prospect in real estate activities during 1929.

PACT APPROVAL MOVED IN UTAH

Ratification Measure Up in Lower House

Convass Said to Indicate Favorable Action

Senate Attitude Inclines to Deferment

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 17. (AP)—The six-State compact for diversion of the waters of the Colorado River was brought before the Utah State Legislature today when Representative I. H. Esplin of Kane county introduced a bill providing for its ratification by this State.

A canvass of the members of the Legislature today was declared by the Deseret News to have indicated a likelihood that the six-State pact will be ratified at the present session unless Arizona meanwhile acts favorably on the seven-State compact and makes the Boulder Canyon dam bill effective.

I. A. Smoot of Salt Lake, Democratic floor leader, declared himself as favorable to the six-State pact and S. M. Jorgenson, Republican, of Sevier county, former Speaker of the House, although opposing immediate action, said he believed the Legislature should ratify the agreement at this session. Other members were quoted in like vein.

Opinion of Senators as expressed to the Telegram indicated an inclination to await action of Arizona on the seven-State compact before Utah takes action. Such an attitude was indicated by Senator W. D. Candland of Mt. Pleasant and Ray E. Dillman of Roosevelt, both Republicans.

D. W. Parratt, Republican, of Salt Lake, said that as a matter of courtesy to Arizona, Utah should wait until that State has had an opportunity to take action on the seven-State agreement before Utah ratifies the six-State pact.

RATIFICATION MEASURE INTRODUCED AT PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Jan. 17. (AP)—A resolution embodying the original Santa Fe-Colorado River compact and virtually the same as that ratified by the Legislature of California was introduced in the Arizona State Senate this morning by Senator St. Charles, Mojave, a supporter of the Swing-Johnson bill.

The introduction of the resolution followed the reading of Senate Bill No. 1, by Favour, Yavapai, which provides for a new Arizona Colorado River commission of five members including the Governor and four members to be appointed by the executive. The Attorney-General, according to the bill, will be legal adviser to the commission.

The resolution seeking ratification of the river compact included the text of the compact, and it is reported by close observers that the Mohave Senator's resolution is practically a duplicate of the resolution under which California recently approved the compact.

Senator St. Charles made a straight-away Boulder dam speech, denouncing those who are seeking to halt operation of the Swing-Johnson bill, and praising those who have participated in furthering the cause of Boulder dam. His resolution was held over for one day, in keeping with legislative procedure.

STATE TO GUARD BEACH OIL LAND

Bill for Curbing Prospecting Passes Both Houses

Surveyor-General Prohibited from Giving Rights

Measure Again Acted on by Assemblymen

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Tidelands of California were protected by action of the Legislature today with the passage in both houses of an urgency measure prohibiting the Surveyor-General from accepting applications for oil-prospect leases to tideland property until after September 1, next, the lower house accepting the Senate amendments.

until after September 1, next.

The bill was introduced in the lower house by Assemblyman George R. Bliss of Carpinteria and received initial passage there. Minor amendments prevent anything in the emergency measure from being construed as ratifying or validating any claims for permits or leases now on file with the Surveyor-General as a protection of the rights of property owners adjacent to oil prospects.

Closure of California beaches and tidelands to oil prospectors generally is understood to be desired by the Attorney-General and Surveyor-General to enable the Legislature to work out some act by which operations of oil drillers may be restricted in sections desired by the State for public use. Such legislation is expected to be presented and enacted before the final adjournment of the 1929 Legislature.

Finale of Serial Tale Rushed to Doomed Man

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17. (AP)—A condemned prisoner's interest in a magazine serial story, the conclusion of which would not have been available in the regular course of events until he had been executed, today brought an advance copy of the publication to murderers' row of the Allegheny County Jail from New York by special messenger.

The prisoner is Paul Jawarski, bandit leader convicted of slaying a pay roll guard and sentenced to die next Monday. When the State Pardon Board declined to intervene in his case earlier in the week, he expressed a desire to finish a story he had been reading.

HOOVER FLORIDA TRIP ARRANGED

President-elect Will Leave Capital Monday

Plans to Tackle Important Questions Laid

Shortridge Urges Special Congress Session

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—President-elect Hoover will leave Monday for Florida after exactly two weeks of conferences with Republican party leaders to whom he has disclosed plans for tackling three important problems facing his administration—farm relief, tariff revision and prohibition enforcement.

In addition he has made a preliminary survey of a number of other questions and has received many suggestions concerning appointments to his Cabinet, but has given no public intimation as to the personnel of the official family which he must name by March 4.

A suggestion that the special session of the Seventy-first Congress, which is to take up farm relief and tariff legislation, be called for April was made to Mr. Hoover today by Senator Shortridge of California, one of nearly a dozen callers at his headquarters.

The convening of Congress two weeks after that date has been approved by most Congressional leaders.

FLORIDA PLANS WELCOME

While the President-elect undoubtedly has given some thought to the membership of the special commission he intends to appoint to investigate the whole subject of prohibition and general law enforcement, so far as is known he has not made up his mind who he will select. He, however, has indicated he wants to name men of outstanding position who will be able to approach the task before them with an open mind.

Accompanied by a party of more than thirty the President-elect will leave Washington at 10:30 a.m., Monday, for Miami Beach, where his present intention is to spend a month resting and preparing his inaugural address before returning to the capital to resume his conversations with party leaders on questions which must be disposed of before or immediately after he takes office.

NO STOPS EN ROUTE

The trip to Florida will be made on a special train and it is said that no stops would be made en route except those necessary for operating purposes. Upon the arrival at Miami about 2 p.m., Tuesday, the next Chief Executive will be welcomed officially by State and county officers, who are to accompany him in an automobile caravan from Miami to the Penney estate on Belle Isle near Miami Beach, where he will set up his headquarters.

Plans for the demonstration which Miami is preparing were discussed with Mr. Hoover today by Senator Fletcher of Florida, who also took up with the President-elect some questions of Federal appointments.

Saturday the President-elect will address a meeting in Brussels arranged by his friends in Belgium in celebration of his election. He will talk over the long-distance telephone from his headquarters in the Mayflower Hotel about noon.

VISITS COOLIDGE TODAY

While the President-elect had hoped to give most of his time today to attend to personal correspondence he received a number of callers and had breakfast with Secretary Jardine, whose reappointment to the agriculture post has been mentioned in the Cabinet gossip, which continues to go the rounds of political Washington.

Mr. Hoover also had luncheon with Dr. Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee; saw several members of the House, and conferred briefly with Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau, the largest single independent office under the Federal government.

Gen. Hines says veterans' relief was discussed only in a general way. Mr. Hoover expects to go into this subject very fully after he returns to Washington.

Tomorrow the President-elect and Mrs. Hoover will be dinner guests of the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

PERSHING'S NAME COMES TO FORE AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Speculation regarding the appointments of the Hoover Cabinet brought Gen. Pershing into the picture again today. Gen. Pershing, according to the rumor, may be selected for Secretary of War. The fact that he has been an army man is not considered a bar to his selection.

Many former secretaries have been former army men and it was pointed out today that the first Secretary of War under Washington was Henry Knox of Massachusetts, a general in the Revolutionary War.

Gen. Pershing's appointment, it is said, would be popular in view of his distinguished service during the World War.

ANOTHER OFFICER ON NIGHT FRUIT PATROL

UPLAND, Jan. 17.—Determined to put an end to the practice of fruit stealing in local groves, San Bernardino County Motor Patrol today added Cecil Myers of Upland, to the nightly fruit patrolling squad. Two armed officers now patrol citrus groves of the district, their duty being to watch for thieves raiding orange and lemon groves. They are Myers and Traffic Officer Frank Freeman. In past years, citrus groves have been raided on wholesale basis, several instances having been noted of trucks driving into groves and scores of trees stripped. It is to forestall such thefts that extra caution is now being taken by the county patrol. During the day members of county and city traffic squads guard the groves.

FLIGHT IN ANTARCTICA HAS THRILLS OF SPIRIT WORLD

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1929, by New York Times and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All rights reserved for publication throughout the world.)

BAY OF WHALES (Antarctica) Jan. 16. (Delayed) (Exclusive)—Bernt Balchen today took up myself and Teddy Bayer, assistant engineer of The City of New York, for a flight in the Stars and Stripes.

Balchen looked more like Daniel Boone than a flying man for he had on a fur cap and an Indian soft-leather shirt with the belt. He hauled himself into the seat, grinned back at us and let her go. Even an amateur could tell the efficiency of the landing gear as the plane shot over the snow, climbing and dropping over small hard snow mounds, but as soon as a point near flying speed was reached the unevenness of the surface became hardly apparent. In a very short distance we were climbing and turning in a wide bank out over the sea.

Far down below was a mess of black spots on the snow which one knew were men and boxes and dogs and all the gear of unloading and a ship which seemed too tiny to hold all the many tons of freight which had come out of her. She was moored to the edge of the floe as if to dock. Balchen circled her once, the crow's nest which had once seemed so high now seemingly so very far below, and then turned inland and toward the south. It was not cold inside despite the low temperature and Balchen had one window open a few inches most of the time. He leaned back and pointed down and far ahead toward the barrier.

"The trail," he said, "easy to follow that."

OLD AND NEW

A few black specks below came into sight—a dog sled jogging its way toward the ship, so slowly and with such exertion while we slid swiftly by overhead—the old and the new ways in which this great continent is being explored. When Sverre Strom, the giant Norwegian mate, who had turned dog driver for the time being came in he was shaking his head over the things which had passed him in the air.

"I stopped the dogs and watched you go by," he said. "And then I said to myself 'here I am a thousand years behind the times.' Ya, a thousand years, sweating and pulling and doing in three hours what you do in ten minutes. It made me feel old like an Eskimo."

The immensity of this land can only be sensed from the air. For thirty, yes, forty, miles on either side it appears a lost land of white. The effect is magical. Days of mucking around on dirty snow amid dogs and ropes and piles of drab things, with the barrier always in the foreground closing us in and the sea behind. And then in a moment the barrier had dropped below, all the unlovely things of a hard existence were left and we floated in a new world of peace and cleanliness and of vast extent. It was a supreme detachment and with a feeling of awe we looked out on rolling wastes far inland, which no one had ever seen before today. Even the vision of Amundsen and his men who traveled here so much was limited by their earthbound sledges.

SPIRIT MOVED

The edges of the bay were outlined sharply in the clear light by the winding and broken line of the barrier walls, while cliffs, which made bays and promontories around which ran the crumpled lines of pressure ridges. Seals basked in the sun around air holes, which were barely visible.

As we flew farther, the feeling of isolation was increased a thousand fold and there was a weird and unearthly sense of flying toward a limitless horizon, an opalescent shifting of light and shadows. Snow and sky merged in a curiously dappled effect, where cloud fell on snow, but which was cloud and which was shadowed snow it was impossible to tell. There was a bewildered feeling of looking at mirages, of gazing at a shimmering curtain, which at times was close and shifted instantly and far away to an indefinite and vaguely beckoning place of mystery light. It was as if one might look into the supernatural, into something beyond this world, disembodied spirit flying on through a space where light was almost palpable. There was a fascinating suggestion of infinity.

So complete was this illusion that it seemed as if hours had elapsed although it was only a few minutes, when Balchen banked the plane sharply and nosed down, pointing to a dark patch on the snow far below. Our future home. From our height it was a mere speck, an awful solitude, but as the plane rushed earthward one orange house stood out clearly and near it and the boxes of material and a hole where the new house will go were men waving their hands. All their labor that this swift creature of the air might wing its way inland and leave them. There is rare devotion to a cause among the many men who do the unglorious but hard work of the expedition.

BACK TO SHIP

The plane dropped to within 200 feet of the roof of the house and then zoomed up again and turned southward and back toward the ship. As it did so Balchen pointed to one side, where was the site of Framheim, where Amundsen lived a year. It has been covered by the snows of many blizzards and so far not a trace of it has been discovered. Going back toward the edge of the ice it was possible to see how general is the outward movement of the drift ice. It dotted the dark surface of the ocean as far as could be seen. Little floating specks of white. Bernt dropped carefully toward the surface, so difficult to define down here, and landed with the quiek hard impact unusual when using skiis.

Only about twenty minutes in the air, but what a new and marvelous impression it had given of Antarctica. One could not help realizing what a perfect instrument a plane is for an Antarctic exploration and at the same time how difficult it must be to navigate in the interior of this mysterious continent where compasses fail to work and where storms breed in a moment. It will take all Byrd's ability and all that of his other pilots. The perfect functioning of radio apparatus, and the most careful preparations for forced landings to enable the work to be carried on. And that it has gone so successfully so far has been encouraging to everyone.

Commander Byrd made the next flight himself with Dean Smith and Harold June. Went to the westward for forty miles on an exploration flight.

PENGUIN SURPRISED

Just before Byrd started a penguin came up to look over the plane. He was late for the show for the motor was turning over, and he hurried so fast, waving his flippers and wabbling along with outstretched neck, that he nearly tripped himself. He was almost up to the tail and had stopped to look it over when Dean opened up wide to take off. The little penguin was knocked end over end and rolled and skated out of the whirling snow, never stopping until he reached the edge of the ice and stood up to look back indignantly.

"Well," he probably thought, "that was the quickest blizzard I ever saw—and frightfully noisy." Whereupon he stretched himself, shook his head and put his feathers to rights.

When Byrd returned Balchen and June took the plane over to the camp for the night and it will be kept there every night although it is being brought back to the ship during good flying days for compass adjustment and installation of the radio by Malcom Hanson, the short-wave expert of the Navy Department.

BYRD CHARTS WIDE AREA

sleeping bags, a sled and other equipment in the plane to give us a chance to get back in case of a forced landing, we determined not to give in to the great temptation of going on and on.

This was the first day a plane had ever flown so far south and since the compasses were acting badly we would be unable to steer a straight course if we got caught in a fog or snowstorm. After covering about twenty-five miles we saw an inlet ahead running north and south. These did not show on the maps we had, so here was something we could add to the charts of Antarctica. We flew over it and found it to be a beautiful formation in the barrier. At its mouth the ice cliffs to the eastward and westward rose vertically nearly 100 feet from the water, where it is about 1500 feet wide. A mile back from the entrance to the inlet the bay ice began. It was smooth as a billiard table and extended for several miles. Then it narrowed and curved somewhat to the southwest.

LINDBERGH HONORED

Here we saw hundreds of seals lying on the ice alongside a pressure ridge. They turned on their backs and craned their necks to see what manner of bird was making a terrific noise. There was some excited movement among them for a moment, but they soon went back to their lazy sleep.

The inlet curved again to the southward and wedge shaped it ended in a point a few miles away being there filled with great blocks of ice. Far to the south the barrier appeared to rise to an altitude of 400 or 500 feet. To the westward we saw a cloud formation which at first looked like high land. It was exactly like a cloud we had seen on the trans-Atlantic flight which we would have been certain was land had we not known that we were then in the middle of the Atlantic. We could hardly think of our flights of 1927 without remembering the fellow who so thoroughly showed us how to do it so we decided to name the newly discovered inlet after Lindbergh.

With the compasses acting as they did it seemed unwise to go further and with the feeling that before going on longer flights we should get more wise to the eerie conditions of visibility down here we headed the plane shipward. It was impossible for us to tell how high we were above the ice and snow. We might be 100 feet or might be 1000.

When a little more than halfway back to the ship the motor stopped dead. Believe me that gave us another kind of a kick. As Smith nosed the plane toward the snow—none of us was looking forward with any pleasure to the landing—Smith decided with his usual quick way of thinking that one of the gas tanks had gone dry and he instantly turned the proper valve. Our downward speed started the engine again. When we got back to the ship conditions of visibility were much worse than at the start, but Smith made a perfect landing on the bay ice near the ship, judging his altitude from the water and ice edge, and showed for the second time today that he is a very excellent pilot. We examined carefully 1300 square miles of unknown area that it would have taken the foot traveler weeks to explore.

Again we marvel at the airplane. So we don't agree with English authors that aviation can do nothing down here. All of us are pleased with the performance of the Stars and Stripes on its initial flight of exploration. The mechanics and pilots deserve a lot of credit for the thoroughness with which the plane was disassembled, crated, prepared and loaded for the long voyage through the tropics and ice regions. Without the careful testing they did in the States we could not have gone on a flight of exploration on the first day we put the plane together on the ice.

Railroad Must Pay Snake Bill

LINCOLN (Neb.) Jan. 17. (AP)—The Northwestern Railroad Company must see that there are no snakes in the engine pits of its roundhouses or pay for the consequences, the Supreme Court of Nebraska rules in affirming a judgment given Herbert R. Brannon. However, the high tribunal reduced the lower court's verdict from $40,000 to $28,000.

Brannon was bitten by a snake while working in an engine pit at Chadron, Neb.

HARDY FACES IMPEACHMENT

Resolution Comes Up for Vote Today

perior Courts are subject to impeachment.

FORMER IMPEACHMENTS

The last impeachment proceedings in California, according to available records, were in 1915 against Superior Judge Childs of Del Norte county. These proceedings went no farther than the Assembly Judiciary Committee and Judge Childs continued afterward to hold office.

At the eighth session of the Legislature, in 1857, Henry Bates, then State Treasurer, was impeached.

Judge Hardy now is at outs with both the California State Bar and the American Bar Association. The State Bar brought proceedings against him in regard to the McPherson check on the grounds that he was illegally practicing law. Judge Hardy refused to answer questions propounded to him. The bar then went before Superior Judge McComb on contempt proceedings and Judge McComb held that the bar lacked jurisdiction. The bar then took the whole affair to the Supreme Court and arguments were given last week. At Miami, Fla., yesterday, the American Bar Association declared Judge Hardy's membership forfeited.

ARNOLD'S RESOLUTION

The resolution introduced in the Assembly reads as follows:

"Whereas, it is the duty of the Assembly to preserve the integrity of the judiciary by instituting actions of impeachment for removal from office whenever and wherever it appears that such action is necessary and justified; and,

"Whereas: One Carlos S. Hardy, a judge of the Superior Court of the county of Los Angeles, has been charged with receiving a fee of $2500 for legal advice during his present term of office, from one Aimee Semple McPherson, and has admitted receiving such amount from her subsequent to June 22, 1926, and

"Whereas: Such acceptance of said amount of money constitutes a violation of Article VI, Section 22 of the constitution of the State of California, which reads as follows:

HOW ARTICLE READS

"'No judge of a court of record shall practice law in any court of this State during his continuance in office,' and

"Whereas: The Supreme Court of the State of California, in 1922, in the case of the people vs. Merchants' Protective Corporation, has construed that the constitution of the State of California as aforementioned would apply under the circumstances as asserted to have occurred in the McPherson case, and

"Whereas: Acceptance of such money by the said Judge Carlos S. Hardy apparently constitutes a violation of the constitution of this State which governs his tenure in office, thereby placing him within the jurisdiction of this Assembly, now, therefore

"Be it resolved: That the Speaker of the Assembly appoint a committee of seven members of the Assembly to investigate during the statutory recess the reported receipt of the aforementioned sum of money by the said Judge Carlos S. Hardy from the said Aimee Semple McPherson as a legal fee and to report to this body following the recess if sufficient grounds for an action of impeachment exist."

HARDY SAYS HE HAS NO INTENTION OF RESIGNING

Judge Hardy, whose acceptance of a $2500 check from Aimee Semple McPherson has made the subject of censure by the American Bar Association, said last night he could not comment on reported impeachment proceedings in the assembly of the State Legislature.

"I am told unofficially that if I resign I will not be impeached," said Judge Hardy. "That statement seems fairly obvious. If I resigned, of course, there would be no occasion for the assembly to start impeachment proceedings.

"However, I have no intention at present of resigning, and would not care to comment directly on the assembly's action until I have been informed officially of what was done.

"I never heard of Assemblyman Arnold who introduced the resolution demanding my investigation. The resolution is undoubtedly another move on the part of the bar association to sustain its position in my differences with it.

"The proper thing for my opponents to do would be to wait for a decision by the State Supreme Court regarding my case. This they are apparently reluctant to do, and meanwhile are using unfair methods to influence public sentiment against me."

Judge Hardy expressed confidence that, in the event of impeachment proceedings, he will be able to prove himself innocent of illegal actions.

STATE BAR DISAVOWS CONNECTION WITH MOVE

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—The California State Bar Association through its president, Thomas C. Ridgway, attending a meeting of the board of governors of that organization here, today disavowed all connection with the resolution introduced into the Legislature by Assemblyman Arnold, calling for an investigation of the $2500 fee accepted by Judge Hardy for legally advising Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist.

Mr. Ridgway said the State Bar Association prefers to await the result of its petition for a writ of mandate to compel Judge Hardy to appear before the bar association "and explain the circumstances under which he received $2500 from Mrs. McPherson." Application for this writ now is before the State Supreme Court for decision.

STATEMENT ISSUED

A statement issued by Mr. Ridgway in behalf of the State Bar Association is as follows:

"The start of any proceeding in the Legislature against Judge Carlos Hardy is an absolute surprise to the officials and board of governors of the State Bar Association. I do not know Assemblyman Arnold, and I can say without equivocation that his action was not taken either at the request of or with the knowledge or sanction of the State Bar Association. At the present time we are only interested in that phase of the Hardy case which is involved in our own petition for a writ of mandate now pending before the Supreme Court to compel Judge McComb of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county to hold Judge Hardy in contempt of the State Bar Association for refusing to be sworn and testify before a committee of the board of governors.

DECISION AWAITED

"The above matter was argued last Friday before the Supreme Court of California and is now in its hands for decision. We will not attempt to anticipate what that decision will be. However, we feel just as strongly today that we are right as we did when we filed in that court our petition for a writ of mandate.

"We are attempting to establish in that proceeding that a judge is a member of the State bar, and as such is subject to its jurisdiction in connection with his conduct as a member of the legal profession, if such conduct involves moral turpitude, dishonesty or corruption.

"The proceeding started by the State bar against Judge Hardy did not charge him with any offense. It merely called upon him to appear and explain the circumstances under which he received $2500 from Aimee Semple McPherson for legal services rendered by him while on the bench to her and her mother."

CHURCH PLANS LETTER DRIVE

Campaign to the Modeled After System Used in Mail Order Field

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—A mail campaign "to take the church to those who do not go to church" is planned by the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The plan, which will be modeled after that used by large mail order houses, was outlined before the annual synod of the province of New York, New Jersey and Porto Rico at Garden City, Long Island.

Rev. Gabriel Farrell of Rhinebeck, N. Y., in outlining the campaign, said it was designed to "try to make the most irreligious sections of the country religion conscious."

GRAPE GROWERS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Lack of Unity Blamed in 1928 Price Crash

Future Declared Bright by Association Manager

Juice Producers Now Sign for New Crop

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Lack of organized marketing and distribution methods, more than actual overproduction, is the real reason behind the price debacle of last season's juice grape crop, according to the annual report of Donald D. Conn, managing director, to the California Vineyardists' Association.

Despite a 50 per cent decrease in prices in 1928 from 1927 on the juice variety, the statistical position of these growers remains economically sound, the report states. The present volume, taking into consideration measures providing for the commercialization of by-products, will be the means of returning a goodly profit to the growers, Manager Conn contends, if properly controlled. This applies also to the growers of raisin grapes which are shipped for juice, he said.

OFFERS SOLUTION

"The solution," he asserted, "of the California grape problem is comparatively simple if on the one hand growers will do the obviously necessary thing, which all other lines of industry are undertaking, and if the State of California as a whole will support the program with sufficient financing until the results justify the entire burden being carried by the producers themselves."

His reference is to new contracts being offered growers and shippers in which growers bind themselves to ship only through agencies holding membership in the California Vineyardists' Association and conform to that organization's program to meet the conditions of the markets as they exist.

SIGNING GROWERS

Almost 90 per cent of the tonnage in the Exeter district of Tulare county has been signed, the report states. There is an almost 100 per cent record in San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys which are largely Tokay producing areas, and work is pronounced progressing satisfactorily in the Santa Clara and Livermore valleys.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Those first colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them with Creomulsion, an emulsified cream that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with a double action: it soothes and heals inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Creomulsion contains, in concentrated form, the most healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

GEN. BOOTH AIDE HOLDING REINS

Higgins Temporary Head of Salvation Army

Rumors Current Deposed Chief Will Fight

Council Faces Next Task of Picking Leader

LONDON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Edward J. Higgins, chief of staff, is temporary political and legal head of the Salvation Army tonight. He will occupy that station until the high council, of which he is a member, elects a successor to Gen. Bramwell Booth, who was deposed as commander-in-chief late last night.

Army circles today were full of rumors as to what Booth and his family intend to do. There were several reports that he is contemplating action in the courts, but late this afternoon authoritative circles seemed satisfied that he will accept the council's decision. If that proves to be the case, the position of the whole army will be greatly simplified.

COUNCIL'S NEXT STEP

The council's next task is to select a successor to Booth. Most of the conjecture on that point today centered about Commissioner Higgins and Evangeline Booth, sister of the deposed leader and commander of the army in the United States and its possessions.

How long a time will elapse before the affairs of the army are restored to normal will depend, in the opinion of the dominant faction, largely on the attitude of Booth and his friends. It is reported they would rather have Mr. Higgins as their new commander and it also is said his elevation to the generalship would conciliate a conservative element which objects to a woman as head of the army.

The Higgins advocates also argue that his election would leave the world control of the organization divided, as it has been, between international headquarters and Commander Eva. In this connection it is learned that Miss Booth believes that the international headquarters should remain in London, "the birthplace of the army."

WOULD MEAN CHANGE

In the event of her election she would need to move her home from America and relinquish her personal leadership of the organization, constituting half of the entire Salvation Army, which she built up within the last twenty-four years.

All candidates nominated at the high council meeting tomorrow must declare their platforms openly, thereby virtually pledging themselves to carry out the desired reforms. No election will take place until these pledges have been given, for as soon as the new general is chosen the high council is dissolved automatically.

Before this takes place, however, a committee of commissioners will be created to meet periodically and discuss army policies throughout the world. A virtually new constitution must be made, and this will mean the scrapping of most of the present deed polls, or charters, under which the army organization has its legal existence in England.

Commissioner Defends Levy Against Indians

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Edgar B. Merritt, commissioner of the Bureau of the Indian Affairs, appeared before the Senate Committee today to reply to objections made by Louis Marshall, New York attorney, to terms of the contract negotiated by the Interior Department with the middle Rio Grande conservancy district of New Mexico.

Marshall had charged that a maximum assessment of $65,000 to be levied against Pueblo Indians is higher than that charged against land owned by the white farmers in the Rio Grande Valley. Merritt today declared the assessment is "not excessive in view of the fact that the Indian land will be increased in value by $65,500,000 as a result of flood control and irrigation plans proposed by the contract."

Merritt also said water rights of the Indians will be protected and relieved of charges for future maintenance and operation of the project.

Modesto Chief Arrests Oregon Youth as Bandit

MODESTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—A seven-day career of banditry in Oregon and Northern California came to an end here today for Robert Henkson, 18 years of age, of Eugene, Or., when he was arrested by Chief of Police Smith.

Chief Smith said Henkson confessed to holding up a bootlegging place in Eugene and escaping in a stolen automobile. After engaging in a gun fight with police in Roseburg the youth said he stole three more automobiles in Oregon and then drove to San Francisco, it is said.

From San Francisco he went to Los Angeles and was returning up the San Joaquin Valley this morning when he drove into a Turlock service station. The operator was suspicious and notified police who arrested him when he drove across the Tuolumne River bridge.

GRR! WILD MAN OF BORNEO DEAD

Reputed Original Long-Haired, Groaning, Growling, Glaring and Bone-Eating Circus Attraction Buried in Pauper's Grave in Wisconsin Home Town

PLATTEVILLE (Wis.) Jan. 17. (AP) Strains of the once popular song, "Oh the Wild Man of Borneo, He Just Came to Town—" were recalled today with the news of the death of the senior Henershot, who was buried in a pauper's grave yesterday.

He had lived in a shack until a week ago when officials found him, still with the long hair and the wild man accoutrements, gazing fondly at circus posters which marked his earlier triumphs. He was ill and his Borneo earnings had vanished. He was taken to the County Poorhouse.

In 1875 "Ves" Henershot was the beau of Platteville, but to "Ves" the plaudits of Platteville were not enough. He let his wavy flaxen hair grow until it reached his waist. He studied rolling his eyes and glaring. One day, Ringling's circus came to town. He went to see Al Ringling, the proprietor.

"Who are you?" asked Al.

"I'm the wild man from Borneo," growled "Ves."

"So you are," agreed Al. "You're hired."

For twenty years "Ves" stayed with the circus. Clad in rags and gnawing a bone, he was central attraction for wide-eyed little boys and girls who stood around his cage and listened to him groan and roar. Their parents watched him, too.

But being "a wild man away from home" palled on "Ves." He came back here for a visit.

Here he met a girl named Conley from a near-by town. They were married and "Ves" gave up his wild man job. He started a harness shop and for some years he and his family lived peaceably. His wife and children left him because, they said, he became a drunkard. They tell here of how all "Ves" did in those last days was to help a man with a fish wagon who came up from the near-by Mississippi to sell his catch. Finally he stopped doing even that and secluded himself in the hut.

QUESTION MARK RECEIVES TEST

Three-Hour Flight Planned Today at San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 17. (AP)—The Question Mark was given a forty-five-minute test flight late today, after which Maj. H. J. Houghton, engineering officer of Rockwell Field, reported that, with the new motors which have been installed, the famous army monoplane virtually is ready for a lengthy flight. Another test flight over a period of at least three and a half hours will be made tomorrow.

The return flight of the Question Mark to Washington has not yet been definitely planned, Maj. Carl Spatz, commanding officer of the plane's 150-hour record-smashing endurance flight, stated. He added that no definite decision will be reached until shortly before the take-off, which is expected to be made Saturday or Sunday.

FREEZE WITH HEAT — The ELECTROLUX Refrigerator

A tiny gas flame
A mere trickle of water
...there's little else to it

Just light the little flame once and you'll have continuous cold, plenty of ice cubes at all times. No one has yet found any good reason why this amazing refrigerator should ever wear out, for there is absolutely no machinery to go wrong, to vibrate, to make a noise, to need oiling. Not a single moving part!

THERE'S never been another refrigerator like this. A tiny gas flame and a trickle of water do all the work. The flame reacts upon a freezing liquid to produce intense cold. The action is not only continuous and needs no attention, but costs far less than any other refrigerating system.

Light the little flame once. The cold starts and continues indefinitely. The freezing liquid never has to be renewed. In fact, there's not a thing that ever has to be replaced anywhere about the Electrolux, unless it be the little gas burner after years of use.

There is absolutely no danger with this refrigerator. Should the gas flame ever go out for any reason, no harm is done. The chilling action stops, but the gas automatically shuts off and cannot flow again until you are ready to light it.

There is no noise, for there are no moving parts to make noise or to get out of order. Do you wonder that scientists refuse even to predict how long the Electrolux will last?

Discovered by scientists at the Royal University of Technology, Stockholm, Sweden, in 1922, the remarkable freezing principle of the Electrolux has had six years of practical test. Architects, national and local testing bureaus, women's institutes—all these have examined the Electrolux thoroughly and approved it enthusiastically. It has been adopted and is being sold by hundreds of the country's leading public utilities, after the most careful investigation.

Never have engineers and scientific men hailed a new discovery more enthusiastically than they have the Electrolux. Today this refrigerator is operating in thousands of homes. Today the newest, finest, largest apartment buildings are installing the Electrolux throughout because of its noiselessness, freedom from trouble, long life and low operating cost.

Until you have seen the Electrolux, you haven't seen refrigeration at its best. Don't fail to visit the nearest display room and see the full line of models. The Kitchenette Model for small apartments, the Double Duty Model that serves as a white enameled table, and the Combination Electrolux Refrigerator and Gas Range are especially interesting.

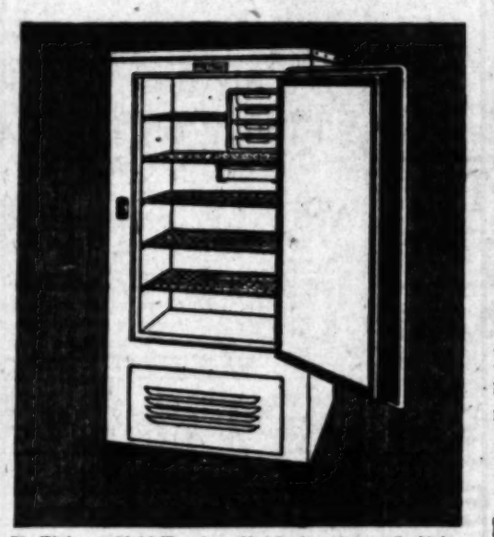
Next to its silent, uncanny operation, you will be most interested in the unusual color combinations in which this refrigerator is offered—Biscay Blue, Crystal Green, Silver Grey and Ivory Tan—in addition to white. These beautiful colors, which add a lovely touch to modern kitchen decoration, are obtained by a new "veiling" process that is exclusive with Servel, Inc., the well-known manufacturer of this refrigerator.

A small deposit puts the Electrolux in your home—gives you silent, perpetual cold, free from worry or bother. And you have many months to pay the balance, a little at a time.

Prices range from $235 to $540.

Costs less to operate

The total cost of operating the Electrolux—including both gas and water — averages only $1.00 to $1.25 a month in Los Angeles and vicinity



The Kitchenette Model Electrolux—ideal for the modern smaller kitchen—food capacity 5 cu. ft.—96 large ice cubes.

Combination Electrolux and gas range. Refrigerator has a food capacity of 5 cu. ft. and makes 40 ice cubes. 37¾ in. wide and 25 9-16 in. deep.

The Electrolux is noiseless when you buy it, and noiseless ever after due to the utter absence of machinery.

Paul, formerly of New York. Both were born in Syria. The bride has become a naturalized American citizen, while the bridegroom still is of Syrian nationality.

Since Syria is under French mandate the marriage was performed at the French Consulate-General. Placide M. Domingues y Romay, Cuban Consul, was chief witness.

IMPEACHING MOVE BEGUN, SAYS RUMOR

Oklahoma Democratic Chief Says Charge Being Drafted Against Governor

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 17. (AP) H. Tom Kight of Claremore, a member of a committee which is investigating State offices, said tonight he understood impeachment charges against Gov. Johnston were being drafted by committee members. Kight is a leader of the insurgent Democrats opposed to the Governor's administration.

Kight declared he did not know specifically what the charges would be.

Clay M. Roper of Vinita, another member of the committee, also said he understood charges were under preparation.

John Head of Idabel, chairman of the committee, refused to confirm or deny these reports. He said the investigating committee would continue to hear witnesses tonight before deciding on any definite action.

Blows Swapped in Dairy Strike

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. (AP)—A fight between striking dairy farmers and other milk producers not taking part in the Pure Milk Association's controversy with Chicago distributors occurred in McHenry county today when some of the dairymen tried to break through picket lines to deliver their milk at a receiving station of one of the large Chicago firms.

Witnesses said about 300 men took part in the affray.

The striking farmers are endeavoring to force the distributors to pay them $2.85 instead of $2.50 per 100 pounds, which the dealers have so far refused to do.

Miss Barrymore in Tax Muddle

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—Ethel Barrymore has failed to pay New York State an income tax for six years, according to Deputy Tax Commissioner Lynch, who filed a judgment against he. today for $10,040.

The actual tax against Miss Barrymore is $7770, which was raised to $8712 by penalties and interest, and raised again to $10,040 by costs and disbursements of the State Tax Commission office in levying the tax.

MONROE CREED HELD OBSOLETE

Mrs. Catt Demands New Interpretation

Says Europe Regards it Business Doctrine

Plea Made at Close of War Cure Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—South American relations, expected to play an important role in the administration of Herbert Hoover, were under discussion before the conference on the cause and cure of war at its closing session tonight, when Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, its chairman, made a plea for a new interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine, which she regarded as a stumbling block in the way of peace in the Western Hemisphere.

The century-old doctrine, she declared, while universally regarded in the United States as expressing an altruistic policy of self-defense, is just as unanimously considered in South America "a policy of military offense."

BUSINESS DOCTRINE

"The policies which the world links with the Monroe Doctrine," she said in a prepared address, "are those in defense of commerce, big business, economic exploitations and financial overlordship.

"It is this aspect of our relations to Latin countries which has so filled their citizens with dread of unhappy possibilities."

Quoting former Secretary Hughes, she continued that the doctrine has never been clearly defined and has no legal status in international law. While the "sphere of influence" it sets up for the United States is analogous, she said, to those claimed in other parts of the world by the other great powers, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, nevertheless, "the causes which brought forth the Monroe Doctrine have gone forever" and a modern interpretation of its meaning is needed.

HOOVER ATTITUDE

Raymond Buell, research secretary of the Foreign Policy Association, said it is significant that at the recent Pan-American arbitration conference the United States made no reservation in regard to the doctrine.

The possibility of American intervention in South American countries, he added, has been greatly reduced by "Mr. Hoover's strong nonintervention statement at Buenos Aires."

FIRE WATER NEED STIRS TOWN TO PLEAD FOR OFFICIAL RULES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Despite the restrictions of the Volstead and the Wright acts the State Legislature will be asked to do something legal so Lomita Park, peninsula suburb, can get fire water.

To begin with, the suburb equipped itself with new fire hydrants, a new fire truck, fancy helmets for the fire laddies and brand new hose.

No sooner had this been done than the Pacific Water Company threatened to turn off the water unless an unpaid bill of $612 was redeemed. At the last minute, when it appeared as if the new apparatus would have to get along without water to fight fires, Fire Commissioner Witt remembered the town's maintenance fund. He paid the water bill and the day was saved.

But now there is nothing in the maintenance fund, which means that as soon as the gasoline in the fire truck is exhausted the department will have plenty of water but no way to get to a fire.

It's embarrassing, to say the least, so the Legislature will be asked to amend the 1881 statute in some way so Lomita Park can assess more than the 1½ per cent now allowed for fire protection.

COBRA MAY CURE OLD FOES

Science Finds Way to Employ Deadly Venom in Treatment of Epilepsy

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—There is a possibility, at least, that one of the most vicious enemies of mankind, the cobra, may be converted by the patient genius of science into one of its greatest benefactors. In New York a savant of international fame, Dr. Ralph Monaelesser, is distilling from the venom of the spitting cobra a serum for use in the treatment of epilepsy, and already has achieved remarkable results.

Likewise he has for several years been experimenting with venom of other snakes in the treatment of nervous diseases generally. In this important work he has had the cooperation of Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of reptiles of the New York Zoological Park and considered the world's greatest authority on reptilian science.

Dr. Ditmars said that his friend unquestionably has gone a long way toward solving a problem which has troubled the medical profession since the earliest times—the treatment of nervous diseases—and he personally believes Dr. Monaelesser may have an important announcement to make in the near future.

Smith's Appeal Brings Replies

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith's radio appeal for funds to eliminate the Democratic National Committee's $1,800,000 deficit was bringing results today.

His office was receiving telegrams at the rate of 100 an hour. Many of them contained offers of money, it was said.

Prison Board Has Forty-four Parole Pleas

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The Statae Board of Prison Directors today had on the calendar 185 indeterminate sentences to fix, and forty-four applications for parole.

Among parole applicants were: Matt A. Schmidt, Los Angeles, first-degree murder in connection with the dynamiting of the Times Building; Katherine Clickery, Alameda county, second-degree murder; John Walker, San Joaquin county; Charles Handy, Orange county; Loren Fryer, Trinity county, and Robert Rosser, Orange county, all first-degree murder.

All of the foregoing have served more than seven years of life sentences.

The board is behind schedule and probably will not be able to consider the January calendar until late in February or early in March.

FORD FINDING RUBBER RIVALS

Japanese Have Concession Near Auto Maker

Brazilians Think Nipponese Will Get Jump

Unloading of Equipment Subject to Delay

PARA (Brazil) Jan. 17. (AP)—There is rivalry between the Ford rubber enterprise and that of the Japanese on the banks of the Tapajos River in getting land under cultivation. Old-timers in the Amazon Valley are placing their wagers on the Nipponese, according to word drifting down here from the upper stretches of the river.

The Ford and Japanese concessions are situated nearly opposite each other on the Tapajos, 112 miles above its junction with the Amazon.

The Ford base is now at Santarem, at the mouth of the Tapajos, and here the vessels loaded in Detroit have stayed. They arrived too late in the season to navigate the Tapajos and the cargoes are being lightered and towed up the river.

Veterans on the river praise the Ford hospital ship and its equipment, but believe the task of fighting malaria in the Ford area will be stupendous. There were 350 deaths from the fever in two months about six months ago.

It is reported here that special cranes brought in Ford vessels to discharge cargoes were found below all other freight on the ships and so discharge has been delayed owing to the necessity of using lighter equipment.

Work of clearing land is progressing. One thousand houses for laborers will be constructed.

NEW YORK CUSTOMS TOTAL SETS RECORD

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—Steamship passengers arriving here in 1928 paid customs duties on their baggage of $4,040,920.88, the highest yearly total on record, Philip Elting, collector of the port, announced today.

In a war to clear the highways of drunken, reckless and habitually speeding automobile drivers the California Development Association recommends that the State Motor Vehicle chief be given greater powers to revoke licenses of these types of operators.

His Steady Nerves safeguard a thousand lives

Train Dispatcher says he smokes only Tareytons—

Tells investigator:* "I must be able to smoke all I want without feeling it."

BRINGING IN TRAINS A SPLIT SECOND APART—that's the job of Edward Boyce, shown in the above picture. It was snapped right in the signal tower where Mr. Boyce works. He is a block operator on a large railroad and has a "no accident" record to be proud of. Asked about his choice of cigarettes, by an investigator in the recent Tareyton check-up, Mr. Boyce said, "Starting trains is a job where a minute spent the wrong way may cost human lives. That keeps you on your toes. You can't afford a single overdraft on your nerves. Tareytons give me, however, as many smokes as I want, without penalty."

PLANS NEW BUILDING—Here's a picture of August Volmer, architectural draftsman, planning a new office building in New York. Drawing plans all day certainly takes Steady Nerves. Mr. Volmer said, "Sure I smoke . . . two packs a day. But I never take chances. I stick to Tareytons to keep myself fit."

CAN'T HAVE JUMPY NERVES—Miss Peggy Rooney is a stenographer in a large New York office and she can't take chances with jumpy nerves. When asked about cigarettes she said, "My work in the office all day is very exacting. That's why I'm particular about which brand of cigarettes I use. Tareytons surely keep my nerves steady."

TRAIN ORDERS demand quick thinking!

No time for hesitation. Iron nerves are needed here. Stop number eight. All clear . . . for number ten. A thousand lives are in the dispatcher's safe-keeping.

What kind of cigarettes do men smoke in a job like this? Where Steady Nerves are so important?

We found the answer in a recent check-up. Listen to what this train dispatcher tells us . . .

"I smoke Tareytons," he said, "because they don't affect my nerves. Smoke all you want and stay fit . . . that's my reason."

That's one example . . . there are thousands like it. Pile after pile of interview reports confirm this one conclusion.

"Tareytons are the choice of a busy, active people. People whose work demands steady nerves."

Doctors . . . lawyers . . . teachers. Firemen . . . steel workers . . . engineers. Run the whole scale of human activity.

Wherever you find quick thinking people working under pressure, you'll find Tareytons their outstanding cigarette choice.

In the light of this evidence . . . will you switch to Tareytons for 7 days, just to test and discover the difference?

Smoke all you want . . . but smoke nothing else.

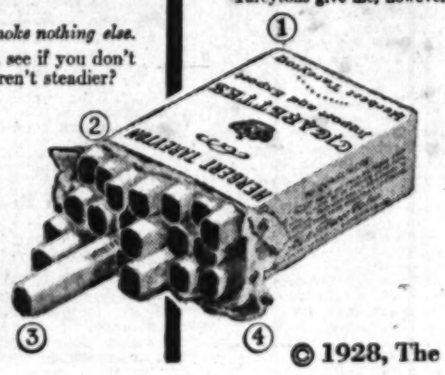
Then when the week is up . . . see if you don't feel better? See if your nerves aren't steadier?



1. Humidor Package. 2. Heavy Foil. 3. Quality Tobaccos. 4. Sealed Perforated Top. That's why there's no dryness . . . no crushing. The extra heavy foil used in Tareyton's famous humidor package assures you a fresh full-flavored smoke down to the last cigarette.

NATIONAL PARK VICTORY GAINED

House Backs Conferees on Forest Purchase Bill

Right of Condemnation for Private Tracts Asked

Yosemite Situation Acute as Cutting Plans Loom

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—An important tentative victory for the national forests of the West was won today when the House backed up its conferees on the Interior Department appropriation bill in their insistence upon provision whereby the government may acquire by purchase or condemnation privately owned timber lands within these public reserves.

The purpose of the proposed provision is to head off timber cutting, which would mar the beauty of the parks, especially Yosemite, where a large area of beautiful timber adjacent to scenic highways is threatened with cutting operations this spring.

The House acted by a vote of 72 to 16. The result, the Senate and House conferees will resume their sessions within the next few days. Representative Crampton of Michigan, chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee in charge of the Interior bill and one of the House conferees, said tonight his group would stand their ground with confidence the Senate conferees will yield.

The bill as it left the House carried an appropriation of $250,000 and authorization for additional contracts up to $2,750,000 for acquisition of these privately owned lands in the national parks. Private individuals and local civic interests, which already have offered $1,000,000, were to match the government appropriations with the result the government would embark upon a comprehensive program for preventing mutilation of the forests.

The Senate, however, after a fight led by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, struck out the words giving the government condemnation power, leaving it only with the right to purchase.

If the Senate amendment were allowed to stand it would mean that the government would have to enter into negotiations for purchase in which it would face exorbitant price demands and in which any failure to reach an early agreement would mean that cutting in the Yosemite, where the situation is immediately acute, would start before Congress had another opportunity to remedy the matter. This is what Crampton and the House are determined to avoid. They fear in addition to other considerations the individuals and local interests which have offered $1,000,000 to start their part of the program off, would withdraw this money rather than take a chance on being victimized by the lumber companies.

Besides Crampton, the House conferees will be Murphy of Ohio and Taylor of Colorado. The Senate Representatives probably will be as before, Smoot of Utah, Keyes of New Hampshire and Harris of Georgia.

The House also supported its conferees in refusing to agree to the Senate amendment eliminating a section of the House bill putting the superintendent of the five civilized tribes of Indians under classified civil service. The vote on this was 80 to 0.

ECONOMY MOVE IN CONGRESS PLANS BILLION-DOLLAR SAVING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Legislation calling for the expenditure of more than $1,000,000,000 which has been favorably reported to the House of Representatives and Senate is due to fall at this session of Congress under a blow of economy administered today by leaders in the House.

Taking the leadership in forestalling further excessive authorization during the administration of President Coolidge, Representative Tilson, Republican, Connecticut, majority floor leader, declared that he will use his influence to prevent consideration of additional money bills now.

Mr. Tilson's warning to Congress to go slow came after he had conferred at length with the President and with Brig.-Gen. Lord, director of the budget, on the pending bills in the House. The floor leader assured Mr. Coolidge, he said, that Congress would do its part to prevent a deficit at the close of the administration.

Representative Longworth, the Speaker, and Representative Snell, Republican, New York, chairman of the Committee on Rules, powerful legislative group of the House, joined with Mr. Tilson in the determination to end this administration with a balance and to give President-elect Hoover a free hand in starting his term of office.

LONG CRUISER SITTINGS URGED

Bill's Pilot to Make Demand on Senate's Time

Leader Fears Loss of Bill in Legislative Jam

Tydings Makes Plea for Naval Equality

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Apprehensive lest a legislative jam in the Senate block consideration of the pending cruiser construction bill, Chairman Hale of the Naval Committee today demanded longer daily sessions.

Hale, who is in charge of the measure which would provide for fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier, temporarily yielded the floor for work on a deficiency appropriation bill, but in so doing announced that hereafter he desires the Senate to convene an hour ahead of its usual meeting time at noon. Senate leaders indicated this request might be complied with beginning next week.

The deficiency bill is but one of a batch of measures awaiting action and the naval chairman showed clearly that he is fearful that if he gives way too frequently for the consideration of other legislation the warship-building program will not be acted upon before March 4.

SPEECH FOR CRUISERS

Today, however, time was found for Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, to carry on for a while the offensive started yesterday in behalf of the measure. The Marylander, one of the younger members of the Senate and a veteran of the World War, insisted that the United States should attempt to attain a naval parity with Great Britain. He suggested as one means of reducing land and naval armament of other powers that there could be a curtailment of American loans to countries maintaining large military and naval establishments.

The Marylander's speech was the only one of the day on the cruiser bill, as the deficiency measure took up the remainder of the time. As a result of this delay a group of Senators who are prepared to oppose the naval measure, which has been indorsed by President Coolidge, remained quiet.

Senator Hale tonight declared, however, that he can muster the votes to pass the naval bill and that he intends to keep the Senate hard at work.

OFFERS RESOLUTION

Senator Tydings offered resolutions declaring it to be the sense of the Senate that hereafter the Secretary of State shall not in any manner whatever sanction an American loan to a foreign country which has an army or navy larger than this nation's.

He added that despite an $18,000,000,000 European war debt owed this country, $8,000,000,000 of loans from America and $3,000,000,000 of loans by foreign corporations in the United States, most of the other powers are more powerfully armed both on land and sea. In 1927 alone, he said, the European nations spent $4,000,000,000 for national defense.

"We are the creditor nation of the world," he declared. "Let us refuse these loans to nations arming in excess of peace-time requirements and you will see a change in the psychology of mankind. You will see a scaling down of the large armaments now encamped on the face of the globe."

TONNAGE PARITY

Meanwhile, however, he said it is vital that America maintain some semblance of naval parity with the other powers and to do this, he argued, the pending cruiser construction bill must be passed.

"Shall we be content," he asked, "to rank behind the British empire and Japan in tonnage and behind the British empire, Japan and Italy in tons of first-line cruisers?

"Those who vote against the cruiser bill must say, in effect, they are content to have the United States outranked by the British empire and Japan, either in the number of ships or in the number of tons those countries now have in first-line cruisers. Are Senators or the American people satisfied to have our navy comparably defective to the navies of either the British empire, Japan or Italy in first-line cruisers?"

California Wins Advantages in Bill's Approval

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—The annual Agricultural Department supply bill as approved today by the Senate subcommittee on agricultural appropriations increases from $1,900,000 to $3,000,000 the allowance for acquisition of additional lands within or adjacent to national parks. This is to make possible the purchase by the government of burnt-over and otherwise denuded areas which the government deems it good policy under the McNary-Sweeney Act, to reforest.

Of vital interest to California and the Southwest, the committee also allowed an increase of $165,000 in the funds for a study of marketing and commercial storage of fruits, nuts and vegetables.

UTILITIES HEARING REPORT CORRECTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—A dispatch by the Associated Press described the Federal Trade Commission's hearings on public utilities financing last September 21 contained an inaccurate reference to Guy P. Newburn of Nashville, Tenn. The dispatch said that M. B. Darnall of Florence, Ala., had named Newburn as having first suggested that the Alabama Power Company might be interested in paying to have Darnall's newspaper editorials circulated. This statement was erroneous and the Associated Press is glad to make this correction.

Forest lands on important watersheds within California would be given State aid for protection against fire, under a legislative bill sponsored by the California Development Association.

Review of Day in Congress

The Senate was asked to hold longer daily sessions on the naval construction bill.

The $25,000,000 increase proposal for prohibition enforcement was debated by the Senate.

The tariff revision of the woods schedule was taken up by the House Ways and Means Committee.

A Chamber of Commerce of the United States delegation opposed the bill for the bituminous coal stabilization before a Senate committee.

IMPORT TAX ON LUMBER REQUESTED

Northwestern Mill Men Tell Congress Free Trade Perils Industry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Throwing open the woods schedule of the Tariff Act for inspection, the House Ways and Means Committee today received a variety of pleas from lumber interests for protection from what they termed ruinous foreign competition.

Lumber now enters the United States duty free, and witnesses testified that this is causing higher prices to American consumers because of increasingly long hauls from foreign forests.

Frank H. Lamb of Hoquiam, Wash., speaking for the lumber industry tariff committee of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, sought a duty of $3 a thousand board feet on all lumber other than cedar. A levy of 25 per cent ad valorem on cedar lumber and shingles was asked by several witnesses appearing for the Northwest cedar industry.

Lamb contended free lumber is overstocking American markets, robbing 50,000 workmen of their jobs, depressing the value of private and government-owned timber lands and otherwise hampering the domestic industry.

Representatives from Washington State, on behalf of 120 mill owners, argued the cedar industry is facing extinction as a result of cheap British Columbian imports.

COAL BOARD BILL FOUGHT BY CHAMBER

Committee Before Senate to Protest Adoption of Regulating Measure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—A special committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States appeared today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee in opposition to the bill to stabilize the bituminous coal industry.

The delegation included Felix M. McWhirter, president of the People's State Bank of Indianapolis, and Charles F. Conn, president of the Armour Fertilizer Works, Chicago.

When McWhirter began reading a statement opposing the bill, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, asked him if the Chamber of Commerce had any "constructive suggestions" to offer to solve the bituminous problem. McWhirter said that the chamber had none; that the committee was merely appearing in opposition to the bill.

The measure proposes to create a coal commission whose membership will include representatives of the operators and the miners. It will have power to issue licenses to operate, to permit consolidations and to supervise mining operations with particular attention to the methods employed, machinery and equipment used, production costs, employee relations, wages paid, capital invested and grades and quality of products.

HAUGEN QUESTIONS WHEAT GRADING NEED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The efficacy of proposed Federal regulation of the protein content of wheat by the creation of a Federal licensing system of laboratories was questioned today by Chairman Haugen, of the House Agriculture Committee, at a hearing on the bill of Representative Burtness, Republican, of North Dakota. He asserted that the standardization of wheat would not benefit the producer, but only the shipper.

INTERIOR FUND BILL SENT TO CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The House sent the Interior Department appropriation bill back to conference today to compose differences between the two houses over Senate changes affecting park and Indian appropriations. One of the three changes in which the House refused to concur would exempt the superintendent of the five civilized tribes from civil service examination.

SWING'S BRIDGE BILL FAVORABLY REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The House Indian Affairs Committee today reported the Swing bill to authorize expenditure of $11,000 for half the cost of constructing a bridge across the San Jacinto River near the Sobaba Indian reservation in California.

WETS AND DRYS AGAIN LINE UP

Senate Has Periodic Debate on Prohibition

Fight Over Enforcement Fund Grows Heated

Democrats Score Mellon, But Increase Seems Doomed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—One of the periodic arguments over prohibition overtook the Senate today on the proposal to increase the prohibition enforcement fund by $25,000,000, and before the night adjournment wets and drys, Republicans and Democrats, once more had given expression of their approval or disapproval of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act. A vote went over until tomorrow.

During the discussion Secretary Mellon was subjected to some caustic criticism for what was described as his "unfriendliness" to the dry cause and there was read into the record a letter from Ex.-Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, which declared the Treasury head "utterly unfit to have charge of the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment."

DOZEN IN DEBATE

When the Senate seemed ready to vote on the proposal for the increase offered by Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia, a dry, a substitute was put forward by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington, also a dry, to reduce the amount to $1,250,000 to be spent in disseminating information in favor of law enforcement and to increase the number of field workers in the prohibition bureau.

Upward of a dozen Senators engaged in the debate on the fund proposal by Senator Harris; some wets argued against the increase, others for it. Some drys were in favor of the additional funds, some were against it.

The criticism of Mr. Mellon was not confined to party lines or prohibition positions. For the most part the criticism of the Treasury Secretary came from Democrats, both wet and dry, and included the observation by Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, that perhaps it would be better to go slow on the criticism or "the new President will not be able to reappoint him."

SALOON POEM READ

At one point when the debate was becoming heated, Senator Harris intervened by causing to be read a prose poem against the saloon entitled "The Song of a Bar Room," written by the late Senator Watson of Georgia, which caused Senator Bruce, Democrat, of Maryland, a wet, to remark that "it sounds as if it might have been written by somebody recovering from a bad attack of the jim-jams."

"Well," Senator Harris rejoined, "any statement Senator Watson made would not make comfortable any one who wanted to keep whisky in this country."

While the fate of the Harris amendment is in doubt, administration Senators are regarded as certain to vote against the increase in view of the opposition to it of Secretary Mellon. The Secretary objected to the increase so long as there is no definitely described place to put the funds and suggested that an educational campaign be instituted as a step toward enforcement of the law.

It was this feature of the Mellon letter that prompted Senator Jones to offer his proposal for money to be spent in disseminating information on law observance, but that proposal was strenuously objected to by Senators Blaine, Republican, of Wisconsin, and Broussard, Democrat, of Louisiana. Blaine said it would amount to a "gratuitous assumption that the people are ignorant of their own laws," and Broussard said he was opposed to giving more money to the "same people who are using poison" to enforce the law.

Experts Say College-Boy Killer Insane

ATLANTA, Jan. 17. (AP) — The trial of George R. Harsh, collegiate hold-up man and killer, resolved today into a battle of medical experts after the mother and other relatives appeared on the stand in his defense.

The defense rested late today after relatives and ten alienists testified that the former Oglethorpe University student was a victim of insanity through habit and illness, and possibly hereditary ailments. The State immediately introduced the first of three physicians who said Harsh was apparently normal and unusually intelligent.

All the defense physicians testified Harsh was abnormal. They concurred that he was incapable of controlling "an irresistible impulse," which led him to kill Willard Smith, 24-year-old drug clerk, while in the act of robbery. All were of the opinion that alcoholic stimulation, resorted to early in life, led Harsh into channels of action that culminated in his recent crimes.

BOISE (Idaho) Jan. 17. (AP) A tax on bottle caps was suggested today by Senator Baker of Custer county as a new source of revenue to relieve real estate of some of its tax burden.

Senator Baker said a tax of one-half cent on each bottle cap put into use "would only increase the price of a case of soda pop 6 cents—and think of the immense amount of revenue that would be brought in."

SLEEPING DEATH BRINGS INQUIRY

Girl Inmate of New Mexico Welfare Home Victim

Witness Tells of Being Given "Twilight" Sedative

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Jan. 17. (AP)—The mysterious death of an 18-year-old girl, Helen Taskew, an inmate of the New Mexico Girls' Welfare Home, a State institution, today became subject of an official inquiry by a legislative committee headed by Gov. Dillon.

Following an announcement by Prosecutor Lujan of Albuquerque that charges will be filed in connection with the girl's unexpected death, the chief executive opened an investigation and heard the testimony of Faye Graves, another girl inmate. Miss Graves testified that "twilight sleep" had been administered to her eight times as far back as last October. Prosecutor Lujan said he will file manslaughter charges probably tomorrow, against Supt. Bertha Lips and Dr. Evelyn Frisbie, who are asserted to have administered the "twilight sleep."

At the Coroner's inquest yesterday a verdict was returned declaring that Miss Haskew came to her death from administration of the sedative, combined with lack of water in her system. Testimony showed Miss Haskew and five other girls had been placed on a bread-and-water diet Friday when they were recaptured after having run away.

Miss Graves was the first witness at the legislative committee's investigation. She was one of the girls placed on diet and in solitary confinement after the runaway episode.

Miss Graves said one injection was given her last Saturday night at the same time Miss Haskew was given the sedative. It made them "sleepy and sick," she continued. Miss Graves said she was ill Saturday night and Sunday, but was placed on a full diet Monday. The Haskew girl died Monday.

BABE RUTH SOBS AT WIFE'S BIER

Brief and Simple Services Draw Vast Throng

BOSTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Simple funeral services were held today for Mrs. Helen Woodford Ruth, wife of "Babe" Ruth, who died in a fire in Watertown last Friday.

Ruth sat through the brief services in silence, except when he burst into sobs. Tears streamed down his face when he entered the small parlor in the Woodford home and knelt beside the coffin in which the body of his wife lay.

There were scores of floral tributes, many from friends and associates of the ball player.

The service was read by Rev. Richard A. Burke, curate of St. Augustine's Church. It lasted only ten minutes, after which the funeral cortege to the old Calvary Cemetery at Forest Hills started. A brief service was conducted at the grave. In the procession Ruth occupied an automobile with John P. Feeney, his counsel, and two friends. Forty police officers were needed to keep back the crowd which had gathered about the house.

Nine-year-old Dorothy Ruth was not present at the services, nor was Dr. Edward H. Kinder, dentist, in whose home Mrs. Ruth lost her life.

GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS THIS YEAR

Flat Chests Passe as Fashion Decrees Return to Curves; Skirts to Trail in Dust Two Inches Below Knees; Four New Hues Being Sponsored

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (Exclusive) The girls are going to be girls again!

By April you should not be able to behold a single flat-chested debutante in the fashionable promenades and even at Vassar the swaggering sophomore will be going Victorian before the summer vacation.

Plumpness is going to be chic. Well, at any rate, you must not be straight and bony if you want to climb into the stylish new ensemble. Curves are coming back.

Two thousand retailers from all sections of the country are celebrating Easter early at the Hotel Astor, attending the spring fashion promenade of the garment retailers of America. Thirty-five leading manufacturers sent their models into the hubbub with 140 of the newest creations.

The models strut around a "cat walk" on a level with the heads of the out-of-town buyers. The men don't seem to mind. The models are rather aloof and every step is a sleepy stretching. The Astor track is twenty-five laps to the mile.

The first bombshell exploded among the buyers was the announcement that:

"It is obvious American designers are becoming increasingly inclined to publicize the wearer's curves."

Skirts this spring will drag the dust one or two inches below the knee, and you're going to see four sponsored hues, "bonnie blue," a lustrous dark blue; "fandango," a burnt-orange tone for sport and evening wear; "foliage green," an almond green for afternoon dresses, and "rosand," a rose beige for sport wear.

Tweeds seem likely to lead among the sport coat and sport suit fabrics. There will be:

Cape effects on sport clothes.

Scarf treatments in numerous versions on both coats and dresses.

Modernistic touches, including fantastic applique trims for coats and frocks.

Ensembles comprising heavy silks for coats and sheer weaves for frocks with the same printed motifs on both.

Printed chiffon for dinner and afternoon wear.

Cardigan jackets, as well as three-quarter coats, for sports ensembles.

Flat crepe and georgette outnumbering other dress mediums.

Smooth cashmere-like woolens for coats and white ermine and beige fox for formal coat trimmings.

Consumption of California-made products on the basis of equal service, quality and price is encouraged by the California Development Association.

TROOPS TO TAKE APACHES' TRAIL

Mexicans Will Leave in Few Days to Catch Indians

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Jan. 17. (AP)—Presidente Loreta of Agua Prieta announced this morning that Presidente Acuna of Bacerac district has offered to send a detachment of troops and Indian trailers from that province to aid in the expedition against the Apache Indians who captured an unidentified cowboy riding range on the plains near the mountain retreat of the band. The cowboy staggered into Aputo after having been held captive for many days.

Loreta said Acuna announced he will himself lead the detachment and that he also has received official sanction for twelve members of the Mexican border patrol to accompany the expedition. He said final plans now being considered probably will result in the expedition leaving within a few days.

The youth told a story of five days of horror during which he was threatened with death. He said his captors were rushing southward. From their conversation he gathered that they were going to meet their women and children in a canyon which he was able to describe and which the expedition will head for.

FRANCE SENDING FILMS MISSION

Sales Controversy to be Renewed Here

Subsidy Sought in Return for Privileges

Hays Accord Will Expire in September

[Copyright, 1929, the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—The French film industry through its official body, the Chamber Syndicate, has decided to send immediately an important commission to the United States to study the motion-picture situation in that country with special reference to the present American film position in the French market.

In the opinion of American film officials abroad the real purpose of the mission will be to try to negotiate an agreement with Will Hays, czar of the American picture industry, regulating the conditions under which the French would have Americans continue operations in France.

The commission will be headed by Charles Delac, president of the syndicate, but accompanying him probably will be several executives of the largest French producing companies. It is no secret in French film circles that what the French film industry is after, in effect, is an American subsidy of the French industry in return for the American privilege of doing business in France.

PLANS PROPOSED

Various means have been suggested, only to be rejected with vigor by the representatives of the American film companies in Europe. One scheme called for an American guarantee of the annual purchase of a fixed number of French productions at a minimum price to be agreed upon by both parties. Thirty pictures at the round figure of $20,000 each was one of the proposals.

Another plan would create a French film commission of the Chamber Syndicate to administer a fund to be contributed by the American industry for the production of French films. No arbitrary amount was named but amounts ranging from $400,000 to $600,000 yearly were mentioned.

By the American representatives these ideas are regarded as nothing less than wild and incapable of even most casual consideration. Despite this attitude the French industry appears to close observers to be determined to force the Americans to pay a price for carrying on sales in France. As a counter move the Americans suggested an export tax, but the French industry opposed this, since the money would go to the government and not to the industry itself.

Thus a deadlock has been reached, and the French industry's decision to send a commission of leaders to America is a final attempt to press to a successful conclusion the French theory of settlement.

SUBSIDY SCOUTED

The American point of view as repeatedly expressed through Will Hays is that the Hollywood industry cannot subsidize the film industry of any foreign country. It asks only an opportunity to offer its films in the world markets under the same conditions as are offered to all foreign films in the United States.

To the European assertion that the American market is closed to the foreign film industry, George R. Canty, European film trade commissioner for the Department of Commerce, recently replied with figures showing that 200 foreign films were released in the United States last year. Thirty of these were French.

The movement in Europe against American films has become so menacing that the whole matter now has been placed in the hands of the American government, through which the industry henceforth will speak.

In France the Americans are running along under the temporary accord arranged by Will Hays last year and under which each company is allowed to bring in 60 per cent of the total films it imported during 1927. To obtain further permits, the Americans have been forced to buy French films, each being good for seven import licenses. This compromise expires in September, but arrangements for the season 1929-30 must be made within the next two months.

The thefts at the business houses were not discovered until this morning.

LESLIE ELECTED SUN-MAID CHIEF

Action Fills Position Made Vacant by Merritt

Other Officers Selected at Same Meeting

Managing Director May be Abolished

FRESNO, Jan. 17.—J. M. Leslie of Del Rey, vice-president of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers of California, was today elected president of the Growers' Co-operative Association, succeeding Ralph P. Merritt, who is on a six months' leave.

Frank Hight of Hanford was elected vice-president.

Clayton I. Chandler of Fresno, former secretary, was elected treasurer, and Frank Frane of Reedley, who was elected to the board yesterday to replace Leslie Einstein of Reedley, was elected secretary.

For several years Leslie has been the guiding hand in the California Corporation of Sun-Maid, the growers' service company of the co-operative, and when Merritt was given a six months' leave last summer Leslie assumed the active management of the corporation.

Merritt is also president and managing director of the Delaware corporation of the co-operative, which manufactures Sun-Maid products under a contract with the California corporation.

Action on Merritt's resignation, which was placed in the hands of the board of directors at the time of the reorganization six months ago, is being held in abeyance by the board, and no forecast could be obtained of the probable action on it in advance of the expiration of his leave on the 24th inst.

Election of Leslie as president indicated that the co-operatives board intended to abolish the position of managing director, which is also held by Merritt, who was elected to the position when he took over the work of reorganization following the bankruptcy of the original Sun-Maid organization five years ago.

FLYING DEPUTY BILL IN SENATE

Pedrotti Plan Calls for Aeronautics Officer in Each County

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP) There will be a "flying deputy sheriff" in every county in the State if legislation submitted in the upper house by Senator Pedrotti of Los Angeles is enacted by the Legislature.

Senator Pedrotti's bill would create an office of deputy sheriff in charge of aeronautics in each county and would repeal the present aviation law by substituting for it new legislation that would conform with Federal aeronautic regulation requirements.

Registration and license of planes, balloons and all flying contrivances would be required together with the registration and license of all pilots.

Pilot's Ability Saves Lives of Three in Plane

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 17.—Three persons, a pilot and his two passengers, escaped death or serious injury late Wednesday only through the superb flying skill of Jack O'Brien, the pilot, who brought his ship into a perfect landing after clipping off a long section of quarter-inch power line at Kern county airport.

Pilot O'Brien, formerly of the local airport but now stationed at Oakland, was flying a Whirlwind-motored Eaglerock. As he came into the airport, he got into the "wash" or wind wake of the big Boeing air-mail plane, which was just ahead of him. Instantly his plane was out of control, dropping many feet until he was heading directly into the power cable. There was a crash as his landing gear ripped out a great section of the line.

The plane rocked and spectators grasped, expecting to see it plunge headlong into the ground, but the pilot had regained control of his ship, held it firm as a rock and circled to make a perfect landing just an instant after the air-mail plane set wheels on the runaway.

The landing gears of O'Brien's plane still trailed a long section of powerline.

After greeting his chemists and botanists he made an inspection tour of (the tropical estate, which is his winter home.

During the afternoon Mr. Edison tested several plant specimens from which he hopes to develop a rubber producer able to supply the United States in case of a national emergency.

Two New Names on Death List

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 17.—Kern county's violent death toll since the first of the year jumped to fourteen last night, when two accident victims died at local hospital. The two new names on the January tragedy list are those of B. V. Brown, 38 years of age, Santa Fe brakeman, who was injured in a railroad accident at Mojave early yesterday, and Mrs. Jennie Eriborne, 22, Kern matron, who was seriously burned in a coal-oil explosion at her home more than a month ago.

Brown, who lost a portion of his right foot when he slipped and fell under the grinding wheels of a train at Mojave, died as the result of shock and loss of blood. His head also was injured. The body is at Flickinger mortuary, where an inquest will be conducted either late today or Friday. The railroad man is survived in Los Angeles by his widow and two children.

Mrs. Eriborne, the wife of Ben Eriborne, was critically burned on December 13, when coal oil which she was pouring into a wood stove exploded and set fire to her clothing.

California leads the nation in airports with 127, according to the aviation committee of the California Development Association, which has campaigned for the establishment of landing fields in every county and important city of the State.

NEW TRUNK-LINE PLAN UNFOLDED

Western Pacific Has Eyes on Bay City Business

Hearing Over Redwood City Road Brings Story

Company Holds Great Fund to Drive Coast Wedge

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—California as the western terminus of another transcontinental rail system is the larger picture drawn for H. C. Davis, Interstate Commerce Commission examiner, today by H. M. Adams, president of the Western Pacific and Western Pacific California railroads, as he took the witness stand to argue personally for a permit to build a new rail line from San Francisco to Redwood City. The hearing which opened here today follows a hearing in Fresno at which testimony was presented for and against a new Western Pacific line into the San Joaquin Valley from a point near Stockton to Kings River in Tulare county.

The San Joaquin line and the peninsula line, Adams contended, are essential parts of a comprehensive plan which will link in amicable transcontinental relations the Western Pacific and its subsidiaries, the Denver and Rio Grande Western and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. His detailing of this prospect was accomplished over the protests of counsel for the Southern Pacific, the latter line making a determined effort to keep the Western Pacific from peninsula territory.

BENEFITS POINTED OUT

Direct benefits of the peninsula line, if granted, will be valuable industrial development of the greater San Francisco area, Adams asserted, adding that industrial growth generally is recognized as San Francisco's greatest present-day need.

Denial of the application, he declared, will have the effect of consolidating the Southern Pacific's position on the peninsula so effectively that "for years to come it can effectually block efforts of any other railroad to enter San Francisco."

"If our permit is granted," Adams said, "our trains will be in San Francisco as quickly as they are in Oakland and we are 100 per cent confident that there will be a remarkable and almost immediate industrial development of the peninsula."

Adams confirmed from the stand previous intimations that if the Western Pacific application is favored by the Interstate Commerce Commission, negotiations will be opened with the Southern Pacific for joint use of that company's present transbay bridge at Dumbarton, giving the Western Pacific an all-rail entry into San Francisco. If no agreement can be reached, Adams stated definitely that the Western Pacific will build its own bridge.

GREAT FUND CREATED

"Taken altogether," he said, "the Western Pacific is an unfinished project. It originally was designed to be a strong competitor of the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific through the Utah gateway. We are in a position to go ahead now. We were not in position up to this time.

"From Salt Lake to California we traverse barren territory. To strengthen our line we must have feeders in California and we must have an all-rail line into this city. We have been going about the acquisition of branch lines gradually, feeling our way as we went."

In response to questions put by Evan J. Foulds, counsel for the Southern Pacific, Adams admitted the Western Pacific's holding corporation is not now paying dividends on its preferred stock, plainly intimating a new angle of attack on the part of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe.

"The money that would ordinarily go into dividends," Adams amplified, "now is going into improvements to the tune of $18,000,000, half of which is new money."

The testimony of Adams and the submission of indorsements from all of the peninsula communities occupied the day's session. It will be continued tomorrow, with the Western Pacific allowed three and one-half days to submit its case.

Bill Would Bar Recurrence of Collins Case

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—The kidnaping of Walter Collins in Los Angeles, the subsequent return to his mother of a boy not her own and the jailing of Mrs. Collins on insanity charges, led to the introduction of legislation in the State Senate today prohibiting the jailing of a person for insanity without a warrant unless the defendant is violent.

Senator Weller of Glendale submitted a bill to insure against the recurrence of an arrest similar to that of Mrs. Collins, he stated.

FARMERS GET HUGE SUM

Owens Valley Landowners Paid About Fifty Million by City of Los Angeles for Water Rights

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 17.—Los Angeles has paid something like $50,000,000 for lands in the Owens Valley to guarantee a water supply for the hundreds of thousands of persons in the southern city, Attorney F. M. Bortorff pointed out today in the Superior Court as he presented his argument for the city, which is the defendant in a civil suit filed by more than a score of Owens Valley farmers.

Bortorff said that the Owens Valley plaintiffs want a "pound of flesh." He argued that this was indicated by one case in which the plaintiff has reduced the amount of damages asked from Los Angeles from $200,000 to approximately $15,000,000, but still demands an injunction against Los Angeles to prevent the use of wells and the diversion of valley water in augmenting the Los Angeles Aqueduct flow.

Bortorff paid tribute to the courtesy and impartiality exercised through the "long and tedious case" by Superior Judge Frank Lamberson of Visalia, who was assigned here for the hearing.

A decision against the City of Los Angeles might seriously impair the water supply of thousands of persons, the attorney emphasized.

On the other hand, attorneys for the plaintiff farmers argue that their agricultural and grazing lands have been ruined by a lessened water supply, attributed to Los Angeles wells and diversion of surface water.

In most of the previous Owens Valley cases the farmers have been awarded damages and in many cases have sold their lands to Los Angeles for considerable sums. Argument in the case probably will be completed tomorrow.

LOS ANGELES PRISON BILL INTRODUCED

Location for Southland's Penitentiary to Be Given Legislature in February

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—A bill for an appropriation to purchase a site for a State prison in Los Angeles county was introduced this morning by Senators Rochester and Pedrotti of Los Angeles and Gray of San Francisco. A similar bill will be offered in the Assembly by Claire Woolwine of Los Angeles and Fred Hawes of San Francisco. The authors of the bills compose the prison site committee.

The sum to be appropriated was left blank and will be filled in after the recess when the bill is amended, the authors announced. The definite site will be located during the recess by the committee and reported to the Legislature for approval late in February upon reconvening.

The administration, it is understood, is agreeable to the measure. The land and water rights will be obtained from available funds in the present biennial budget, while the buildings will be constructed from funds in the next biennium. The administration favors construction of the Southern California prison to relieve the State and counties from high transportation costs, as well as to relieve the present crowded conditions in Folsom and San Quentin prisons.

The prison will be located in the Antelope Valley in the northern reaches of Los Angeles county, it is understood.

A large area will be acquired. The intention is to make the prison self-supporting by raising agricultural products.

LAST-HOUR BILLS COME IN TORRENT

Legislature Adjourns Today But Clock Will be Stopped to Clear Decks

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—The State Legislature entered an eleventh-hour flurry of business today to introduce 457 bills, making the total 1440 to date.

The Assembly passed the Senate's concurrent resolution for adjournment at 3 p.m. tomorrow after a spirited debate in which several members declared themselves opposed to terminating the first half of the session tomorrow because they did not believe they could introduce all measures intrusted to them by that time.

It was agreed that such a situation will be taken care of by stopping the house clock at 3 p.m. and continuing until all business has been cleared up. The consensus of leaders in both houses is that the Legislature will not actually adjourn until late tomorrow night or possibly Saturday morning.

Bill Fixes Wage for Prison Toil

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Provision would be made to give inmates of California State prisons a full eight-hour work day with an opportunity to earn about $1.50 daily, under a bill introduced by Assemblyman Anderson today.

Anderson's measure provides that if the prisons are found to be self-supporting the sum of $1.50 be paid to prisoners working on an eight-hour basis, and that two-thirds of this go to dependents, the balance to be placed in a trust fund for the prisoner.

In the case of a prisoner convicted of murder or manslaughter two-thirds of his pay would go to dependents of the person killed.

Bank Measure Sets New Rule

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—A bill providing that California banks and their branches must have a $50,000 capital before they can start operating was introduced today by Assemblyman Williamson of San Francisco.

The measure is in accordance with the policy Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Banks, declared recently he had adopted of not authorizing banks with less than a $50,000 capital.

The bill also states that in the case of a new bank there shall be a surplus and contingent fund equivalent to 25 per cent of the capital paid in.

Octogenarian Does Stunts

BERKELEY, Jan. 17. (AP)—To disprove charges that he is unable to earn $26.50 he claimed as wages from a painter, Estes H. Westover, 81 years of age, today turned a few handsprings in Police Court here, leaped on a desk and did a few other acrobatic stunts.

The display continued until stopped by a court bailiff. Decision on the claim was reserved, the court saying proof was needed that Westover can climb a ladder and paint, which his former employer denied. The court will personally inspect the premises where the man said he worked.

CARS USED FOR HOMES

CUTLER, Jan. 17.—Seventeen cars are standing on the side tracks of the Santa Fe at Cutler. They are homes of a group of men who are unloading and stacking steel rails for the Santa Fe. The railroad company is laying new steel rails on the roads in the Lindsay district. The laborers will remain in Cutler about two weeks. C. H. Jones is foreman of the crew, which numbers about sixty men. There are four American families in the company, the rest being Mexican.

CEMENT TRUST INQUIRY VOTED

Senate Passes Resolution Offered by Carter

Action Taken After Spirited Debate on Matter

Special Committee and Fund of $3000 Provided

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—A resolution introduced by Senator Carter of Wilmington calling for appointment of a committee to investigate the asserted existence of a cement trust in California and carrying an appropriation of $3000 for that purpose, was passed by the Senate after a spirited debate today. Senator Swing said that the resolution grew out of a Los Angeles cement-industry controversy. Senator Murphy branded Carter's move as one for publicity. The measure finally passed, 34 to 5.

Senator Carter had the resolution taken from the Committee on Contingent Expenses, where it had been referred, and was amended to carry an appropriation of $3000 for investigation expenses, and the matter came to the Senate floor without any recommendation. He moved its passage and the motion was amended by Senator Canepa of San Francisco to re-refer to committee. Then the storm broke and the resolution was blown on high wind of debate to every corner of the Senate.

EVIDENCE OFFERED

Carter presented evidence that an asserted cement trust exists in the form of bids for State cement-construction work in which all public bids called are identical in price. He charged the reputed combine is suppressing free competition in the sale of cement and extorting money unfairly from the public in the sale of cement to the State, to counties, cities and private individuals.

Carter denied that any Los Angeles controversy had precipitated the introduction of the resolution and charged that efforts to re-refer to committee were an attempt to kill the matter.

UNIONS INTERESTED

On Canepa's amendment to send the resolution back to committee, Senator Maloney informed the Senate he had received word from San Francisco that the unions were interested and considered making the matter one of a general trust investigation and not specifying the reputed trust.

After much bitter debate a roll call was taken on the re-reference to committee and the upper house showed a division of twenty-one against sending it to committee and eighteen members for.

Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, presiding officer of the Senate, will announce the membership of the committee of five that will carry on the investigation, probably tomorrow.

CHANGES IN POLL LAWS PROPOSED

Bills Now Before Senate, Introduced by Weller, Call for Various Revisions

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Considerable revision of election laws of the State is called for by a number of bills introduced in the Senate by Frank C. Weller, Glendale Senator.

One measure provides that the number of members of county central committees be reduced to five in counties with ten or more Assembly districts, with such members having authority to appoint an additional member from each precinct in each Assembly district. One member now is allowed for each 700 votes in each Assembly district.

The provision of "write-in" candidates would be eliminated by another bill and still another would close registration forty days prior to election, to allow more time for preparation of ballots and election pamphlets. Titles of propositions appearing on voting machines would be written by the Attorney-General to make them uniform, under provisions of another measure.

Sponsors of a candidate could certify the signatures of other sponsors under another Weller bill, eliminating the necessity and expense of having signatures of sponsors certified by a notary public.

Senator to Test Car-Search Case

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—State Senator Inman, a Sacramento attorney, who, with Sheriff Becker of Alameda county, was arrested in Colusa county Sunday by a State game warden when he refused to allow his car to be searched, announced today that he will carry the case to the Supreme Court to test the right of wardens to stop and search a private automobile without a search warrant.

When Inman declined to allow his car to be searched by Game Captain S. J. Carper, the latter took the Senator and Sheriff before Justice of the Peace George Reckers, who found that the number of ducks in Inman's car was well within the limit.

EXEMPTION FOR ALL PENSIONS PROPOSED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17. (AP)—All pensions would be exempted from attachment under provisions of a bill introduced in the upper house of the Legislature by Senator Rochester of Los Angeles. Rochester would make the provisions of a law which now exempts Federal pensions from attachment apply to all pensions.

VALENCIA CROP LOOKS LIKE RECORD-BREAKER

PLACENTIA, Jan. 17.—Confident that the 1929 Valencia orange crop will prove a record-breaking one, stockholders in the Placentia Cooperative Citrus Association at their annual meeting held today at the Placentia Round Table clubhouse made plans for extensive alterations and additions to their packing-house so that they will be prepared to handle the fruit.

The annual report presented by J. F. Hixon, manager of the house, showed that the association shipped ninety cars of fruit during the past season. Of this number 3306 boxes were navels and 32,968 boxes Valencias. Net returns on the navels were $1.94 per field box, while fruit sold in Valencia pool No. 1 netted the growers $3.28 per field box; pool No. 2, $3.31 per field box; pool No. 3, $3.17 per field box and pool No. 4, $3.21 per field box—the average net return for the entire crop being $3.26 per field box, or 6½ cents per pound. UPLAND, Jan. 17.—Members of Citrus Belt Council of Isaak Walton League of America wanted Dave Vasbinder of Upland to be president of the organization.

RARE VIOLIN PURCHASED

Pomona Professor Buys Old Instrument of Los Angeles Dealer and Repair Man

CLAREMONT, Jan. 17.—Hidden away for years in the shop of Mr. A. Koodlach, a violin maker of Los Angeles, a rare old violin was recently obtained by Prof. Ralph Kuniacke of Pomona College, when searching for an instrument for one of his students.

Mr. Koodlach had received the violin in a shipment of instruments from Germany several years before, in a dismantled condition—without strings and with the finger board detached. Being, however, a connoisseur of violins, he recognized it as a gem and a thorough cleaning revealed the date, 1735, and the name of the maker, Sebastian Klotz, one of the most famous of the old German violin makers. Upon being assembled the violin was found to be in perfect condition, free from all patchwork and without signs of repair.

In spite of Mr. Koodlach's reluctance to part with the prize, the violin was purchased by Mr. Kuniacke, together with a bow by Pecatte of Paris, one of the greatest bow makers in the world, and itself over 100 years old.

The famous Klotz will make its first public appearance with Mr. Kuniacke on Monday evening, January 21, when it will be used by him in a recital to be given in Bridges Hall of Music at Claremont.

RECALL OF MAYOR NOT APPROVED

Burbank's Chief Executive and Councilman Upheld in Substantial Victory

BURBANK, Jan. 17.—This city's first recall election today developed into an overwhelming victory for Mayor Lapsley and Councilman Thompson, against whom the ouster proceedings were instituted upon charges of inefficiency, incompetence and disregard of public welfare.

The recall of the Mayor was lost, 1260 to 510, while Thompson retained his office by a 1428-to-290 vote of approval, in returns from twelve out of sixteen precincts. A 35 per cent vote was cast.

The two vindicated city officials last night issued the following statement:

"The election resulted as we thought Burbank citizens would think of the recall. We shall continue our terms in office satisfied by the knowledge that the people we are serving are not swayed by an attempt to force a measure designed to interfere with their community life. The parties at whom the recall was directed are very grateful for the expression of confidence as evinced by the overwhelming defeat of the recall proposition."

Thompson's term expires in April and it is not known whether he will be a candidate again. Mayor Lapsley has eighteen months yet to serve.

Girl Takes Fall Into Skylight

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 17.—A woman's screams and the crash of shattered glass last night started Police Officers Miller and Riggle on a race up three flights of stairs to the roof of the Memphis Hotel, 1234 Pier avenue, Ocean Park. They found Anastasia Hayward, 19 years of age, of this city, in a pool of blood beside a shattered skylight. The girl, according to a police report, had been on a late drinking party "somewhere in Santa Monica," and when she refused to go home with liquor on her breath, a friend took her to a room in the hotel and locked her in. Finding the door locked, she escaped through a window, according to the officers, and made her way to the roof, where she fell into a glass skylight. Cuts and bruises of painful but not serious character were treated at the Welfare Hospital, and police started an investigation of the asserted drinking party.

Court Upholds Pasadena Law

PASADENA, Jan. 17.—Local barbers must submit to physical examinations in accordance with the provisions of this city's new sanitary code, Judge Walter S. Gates decided in Superior Court today, when he denied the injunction sought by the Master and Journeymen Barbers' Association to prevent health officers from enforcing the ordinance. The barbers maintained that the sanitary code was an unnecessary duplication of the State law.

Deputy City Attorney Harold P. Huls argued that the city code goes further than the State regulations covering barber shops in that it provides for periodic physical examinations.

Pending the hearing of the request for a permanent injunction, City Health Officer Warren F. Fox was restrained from the enforcement of the code.

Defendant Balks His Dismissal

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 17.—Attempt of the prosecution, to dismiss S. Oku, one of six defendants on trial in Superior Court for arrested conspiracy to violate the State alien land law, failed shortly before noon today when the defense objected to the move and Judge Charles S. Haines upheld the objection. In refusing to sanction dismissal of their client, defense attorneys tacitly took the stand that if one of the defendants is innocent, all are innocent.

In denying the motion to dismiss, Judge Haines indicated he would, when charging the jury toward close of the case either late today or some time tomorrow, "advise" a verdict of acquittal as to Oku.

The prosecution thereupon rested on the testimony introduced during the week of trial. That testimony while admittedly circumstantial was intended by Prosecutors Oran N. Muir and E. Clark to prove the defendants, Shoichi Nakamura, T. Oku, G. Miyada, S. Kurokua, Y. Nagahiro and Oku conspired together to obtain possession of an eighty-acre garden ranch near Vista.

MILLIONS ASKED FOR ROYALTIES

British Company Seeking Tremendous Amounts

Pasadena and Forty Other American Cities Involved

Fees Wanted for Asserted Sewage Disposal Patents

PASADENA, Jan. 17.—Millions of dollars in royalties have been demanded from this city and forty other American cities by the Activated Sludge Company of England, which is reported to have charged the American municipalities with using a patented activated-sludge process without legal authority, it was learned today.

City Manager R. V. Orbison is in Los Angeles this afternoon conferring with Robert Cramer, chief engineer of the Milwaukee (Wis.) sewer plant, regarding the royalty claims of the British concern, and tomorrow he will meet attorneys and engineers of the Chicago sanitary district to discuss the problem.

The English company has written on several occasions in an effort to collect royalties from this city, but Pasadena officials always have maintained that the process was invented and patented by an American concern prior to 1917, and that American cities were given permission to make use of the principle without royalty payment.

About thirteen years ago Pasadent is reported to have experimented with the activated-sludge process, while the British company did not receive its patent until 1917. If Milwaukee and Chicago can prove that this city used the patented process prior to 1917, they can defeat any attempt to collect large royalties, according to local attorneys.

Committees for District Named

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 17.—Committees to effect a permanent organization of the Metropolitan Water District were named today by W. O. Harris, San Bernardino banker and temporary chairman of the board. The organization ordinance committee includes John R. Richards, Los Angeles, chairman; George H. Sutton, Santa Monica; W. Turney Fox, Glendale; Frank Lin Thomas, Pasadena, and Paul Schwab, Beverly Hills.

The finance committee includes Col. S. H. Finley, Santa Ana, chairman; William P. Whitsett, Los Angeles and Harry L. Heffner, San Marino. The engineering committee, which will be appointed later, will include C. A. Hutchinson, City Engineer of Colton.

The water-district directors will meet in Pasadena on the 26th inst., but it is not proposed to effect a permanent organization at this conference, Mr. Harris stated. The directors will inspect work on the aqueduct survey which has been done by the Los Angeles Bureau of Light and Power, and later will be taken on an airplane flight over the Los Angeles Aqueduct to the Owens River Valley.

The Colorado River aqueduct, which the metropolitan district will construct, will be six times as large as the Los Angeles Aqueduct.

Glendale Gets Budget Portion

GLENDALE, Jan. 17.—Out of the $21,000,000 provided in the 1929 budget of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company for expansion of its service and equipment in Southern California, the Glendale district, which includes the San Fernando Valley, will receive $808,100, according to estimates made by M. M. Perret, manager of the Glendale district.

Out of this amount $149,300 will be spent in Glendale in laying additional cable and otherwise providing for the improvement and extension of the service to meet the needs of local subscribers; $22,000 will go to La Crescenta Valley exchange; $137,300 to the North Hollywood exchange, and $144,000 to Burbank.

It is also planned to erect and equip a new exchange in Owensmouth at a cost of $50,000 for equipment for the central office there, and about $5000 for a new building in which to house the exchange.

NEW WHITTIER SCHOOL GYMNASIUM TO OPEN

WHITTIER, Jan. 17.—Whittier Union High School's new $40,000 gymnasium is to be officially dedicated Friday night with elaborate ceremonies, when the local basketball team meets the Santa Ana five in the first home game for this season, in the Coast Prep School League, in which both teams are entered.

An interesting entertainment in the large auditorium will precede the game in the gymnasium and the ceremonies with which the gym is to be dedicated. The entertainment is to be given by the members of the high school faculty for the students and their friends. Simultaneous with the auditorium exercises will be a game in the gymnasium between the featherweights, the 110-pound teams of the two schools, and at 8 o'clock the varsity game is to begin. Al Whitcomb is the coach for the light team.

Stowell of Hollywood of stock which he had sold fourteen months ago. Mr. Vaughan will devote his time to the banking interests in Hawthorne and Huntington Beach, and to a building and loan concern which he controls at Phoenix, Ariz., he said today.

MONKEY CHIEFTAIN ARRIVES

Famous Animal Trainer Assumes Duty

Mother and Baby Living at Culver City Monkey Farm

CULVER CITY, Jan. 17.—Famed on two continents as an animal trainer, Herman Ziegler arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and immediately assumed charge as superintendent of the five score simians now resident at the Los Angeles Monkey Farms, at 5651 Washington Boulevard, near the Culver City limits, to be formally opened on Saturday.

Ziegler came to Los Angeles diricet from the Hagenbeck Wild Animal Farm at Nassau, N. H., where for the past seven years he has been working with savage beasts. Previously to that he spent fifteen years at the great Hagenbeck Zoo in Hamburg, Germany.

For the past several years Ziegler has been making a special study of the breeding and training of monkeys and is widely known for his success with the animals. He also is well known as a trainer of lions, tigers and the members of the cat family.

The monkey expert was selected by W. H. (Bill) Rice, president of the Los Angeles Monkey Farms, from a large number of candidates for the position. Special apartments have been constructed for him and he will make his home on the farms.

More than 200 monkeys of two score species will be resident on the farms before the formal opening to the public on Saturday. All kinds of monkeys from tiny little marmosets no larger than a rat to great orang-outangs and chimpanzees are included in the collection already arrived.

Among rare specimens to be seen are blue Wooleya, who appear more like comical monkey dolls than live animals, Lalands, Javanese, Military, Mandrills, Pigtails, Black Spiders and many others. A number of baby monkeys are occupying apartments with their mothers.

REDLANDS HISTORY RECALLED

Old-timer Turns Time Back to When Hustling City Was Grazing Land for Sheep

REDLANDS, Jan. 17.—J. S. Edwards of this city, head of the Gold Buckle Packing Association at East Highlands and one of the wealthiest orange growers in the State, "sent here to die in 1881 before there was any Redlands, which thing I expect to do sometime if my life is spared," gave a history of Redlands to the Fortnightly Club today.

Between old San Bernardino and Crafton the plains were dotted with bands of sheep. Where today thrifty groves are bearing golden fruit, the land was cut with arroyos, the levels high with grass. But as for Redlands there was hardly a hint of the growing city that now is here. At a point near what is now Mentone we crossed an unfinished ditch. The pipe camp and this ditch as we learned afterward were the first rudiments of the splendid water distribution system that was later developed in Redlands.

A Jewish peddlar, Louis Jacobs, had opened a private bank in San Bernardino, a Connecticut Yankee civil engineer chess player, F. E. Brown, was teaching school in Santimoteo Canyon. A young New York stock broker, E. G. Judson, stopped off at Colton with a cinder in his eye, spent a little time at Crafton, met Brown. By this triumvirate was Redlands founded.

Mr. Edwards was chosen secretary of the Redlands Water Company upon his arrival soon after the town was formed. The promoters of the enterprise were in difficulties, as is most always the case with the launching of such subdivisions. There was strife between the purchasers of water rights and the promoters and the "dark horse," Mr. Edwards, served well. Because of his ignorance of conditions he claims he managed to straighten out much of the trouble. Development of the system found an inadequate supply of water.

One day Brown, in conversation with Hiram Barton, a son of Dr. Ben Barton, who lived in a brick house near the Asistencia and who owned a large tract of land adjacent asked if he knew of any place in the mountains where water could be stored. Hiram didn't know of any place unless it might be Bear Valley.

There followed trips and surveys to that site and the eventual development of the Bear Valley Dam. Then came the sinking of wells in the Redlands district to make a condition of safety.

The principal speaker at the session yesterday was Peter Hanson of Glendale. Edward T. Kaiser, past real estate commissioner, is to be the speaker at the meeting, to be held next Wednesday.

Singing Groups Plan Contests

CLAREMONT, Jan. 17.—More than 400 college singers plan to gather in Claremont on March 16, when the associated students of Pomona College are to be the hosts of the glee clubs of Southern California, in what is anticipated will be one of the largest musical gatherings ever held in California. Furthering the spirit of friendly rivalry between the neighboring colleges, women's glee clubs from Redlands, Whittier, U.C.L.A., California Christian College, San Diego State College, Occidental, and Pomona, will take part in the competition to be held in Bridges Hall of Music. Musicians of national fame have been invited to act as judges in the awarding of the loving cup to be given as a prize to the winning club.

Preceding the musical contest, a banquet will be given at which Horace Kennedy, president of the Pomona College student body, will act as toastmaster.

It is scheduled to sail north Saturday and will stop at San Francisco for five days.

SANTA MONICA PUP CAUSES WOE

Mistress in Anguish Advertises in Newspapers for Dog That Turned Up Missing, Which is Finally Found in Family Wash at Hollywood Laundry

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 17.—The laundryman finds many unexpected articles that have strayed into the family wash, but the Hollywood Laundry today established something in the nature of a record as a retriever of missing odds and ends. And if Mitzi, the small spotted puppy belonging to Mrs. A. V. Straw, 339 Twenty-first street, this city, grows up retaining her fondness for the laundry bag as a place to nap after a bit of strenuous romping, the family wash may soon be sent to Hollywood without the services of a collector.

Mitzi, the mischievous little pup, after causing her mistress anguish and being advertised in a local paper yesterday as "lost, strayed or stolen," showed up today in the Hollywood Laundry.

"Found!" said the laundryman over the telephone, and Mrs. Straw hurried to reclaim Mitzi.

WOMAN BLOWN INTO STREET

Leaky Gas Pipe Blamed for Unusual Accident

Victim's Body Badly Burned in Freak Explosion

House Fails to Take Fire Following Mishap

VENTURA, Jan. 17.—Miss Goldie Leper was blown out of an apartment in this city this afternoon and was rushed to the Big Sisters Hospital suffering burns on her hands, face, arms and elsewhere on her body. The explosion was said by one of the firemen who was called to the scene to have occurred when Miss Leper plugged in an electric heater into a wall socket and a spark ignited gas which had come into the room from a leaky pipe under the house.

Miss Leper is a sister of Mrs. Mary Edmondson, whose apartment it was, and had been living with Mrs. Edmondson, taking care of her father and mother. The latter is in the Big Sisters Hospital with the "flu" and Mrs. Edmondson was with her at the time of the explosion. Mrs. Edmondson's 5-year-old son was slightly burned in the blast. Her daughter and father, who were close by, were not injured. Miss Leper's condition could not be learned at the hospital, where attendants were still working over her more than a half-hour after the explosion.

One of the firemen said the flame continued to burn at the place where the pipe leaked after the explosion, but that otherwise there was no fire in the house.

Heavy Damages Asked in Two San Diego Suits

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 17.—Damages aggregating $100,000 are asked in two suits filed in Superior Court today, based on automobile collisions.

In one, Alice E. Luce is plaintiff for $50,000 against the San Diego Soda Works and its employee, Steve McGabock. The plaintiff declares she was a passenger in the car of Leonard Weston when it was assertedly struck by a truck driven by McGabock at Eighth and F streets on November 20, last year. Serious injuries are recited in the complaint.

J. R. Purnell, hotel owner of Phoenix, Ariz., complains in his suit for $5000 damages that his car was wrecked in a collision on the Descanso Road three miles north of Alpine on December 23, last. The car was that of J. W. Lyons, who is named defendant, together with the firm of Payne — Lyons, according to the complaint. Purnell declares he was badly injured.

CHINO STREET SWEEPER RUN DOWN BY TRUCK

CHINO, Jan. 17.—James P. Reeder, city street sweeper, was confined to his home today suffering broken ribs and other painful injuries caused by being knocked to the pavement by a truck in the early morning. Reeder was engaged in his work at 4 o'clock in the morning. A bread truck driven by Jack Scott bore down on Reeder and struck him to the pavement. Scott told officers his windshield was covered with water from fog and rain, which prevented him seeing Reeder in time to stop, and when he did observe the worker slippery pavement prevented a quick stop of the truck. Reeder was placed under care of Dr. G. E. Noggle.

PLAN TO ENLARGE EMERGENCY HOSPITAL

PASADENA, Jan. 17.—Persistent rumors that the Pasadena Emergency Hospital was to be removed from public jurisdiction and established as a new unit of the Pasadena Hospital, were discounted today by Assistant City Manager Eugene Melcher, who stated that the public first-aid station probably will be moved into larger quarters in the old City Hall and continued as a city department.

The tentative decision to continue the emergency station under public control is reported to have resulted from the failure of Pasadena Hospital officials to furnish the Board of City Directors with a detailed plan for handling the accident cases at that institution.

POSTOFFICE GROWS

INGLEWOOD, Jan. 17.—Receipts of the Inglewood Postoffice for the year just closed amount to $70,788.18, or an increase of $5311.34 over those of the previous year, according to Postmaster Fred E. Laxdal, the 1927 figure being $65,476.84. The same increase next year would put the local office into another classification by the Postoffice Department, it was said by the postmaster, assuring further facilities and service for Inglewood. Total expenditures for the year were $79,387.89 and total first-class mail dispatched during the year was 370,623 pieces, as compared with only 262,801 for the same period two years ago.

BOND ISSUE TO BE ASKED AT ELECTION

Question of Obtaining Funds for Water Problem Put to Voters at San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 17.—The City Attorney's office is preparing for action of the Common Council next Monday a resolution authorizing the submission to the voters at the primary election March 19, next, of six separate propositions to be on one ballot and a single proposition on a separate ballot.

The six propositions pertain to charter amendments, while the single ballot is to contain a $2,750,000 bond issue project for water betterments, including the new Otay pipe line.

When the resolution comes before the Council Monday it is probable that there will be opposition to submitting the water-bonds issue in one lump, as Councilman E. H. Dowell is said to favor submitting the various water items as recommended by Engineer H. N. Savage in separate propositions. This would include $1,500,000 for the pipe line.

As recommended by City Attorney M. W. Conkling, the charter amendments will be submitted as follows:

(1.) Increase the bonded indebtedness by increasing the bonding margin for water development.

(2.) To enable the Council to employ outside counsel for water litigation or any other purpose.

(3.) Reserving pueblo lands from sale until 1940.

(4.) Increasing the limit to be paid for newspaper advertising.

(5.) Levying a special tax not exceeding 10 cents for harbor development.

(6.) Making changes in civil service rules and levying a special tax for support of the civil service department.

The separate ballot will contain only the proposition to issue $2,750,000 bonds for water development or such other propositions pertaining to water development as the Council may decide upon.

As now planned the six charter amendments may appear on the same ballot with the list of candidates for municipal offices to be voted at the primary. The bond issue, however, would be an entirely separate election with a separate ballot, according to the City Attorney.

Attorney Mix-up Gives $2000 to City of Ventura

VENTURA, Jan. 17.—The City of Ventura was $2000 richer this noon by a slight misunderstanding on the part of two asserted bootleggers as to how many attorneys they had and who they were. The pair in question are Fred Bardi and P. Genario. Arrested by Officers Joe Myres and Mel Abbott on Christmas eve as they were en route to Los Angeles. They were freed on $1000 bail each and were to appear this morning to plead on charges of possession of liquor.

When first arraigned the men were represented in court by Atty. Finley of this city.

Later a Los Angeles attorney came to Walter Fourt to pay the fines and was surprised to learn that the two men already had an attorney. In the confusion which resulted from the two attorneys trying to handle the same case, the men failed to put in an appearance this morning and were out $1000 each.

DASH FOR LIBERTY FAILS

Pasadena Bandit, Returned from Indio, Dives Window and Flees in Hail of Bullets

PASADENA, Jan. 17.—Escaping from the detective bureau this noon, Robert Bailey, confessed oil-station bandit, led officers on a wild chase during which many shots were fired. The bandit was overtaken at the Green Hotel, after one detective had been run down by a truck and another cut his own hand.

Bailey held up two oil stations Monday night. He was caught at Indio and returned here today. Ten minutes before his break he signed a confession to the two local holdups as well as the robbery of a Los Angeles service station. Bailey is 19 years of age, and said he owns an oil station at Chandler, Ariz. He was posed in the detective bureau to be photographed for a local newspaper. Instead of looking pleasant Bailey jumped through an open window.

Detective Lieutenant Thomas cut his hand breaking the window to shoot at the fugitive. Bailey ran through Union street, then an alley and along Raymond avenue to the hotel. There Detective Lieutenant Culver and Detective Bailey overtook him. They chased in a commandeered car, firing as they went. Detective Sergeant Cheek, pursuing on foot, ran in front of a truck, which broke one of his legs.

Bailey's arrest is reported to have resulted from the finding of a key ring in the police say he stole.

Net earnings of the Consolidated Hotels, Inc. for the eight months' period from May 1 to December 31, last, amounted to $112,901 after all charges, including depreciation, reserves, Federal taxes, etc., which, after deductions for preferred and common stock dividends, left a balance to surplus of $58,415, it was reported yesterday by the company.

The organization, which was established May 1, 1928, is now operating seventy-eight hotels and apartment-house properties, having approximately 7420 rooms. The company is capitalized with 50,000 shares of $1.50 no par value preferred and 350,000 shares of no par value common stock paying current dividends at the rate of 20 cents per annum. It is understood that application will be made shortly to list the stock on the Los Angeles Stock or Curb exchange.

Details of the increase in stock which is being made in connection with the purchase of a majority interest in the Eclipse Machine Company of Elmira, N. Y., were made public recently when governors of the Chicago Stock Exchange approved for listing an additional 50,000 shares of Bendix Corporation stock.

The Delaware corporation is the holding company for all the S. W. Straus & Co., subsidiaries.

The year's earnings are at the rate of $3.94 a share on the 1,000,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. Dividends are being paid at the rate of $2 a share per annum. Net annual earnings for the past six years have averaged $3,133,859, it was stated.

SHELL UNION ADDS TO MARKET LISTING

Shell Union Oil Corporation has been authorized to list 3,000,000 additional shares of no par value common stock on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, the board of governors of the exchange announced yesterday. This makes a total listing of 13,000,000 shares. The additional issue was occasioned by the recent offering of rights to stockholders to purchase additional shares in the ratio of three-tenths of one new share for each share held.

TRUSTS ENTER OIL GROUP

Newest Venture Believed to Have Sponsorship of Arthur W. Cutten and Fisher Brothers

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Considerable interest was manifest yesterday among stock traders and investors in the preliminary announcement of the $100,000,000 investment trust to specialize in oil shares. It was reported here that this is the trust that Arthur W. Cutten and the Fisher brothers of Detroit were planning late last year.

At that time it was understood that Mr. Cutten and the Fishers, together with associates, had been accumulating oil stocks for more than a year with the idea of offering the public an opportunity to participate in a diversified petroleum venture. The fact that the offering of the investment trust shares comes at this time should indicate the confidence of these experts in the immediate and long pull outlook for oils.

BULLISH ON OILS

From the other point of view, the assurance that the oil shares accumulated by this group will not be distributed in the open market for a time, at least, is a bullish argument on the oil market as a whole. It is true that the Cutten-Fisher group would be distributing its oil shares to the public in another form, but the investment trust shares come to the public as an investment proposition sponsored and managed by men thoroughly familiar with the oil industry and with the security markets.

Stocks accumulated by Cutten and the Fishers, as reported at various times, are supposed to include Sinclair Consolidated, Mexican Seaboard, Texas, most of the Standard Oil list, Richfield, and others.

This $100,000,000 oil investment company is the second of its kind organized in the last few days. Earlier in the week a leading investment house in New York specializing in Standard Oil shares announced the formation of a $10,000,000 company to own oil shares.

POSITION SHOWN

Another investment company, the United States and Foreign Securities Corporation, which deals in all types of securities, shows in its annual report a fairly strong position in oils, but not comparable with the investments in other industries. This company owned as of December 31, last, a total of 20,000 shares Amerada Corporation, 3000 Gulf Oil Corporation, 5000 Standard Oil of New Jersey and 5000 Texas Corporation. Compared with the previous year, the 1928 position showed a decrease of 10,000 shares in the holdings of Amerada, and the complete liquidation of 7800 shares of Union Oil of California. The purchase of the Standard of New Jersey was the only addition to the oil list in 1928.

Several interesting possibilities of benefit to the petroleum industry may be discovered in the organization of the companies to own oil shares exclusively. They represent a potential force of unquestioned importance in working for the stabilization of the industry and for any measures calculated to improve the situation of stockholders.

SUCCESSOR TO DURANT ANNOUNCED

Motor Company Elects F. H. Haynes, Formerly Dodge Board Head

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—Election of F. J. Haynes, former president and chairman of the board of Dodge Brothers, as president of Durant Motors, Inc., was announced today.

Haynes succeeds W. C. Durant, who recently announced that he was relinquishing the management of the corporation. The new president was elected at a meeting of the Durant board of directors at which Ralph A. Vail, former director of engineering and production of Dodge Brothers, was named vice-president in charge of engineering and production, and John A. Nichols, Jr., former vice-president in charge of sales of Dodge Brothers, was named secretary-treasurer.

The new group will assume full management of the company immediately, bringing back under one fold the principals chosen originally by the late John F. and Horace E. Dodge to direct the formation and development of Dodge Brothers.

The revised board of directors includes: W. C. Durant, F. J. Haynes, Roy D. Kerby, A. H. Henniger, Ralph A. Vell, John A. Nichols, Jr., R. T. Hodgkins and George Harrison Phelps. Durant had previously announced the appointment of Hodgkins as general sales manager.

Shipping Board Sells Nine Ships to Operators

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—The Shipping Board today sold nine freight ships to various operating companies for a total of $320,198. Bids on the vessels were opened by the board last Monday.

The Charles S. McCormick Lumber Company of San Francisco was the successful bidder for the freighter Hutchinson for $45,000. The Shipping Board today sold ber and general merchandise trade on the Pacific Coast.

Two ships, the Minooka and the Houston, went to the Gulf Pacific Line for $25,100 each. The purchaser agreed to improve the vessels at a cost of $35,000 each and will operate them between New Orleans and Pacific Coast ports.

Standard Oil Cuts Price on Heavy Crude

Reductions in the price of heavy crude oil ranging from 25 cents a barrel in the San Joaquin Valley to 15 cents a barrel in Southern California were announced yesterday by the Standard Oil Company of California. The new prices are effective today.

The announcement states: "Standard Oil Company of California announces a reduction in the prices it offers for the various grades of heavy crude oil at the wells in California fields. The base price for 14 deg. gravity is reduced to 50 cents a barrel in the San Joaquin Valley, and 70 cents a barrel in the Southern California fields. Refinable crudes of 24 deg. gravity and above are not affected. Prices are effective January 18."

Previously the base price in the San Joaquin Valley, except for the Kern River field, was 75 cents a barrel, and 85 cents a barrel in Southern California. This schedule affected crude ranging from 14 to 20 deg. gravity. The new schedule, however, goes further and includes oil up to and including 23 deg. gravity. Between 20 and 24 deg. gravity the prices heretofore have increased from 2 to 3 cents for each higher gravity in the San Joaquin, and 4 cents in Southern California. Presumably these prices are reduced 25 cents in the San Joaquin and 15 cents in Southern California under the new schedule.

Artificial silk and textile issues were easier while talking machine and mining shares were quiet. The oil list had a heavy tone while rubbers moved irregularly.

The gilt-edged division had a steady tone. Foreign issues maintained a good tone. Home rails were easier and Argentine rails quiet. There was a good demand for Brazilian bonds.

REPARATIONS GROUP NOTED

Foremost Economists and Bankers Chosen to Take Part in Conference on German Debts

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Officially and technically the selection of all representatives on the new commission which will meet soon in Paris in an attempt to fix the amount of German reparations, is made by the representatives of the six nations—France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Japan and Germany—who compose the so-called reparations commission. The American representatives are selected by the same group.

From these six nations twelve world-famous bankers and business men have already been chosen. The American members are the last to be appointed.

France has selected the governor of the Bank of France, Emile Moreay, a shrewd, far-seeing, able student of money and credit, and a clever banking strategist. Jean Parmentier, second member from France, was a member of the Dawes commission, and is now governor of the Credit Foncier.

Italy is represented by Alberto Pirelli, one-time member of the Dawes commission, and well known in America and Europe as the president of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Belgium sends Emile Francqui, likewise a former Dawes commission member, and M. Gutt, who had wide experience as a former member of the reparations commission.

Japan is represented by Kengo Mori, well-known student of international trade, and former agent of the Japanese government in London, Paris and Washington, and by Takashi Acki, subgovernor of the Bank of Japan.

Great Britain has a strong delegation, being represented by Sir Joshua Stamp, distinguished economist and business man, and former member of the Dawes commission, and by Lord Revelstoke, director of the Bank of England and member of the powerful banking firm of Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd.

Germany is represented by Dr. Albert Voegler, business executive and director of the United Steel Works, and the other German representative is Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the exceptionally capable president of the Reichsbank.

If the fourteen men succeed, the German reparations bill will be settled candidly and frankly. It is one of the most momentous and far-reaching business problems ever presented to such a small group for solution.

From this distance it would seem as if the most powerful members are Sir Joshua Stamp, who had more to do with the writing of the Dawes report than any other member of the commission; Dr. Schacht, one of the sanest and strongest of international bankers; and Owen

EASE IN MONEY SPURS TRADING

Call Rate Drop to 6 Per Cent Starts Upturn

Metal Group Points Higher; Rails Improve

Radio Features by 18-Point Price Advance

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—The stock market showed the most pronounced strength of the week today, as a moderate ease in the call money market prompted short covering and restored bullish confidence.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent but was reduced to 6 per cent as funds were attracted by the high rates of the past few days. Bankers, however, failed to see any substantial improvement in the credit outlook and regarded the 6 per cent rate as merely temporary. This attitude was borne out by persistent firmness of time money.

There had been but little thought of an increase in the New York Federal reserve rediscount rate this week and what uncertainty was still felt on this point was largely dispated in the morning by the Bank of England report, showing no change in its rate, and a sharp improvement in its reserve ratio. In fact, the British bank's position was so improved that Wall street no

A 10% Yield

From A Sound Utility Stock

IN comparison with the 6% to 7% return carried by the majority of public utility stock at this time, the liberal 10% income in stock offered by Associated Gas & Electric Company Class "A" stock, appears decidedly out of line—particularly in view of the dependability of the investment and the size and strength of the system.

When you investigate the remarkable record of growth and success of this great national system of public utility properties, one of the oldest and largest in the entire United States, you begin to appreciate the size of the system. You find that the first property is over 76 years old; that the Company has over 620,000 customers, or more than the entire electric light and power industry in 1902. You learn that more than 1000 thriving communities, covering the entire range of industry, agriculture manufacturing, mining and residential areas, are now being served by this important system in 14 states.

As specialists in public utility securities, we, ourselves, have made a careful investigation of Associated Gas & Electric Company Class "A" Stock, and our analysis has convinced us that the stock is selling decidedly out-of-line. At the holder's option, he may receive priority dividends in cash of $2.00 per share per annum, or in stock at the rate of 1-10 of a share per year or 10% on the present market.

We believe this issue presents an outstanding investment opportunity and every forward-looking investor should send for an interesting illustrated 12-page booklet. Use coupon below.

STEEL DEMAND QUICKENS PACE

Buying Reported at Highest January Level

Orders Heavy for All Lines of Production

Outlook for Second Quarter Held Bright

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Iron Trade Review this week says expanding requirements for railroad equipment, automobiles, pipe lines and structural projects appear to be carrying finished steel demand to a new high level for January.

The sequel is higher—in some cases record—mill operations. With 4432 freight and passenger cars distributed this week, January orders rose to 8332, requiring about 85,000 tons of plates. In all December only 6799 cars were placed, and last January 4160. Live current inquiry totals 2615 cars.

DEMAND HIGHER

Steel specifications of most automotive manufacturers show an abrupt increase over last month, taxing the delivery facilities of producers. Never has sheet mill operation in the Youngstown district been heavier. Soft steel and alloy bar releases have individually reached 6000 tons.

For a line for the Pacific Gas and Electric, a Milwaukee maker of welded-steel pipe has booked 44,000 tons. The Prairie Pipe Line Company has placed with two mills the 32,000 tons for its pipe line from Oklahoma to Indiana. An export order totaling 7000 tons has been distributed among eastern makers.

Structural awards of the past week include 10,000 tons for a warehouse in Philadelphia, 5515 tons for a bank building in Minneapolis and 4700 tons for a bridge at Pittsburgh. New inquiry lists 25,000 tons for the Carquinez Straits bridge for the Southern Pacific Railroad at San Francisco, on which bids close February 16, and 14,000 tons for two additional subway sections in New York.

PRODUCTION UP

Not only has this vigorous demand stepped up steel production immediately, but it also promises to carry the mills well into second quarter at a high rate. Production of track material is about on a parity with a year ago. Further requirements for such outstanding consuming outlets as the automotive, freight car and fabricating industries are, on the whole, greater than a year ago. Current operations approximate 87 to 88 per cent, nearly 10 points in excess of a year ago when the industry was on the eve of the upturn which led to an ingot record in April.

The Youngstown district leads with 123 out of 127 independent sheet mills active, a rate which is equal to practical capacity. Steel corporation subsidiaries, contrary to the trend of independents, have reduced operations to 85 per cent.

An unchanged market in fourteen leading iron and steel products holds the Iron Trade Review composite index at $36.23. This is almost identical with the $36.22 of a month ago and an increase over the $35.27 of a year ago.

Local Tourist Influx Brings Labor Surplus

Due to the large influx of tourists and others who seek employment, there was a surplus of labor in all trades and especially unskilled workers during December in the Los Angeles district, which includes Long Beach, Santa Monica, Torrance, Pasadena and Riverside, according to the report issued yesterday by the Pacific Coast office of the United States Department of Labor.

Despite the surplus, practically all plants were in operation excepting fruit canneries. Oil-tool manufacturers operated at capacity. Some of the pump shops, agricultural machinery and brick manufacturing plants worked on a reduced schedule. The new tire plant recently completed expects to employ 2000 workers, when capacity is reached. One aircraft company has enlarged its plant and another is just starting operations while several other manufacturing companies have started to erect new units.

A larger force is at work on the construction of the new General Hospital. Municipal improvement work continued on a large scale and many city, county and State projects are about to be started. Harvesting the winter vegetable crop employed some workers while orange picking and packing were in progress in Riverside county, with more than sufficient help available.

Midwest Trade Shift Forecast

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Despite the competition made possible by the Panama Canal the Middle West region is about to enter the Pacific Coast markets in a large way, it was stated yesterday by Frank P. Winans, investment banker. He spoke at a luncheon at which he was installed as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"The establishing of joint rail and ocean rates, initiated through the leadership of the Illinois Central Railroad system, has put many Chicago shippers back in California markets," said Mr. Winans. He said that the reawakening of Chicago's business interests to the possibility of obtaining a larger share of the Pacific Coast trade had caused jealousy of the Middle West on the part of the East.

GAIN IN TRADE PAPER FORECAST

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (Exclusive) Consensus of opinion among leading dealers in commercial paper and among banks which are large buyers points to an increase of $100,000,000 in the volume outstanding within the next three or four weeks. This increase is said to be seasonal and quite normal and not caused by a reduction in acceptance business in favor of commercial paper. Both classes of credits at present stand very near to a parity.

Commercial paper outstanding now is estimated to total about $400,000,000 and the increase in sight would bring the total to $500,000,000. Bankers' bills are believed to be outstanding to a total of about $1,300,000,000.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Most of the gains registered on the San Francisco stock market this morning were wiped out before the close today.

The drop was in part due to the fact that brokers' loans were up some $71,000,000. The credit situation was otherwise a distinct improvement over the previous day, money dropping 2 per cent.

Of the ground-gainers of Wednesday, Atlas Diesel was steady at 64, after touching 64½. John Bean was off ½ at 49. Standard Oil of California reached 70¾, but closed at 70¼, the same as yesterday. Kolster Radio started at 73, slumped to 71¼, improved to 72⅛ and closed at 71½, off 1½.

Magnavox opened at 9⅞, advanced to 10⅜, softened to 9⅝ and recovered to close at the opening figure. Sperry Flour was up ⅛ at 98.

Caterpillar eased from 78¾ to 76 and the rights from 2.60 to 2.35. Lower levels were shown in Crown Zellerbach at 23¼, Golden State Milk at 56, Byron Jackson at 82½ and Pacific Lighting at 71⅛.

Galland Laundry was up 1¼ at 54 and Fireman's Fund higher by 1 at 131. Oliver "B" and Pacific Motors were up fractionally at 40 and 45. Clorox was steady at 49. Paraffine netted 84⅛ and Oliver "A" 42.

With the exception of Standard, the oils were comparatively inactive. Shell Union at 28⅛, Union Associates at 48⅝, Union Oil at 49¼ and North American Oil at 36⅛ were firm. Richfield featured by rising from 45⅝ to 45¾, netting ⅛.

In the banking group, Trans-America opened at 130¼, dipped to 129⅞ and closed at 130. The American Company was even at 140. Bank of California brought 300 and West Coast Bancorporation 200¼.

Total: Bonds, $6000; stocks, 47,405 shares of $2,025,468 market value.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (AP)—The cotton market was quiet with prices declining from an opening advance under liquidation and some local or southern selling, promoted by indifferent showing of Liverpool and failure of favorable reports from the spot and goods markets to stimulate general buying. Prices were a few points up from the lowest around 2 o'clock but showed net losses of about 7 to 11 points on the active positions.

CEMENT

A Vital Factor in the Growth of America

THE UNITED STATES is by far the largest producer and consumer of cement in the world. An annual production of less than a million barrels in 1895 has grown to over 173,000,000 barrels in 1927. The total investment in the 150 principal plants exceeds $600,000,000. With a multitude of uses in city and country alike, few commodities are more important to the upbuilding of America.

California leads the States of the Union in per capita consumption. Since 1914, this consumption has been approximately twice that of the United States as a whole and in 1928, amounted to nearly 12 sacks per person.

With an annual production capacity of 1,600,000 barrels, Monolith Portland Cement Company ranks as one of the leading units of this great industry in California. Its success is indicated by the earnings which for the past five years have averaged 6.65 times maximum interest requirements on its first mortgage bonds to be outstanding. We offer

A Current Opportunity in

Los Angeles Building Bonds

Netting the Investor 6.50%

The retirement by call of many 6½% Los Angeles building bonds and their refinancing in the East on a 6% and sometimes 5½% basis, has resulted in a growing scarcity of 6½% issues.

We believe now is the time for far-sighted investors to accumulate sound 6½% building bonds, and suggest one of our current offerings which constitutes a closed first mortgage on a recently completed 12-story structure in downtown Los Angeles, located on property owned in fee just three blocks from Seventh and Broadway Streets.

Annual rentals from space already under contract are sufficient to cover bond interest, taxes and operating expenses. Application has been made to certify this issue as a legal investment for California Savings Banks.

Further particulars regarding this high-grade investment opportunity will be mailed on request.

D. Young, member of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, one of the most vigorous big business and banking executives of the present generation.

Consider three States—Montana, Arizona and New Mexico—all interested in agriculture and cattle, in addition to mining. The mining output in all of these States is increasing. C. N. Gerry, United States Bureau of Mines, says Montana's mining output in gold, silver, lead and zinc for 1928 was $56,055,000, an increase of more than $6,000,000 over the preceding year.

Arizona did better in total value. Its output amounted to $116,462,000, an increase of $18,000,000 over the preceding year. It mines gold, silver, copper and lead.

New Mexico, while much behind in the value of its present ore production, claims a mining output of $18,834,000, an increase of $3,100,000, or 20 per cent better than its record of 1927.

Corn Futures Lead Advance on Grain Mart

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Sensational reports of damage to the new Argentina corn crop with late cables reporting hot winds in that country, swept futures here up sharply with all deliveries at a new high for the season. The close was within a fraction of the top with net gains of ¾@1¾c with March leading. The latter finished at 97½ and May at 1.00¾@1.00½. Wheat showed considerable activity within a range of 1@1¼c and closed ¼@½c higher with March 1.20 and May 1.23⅜@1.23½. March and May oats were in new ground for the season with March ⅝c higher at the close at 51c and May ⅝c higher at 51¼c. Rye was ⅞c higher to ⅝c lower with March 1.08¾ and May 1.08.

May corn sold up to 1.00¾ early as the result of general commission house buying, only to react 1¾c from the top on heavy selling headed by some of the strongest houses in the trade that have recently been on the buying side, but they reversed their position under $1 and absorbed the surplus in the pit and the loss was regained. Argentine news was decidedly in favor of buyers. A private cable estimated the exportable surplus at 135,000,000 bushels, or nearly 100,000,000 bushels less than the previous season. Other cables indicated that rains would be too late to remedy the damage that has already occurred in the province of Santa Fe which raised about one-third of the total crop of that country last year. Buenos Aires closed 1¾@2¼c higher, the former on May which finished at 89¾ and Rosario was 1⅝c higher with May 87½.

Export demand for corn at the seaboard was lacking with foreigners cancelling grain bought some time ago at a handsome profit. Spot corn in Liverpool was 1¾@2¼c per bushel higher with American quoted 1.23¾ and Argentine at 1.25¾. Country offerings of corn to arrive were very small considering the upturn in prices with purchases of 70,000 bushels estimated. Outside markets outbid Chicago ¼@1¼c per bushel down State. In parts of Illinois it is estimated that fully half of the surplus grain has already been marketed.

The wheat market is coming in for more attention and some of the leading houses claim that the outside speculative interest in grain is increasing by leaps and bounds. The undertone was firm despite a lack of aggressive foreign demand for cash grain. Action of corn had considerable influence. There was selling of wheat against purchases of corn by a leading local operator who was said to be closing spreads and Winnipeg wheat showed a firm undertone and closed ¼@¾c higher with Buenos Aires May up ⅛c for the day at 1⅝c. Liverpool was ⅛d higher.

There were further rumors that Russia had bought Canadian flour of late and one of the largest cargoes that has ever left port is understood to be now loading at Vancouver for shipment to Takuvar, a port on the China sea. Confirmation, however, is still lacking regarding Russian purchases. There has been an immense movement of wheat to non-European countries so far this season with shipments exceeding 90,000,000 bushels against 56,500,000 bushels in 1927-28. Italy was in the market for round lots of durum wheat but no sales were reported. Weather conditions over the winter wheat belt were decidedly unfavorable and fields over a wide area are covered with ice and smothering is feared. Southwestern houses expressed favorable views regarding the purchase of the July delivery which represents the new crop.

Strength in corn was largely responsible for an upturn in oats. Longs sold on the advance. Commission houses were good buyers of rye.

Buying of lard was of fair volume and readily satisfied by hedging sales by packers. Prices are at a reasonable level and daily price fluctuations are within narrow limits. At the close prices were at the inside with net losses of 2⅛@3c, the latter on January. Bellies were given fair attention and closed 8 to 12½c higher, the latter on May, while ribs were unchanged.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Oil Stocks Strengthen While Volume of Trading Slackens in Local Market

Rio Grande Oil easily overshadowed all other trading activities yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchanges, advancing ⅝ to 35⅞ to lead the way for a fractional improvement throughout the oil section of the market. General trading operations, however, dropped to an unusually low ebb continuing to reflect uneasiness and a stand-off attitude on the part of the speculative public. The market, aside from the oil list closed spotty.

Practically all of the major oil stocks manifested a firmer tone. Barnsdall, easing 1-4 to 43 1-4, was the exception. Richfield advanced 1-2 to 45 1-2. Signal rallied a point to 40, while Standard of California held to 70. Union of California firmed up 1-8 to 49 1-4 and Union Associates 1-4 to 48 1-2. Rights to the latter stock dropped off 2 1-2 cents to 1.35, while rights to the former held steady at 1.45. Pacific Western moved up 1-4 to 22 1-4.

Lower-priced oil shares were particularly mixed. Occidental slumped 50 cents to 2.90 and Mt. Diablo 35 cents to 2.25. Republic Petroleum lost 2 cents to 68. Bolsa Chica, however, spurted 40 cents to 3.40 and Buckeye rallied 10 cents to ◆1.50. United States Royalties advanced 1 cent to .17.

Douglas Aircraft, called for the first time, held steady throughout the day to 28 1-8 on a transfer of 1325 shares. Hydraulic Brake regained a point to 44 and Pacific Clay Products 1-2 to 35 1-2. Pacific Finance, slowing up perceptibly from the rapid trading pace of recent sessions, fell off 1 point to 99. Pacific National Company lost 1-2 to 38 and Piggly Wiggly Western States 3-4 to 29.

Transamerica Corporation strengthened 3-4 to 130 1-8, while Farmers' and Merchants' and Los Angeles-First National held firm to 460 and 122, respectively. California Bank slumped 1 1-2 points to 126 1-2. Merchants' National moved up 2 points to 252.

EASE IN MONEY SPURS TRADING

longer expects a higher rate in New York to be preceded by an increase at London.

Traders were less concerned over the total of brokers' loans, to be announced after the close, as no important change was looked for in either direction.

LOANS NEAR HIGH

The reserve compilation, announced after the close, showed the unexpectedly large increase of $71,000,000, bringing the total up to $5,384,000,000, or within about $10,000,000 of the high total for all time, reported on December 5. While the New York banks reduced their loans on security collateral approximately $90,000,000, the out-of-town banks, corporations and others placed more than $160,000,000 into the market.

The Federal Reserve Bank delivered an unexpected blow to somewhat brighter attitude taken toward the credit situation, announcing earmarkings of $20,000,000 in gold, against imports of slightly more than $5,000,000. With sterling ranging about the incoming gold point, there had been some expectation of renewal of the gold movement from England, but continued earmarkings are regarded as indicating that the reserve bank will not increase its holdings of the yellow metal.

LEAD ISSUE UP

There was little in the day's business news to affect the market. Metal shares generally moved forward. United States Steel touched 173 3-8, the highest price since the 40 per cent stock dividend two years ago. St. Joseph Lead was again heavily bought, mounting nearly 11 points to a new high, reflecting its excellent earnings last year. Chile was the favorite of the generally stronger coppers, mounting about 8 points, as reports that Anaconda would make an exchange offer to minority stockholders were revived.

Rails generally improved. New York Central moving up 5 points to 194 as favorable action on its petition to lease its large controlled lines was freely forecast. Motors made fair progress, Packard gaining more than 5 points, and merchandising shares generally rallied, Sears Roebuck gaining about 5 points. In the utilities, People's Gas made a 3-point advance on formation of the new Insull Holding Company.

RADIO SOARS

Radio was a high flyer, surging up nearly 18 points, but losing about 5 points of its gain later. Electric Auto Lite shot up more than 11 points to a new top, and by-products coke climbed 9.

Otis Elevator fell back 10 points on profit-taking, and Mathieson Alkali lost nearly 4 on denial of reports that Du Pont was negotiating to acquire it. Allied Chemical yielded 3 points to realizing.

The commodity markets were generally steady. Corn improved on further reports of unfavorable weather in Argentina, and wheat was firm. Cotton made some headway during the session, but encountered profit-taking toward the close.

The foreign exchanges maintained a firm tone. Sterling ruling slightly higher during most of the day. Francs were higher, presumably reflecting the increased gold holdings of the Bank of France.

SUNNYSIDE MINING GETS STOCK PERMIT

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Trading fell off today in another spiritless session on the New York Bond Market, with prices showing a mixed trend. Convertible issues made the most substantial gains. This light trading was partly attributed to uneasiness over brokers' loan figures. The drop in call money to 6 per cent had no effect on the bond market. Total sales were $10,691,000, more than $300,000 below yesterday's dealings.

Anaconda Copper 7s gained nearly 6 points and established a new high record at 108. Chile Copper 5s, however, sold fractionally lower in the face of a sharp rise in the stock. The company is controlled by Anaconda. United States Steel sinking fund 5s also ignored the advance of the stock and sold down fractionally. United States Rubber 5s and Goodyear Tire 5s were higher on a revival of reports the two companies would be merged by the Du Pont interests. Among the industrials to show declines were certain-teed 5½s, General Motors acceptance 6s, Lehigh Valley Coal and Western Electric 5s.

Rails were mixed, with Iowa Central first 5s and first 5s certificates soaring more than 10 points. St. Paul 5s and adjustment 5s were fractionally higher.

Utilities were irregular, with Public Service of New Jersey 4½s and International Telephone convertible 4½s fractionally lower on a heavy turnover. Weakness was displayed by Pacific Gas and Electric 5s, New York Telephone refunding 4½s and Philadelphia Company Gold 5s. Pacific Telephone refunding 5s were stronger.

Oils were generally higher, with fractional gains by Barnsdall 6s with warrants, Humble Oil 5s, Shell Pipe Line 5s and Sinclair 6s D.

The foreign list displayed an irregular tone.

United States government issues improved irregularly.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

...ducer of clean oil that has been brought in from the deep zones of the field. It is known as the No. 225 well.

This well went on production early yesterday and in the first sixteen hours it produced 5916 barrels of oil testing 34.3 deg gravity, with a cut of only two-tenths of 1 per cent. Casing was set at 5632 feet and it was completed at 5800 feet.

The No. 225 well is more than half a mile east and south of the principal Buckbee zone production. Coupled with the recent completions of the two Oscar Howard wells by the Richfield Oil Company, also in the southeastern portion of the field, the new development is said to indicate to geologists a wide and flat anticlinal structure for the Buckbee zone. Since completions to the southeast continue to develop bigger wells, geologists are beginning to wonder where the apex of the structure is.

Other Developments

Other developments indicating the southeast trend of the structure include the picking up of the Buckbee sand in two other wells. The Buckbee Union Oil Company picked up the surface of the sand several days ago, but encountered considerable water and strata of water formations in the first fifty feet. This well is almost due south of the new G. P. well.

Yesterday the Plymouth Oil Company picked up an oil sand in its well on the Roberts lease, due southeast of the G. P. well, at a depth of 5680 feet, which is only slightly lower than the Buckbee sand in the other wells, and at about the depth predicted for it by the company's geologists. This well is being drilled slowly and every foot is being cored.

New Lawndale Locations

Four new locations were approved in the Lawndale field yesterday and derricks will be started on them at once, making thirty-eight new rigs going up or wells drilling in California's newest oil field. All but one of these have been started within the past two weeks.

The Western Oil & Refining Company, which obtained nine locations and started one well earlier in the week, leased a location at the northwest corner of Inglewood Boulevard and Dale avenue and will drill a well there, offsetting the Richfield Oil Company's Paul Howard No. 1.

The Hancock Oil Company has taken a location on Inglewood Boulevard between Lawn and Rosecrans avenues and is preparing to drill at once. Other rigs started are by the Shell Oil Company on the Peck tract and by Leonard & Restopole.

Summary of Field

Daily production at Santa Fe Springs is up to 143,000 barrels from the deep zones, produced by fifty-one wells, according to a summary of field reports. These figures include the four recent completions by the General Petroleum Corporation for a total of 17,000 barrels a day. There were sixteen new completions during the week just ended and three new locations were authorized during that time.

Well is Cemented

The Luton-Bell No. 5 of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination at Elwood has been cemented at a depth of 3149 feet, with the bottom of the hole 3161 feet. This well has been drilled in slightly more than three weeks and the operators expect to make a production test in it next Monday. As soon as it is completed the equipment will be moved to the location for the Luton-Bell No. 4.

The combination's Doty No. 3 is being rigged up with the equipment used on the recently completed Doty No. 2, and it will be spudded in by the end of this week.

Interesting Test

Completion of the General Petroleum Corporation's big producer in the southeast part of the Santa Fe Springs field will stimulate interest in a test being made on an adjoining tract by the Bandini Petroleum Company. This company is coring its No. 8 well at 5860 feet. It is only 500 feet northwest from the big well.

Bandini is deepening its No. 7 to the Buckbee sand after failing to get a water shutoff in the Nordstrom zone. This well is only a short distance north of the producer. The Bandini No. 9, Bandini No. 10 and Bandini No. 11, all on the same tract, will be drilled to the Buckbee zone.

Italo Operations

Eight wells are being drilled by the Italo Petroleum Corporation in the Signal Hill and Santa Fe Springs fields. The Archer No 1 at Santa Fe Springs is drilling at 4120 feet. Archer No. 2 is coring at 4110 feet, Brunson No. 3 is coring at 4245 feet, Brunson No. 2 is drilling at 4132 feet and Brunson No. 1 is standing at 3994 feet. Some of these wells are near the General Petroleum Corporation's new producer.

At Signal Hill the company's Italo-McCrate No. 2 is reaming at 5384 feet and is expected by the operators to be the first of the company's wells to be completed there. The Italo-Elhs No. 1 is running in four-inch drill pipe at 6001 feet. The Italo-Kading No 3 is down 6016 feet and drilling ahead.

New Well Wet

The McKeon Drilling Company's York & Lockhart No. 2 at Santa Fe Springs, which was completed two days ago at a depth of 5298 feet, tested wet and has been killed to deepen to the Buckbee sand. The well came in with a flow of about 2700 barrels of fluid with a 60 per cent water cut. It was one of the shallowest completions in the deeper zones.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 17. (Exclusive)—Crude rubber futures moved in erratic fashion today in an active session. Opening with declines of 30 and 50 points despite an improved London market, values reacted suddenly upward to levels unchanged to 20 points higher, but in a short while reverted to the initial figures. At the close nine active deliveries were 30 to 60 points below previous finals.

Volume of business was good, especially in the first two hours, when rather heavy profit-taking sales were made on the rises with good absorption by commission houses and dealers. Sales for the day were 1599 contracts, or 3997½ long tons.

The outside market held steady, with a good volume of business reported and while a bit easier at the close spot prize remained unchanged at 20¾c. London market closed firm at 10⅛d.

LIVES IN POVERTY

One of the tragic figures of post-war Vienna is Archduchess Maria Theresa of Austria, Princess of Braganza and step-grandmother of the late Emperor Karl of Austria.

The once famed beauty, whose witticisms won her the name of the "merry and unconventional princess," has given up her title and property in order to obtain permission to live in Vienna. Living on the top floor of her former palace, which now is occupied by the French legation, she is barely able to exist on her slender income.

Archduchess Maria Theresa, who is 78 years of age, has experienced a succession of tragedies. Her relative, Archduke Maximilian, last emperor of Mexico, was shot by Mexican rebels. Her stepson, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, and his wife were assassinated in Serajevo. Her step-grandson, the late Kaiser Karl of Austria, died in exile in Spain.

The members of the former imperial family of Austria are scattered over the world and the old Archduchess, with the Archduchess Marie Valeria, only daughter of the late Emperor Francis Joseph, are the only members of the Hapsburgs who are allowed to live in Austria.

Who's Skeered?

Mr. Einstein decides that his new theory will shock the world. But if it is anything like his old one it won't. Nobody will know enough about it to become alarmed.—[Macon Telegraph.

Alma Rubens

DELAY AGAIN MARKS TRIAL OF ACTRESS

Process Servers Ordered to Locate Two Witnesses in Alma Rubens Action

Failure of two witnesses to appear in the case of Alma Rubens, film actress, charged with disturbing the peace, caused another postponement in the court of Judge Northrup yesterday. The missing witnesses are Mr. and Mrs. Finis Fox, neighbors to Miss Rubens in the apartment court at 1473 North Havenhurst avenue.

The charges against Miss Rubens were preferred by the landlord of the apartment, Mrs. Elizabeth Uhl. She was supported by other tenants who included Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Rita Carewe and her husband, Leroy Mason. Miss Rubens is asserted to have annoyed tenants during a party on December 29, 1928.

When the case was called yesterday it was the third time it had been on the calendar.

Miss Carewe and her husband were present yesterday as was Mrs. Uhl. Judge Northrup ordered process servers to locate Mr. and Mrs. Fox and have them in court on February 5 at 10 a.m.

HEADLIGHTS BLAMED FOR TWO DEATHS

Japanese Killed by Auto on Road and Small Boy Dies in Skid Crash

Two persons were killed in automobile accidents in Los Angeles county during the last twenty-four hours, according to reports on file at the Sheriff's office. Both accidents are attributed to the glare of headlights.

S. Yoshikawa, Japanese, of La Mirada, was run down and killed at La Mirada station near Artesia by an automobile driven by C. A. McKinney of Orange. McKinney told officers that the glare of headlights on an approaching automobile shining on a wet spot on the pavement blinded him so that he could not see Yoshikawa until too late to avoid hitting him.

Five-year-old Robert Bowes of Riverside was killed and his father hurt seriously when an automobile in which they were riding skidded into a telegraph pole near Puente on Valley Boulevard. J. A. Ortega, driver of the car, blamed the accident upon the blinding glare of another car's headlights.

PAVING PETITION GRANTED

In accordance with a report of its Public Works Committee, the City Council yesterday granted the majority petition for the paving of Burbank avenue between Sepulveda and Ventura boulevards.

HAYS SEES NEED OF SILENT FILM

Screen World's Czar Speaks at Business Meeting

He Tells Producers to Make Epics as in Past

Talking Pictures Only Not Wise Now, He Says

In spite of the revolutionary changes made in the industry by talking pictures, producers in Hollywood are not going to forget entirely the silent drama but will give to the screen world several lavish productions each year, according to announcement made last evening by Will H. Hays, the film czar.

A proposal to this effect was one of the first made by Hays at a meeting yesterday of the board of directors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, of which he is president. And, according to reports, his statement received the support of those present. The meeting also was an informal house-warming for the new quarters of the producers at 8504 Hollywood Boulevard.

GREAT EPICS URGED

While for the most part the session of the directors was given over to important business discussions, the suggestion that the silent drama not be entirely forgotten proved of vital interest. Hays suggested that the producers turn out every year lavish silent productions featuring masses, big casts, huge sets and other features of elaborate photoplays. These pictures, he pointed out, should be made on scales similar to those of "The Big Parade," "The Covered Wagon," "King of Kings," and others.

"With the advent of sound pictures and the realization of their great supplemental entertainment value, and the educational value of sound films, the industry is not unmindful of the importance of the picture itself and of the immeasurable value of the epic pictures made in this country which have marked as milestones the progress of the art," he said.

"These epic pictures must and will continue to be made and will be yet more magnificent, using still further the value of the new sound possibilities to increase their quality and magnitude."

CENSORS DISCUSSED

At yesterday's meeting censorship was also gone into. Hays had this to say:

"Coincident with the realization that the motion-picture industry must resist the attempt in some places to censor speech from the screen is the renewed determination on the part of the industry to make certain that its pictures are of such quality that no reasonable person can claim any need for censorship. This attitude, which the industry must take is not only for itself, but in the defense of the whole right of free speech. The particular part which the studio has in this effort is the most important job of all and that is care as to the quality of productions.

CONFIDENCE GAINED

"We are attaining public confidence in this regard and the American people soon will see that the progress is not retarded further by the misguided attempt on the part of some actually to censor speech. Back of it all, however, and more important than any other element is the faithful execution by the studios of the purpose and promise to make the quality of their pictures right in this regard. That duty will be discharged."

The members present at yesterday's session were Cecil B. De Mille, Jack L. Warner, Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg, J. B. Smith, Robert Welsh, Jack Gain, E. H. Allen, Jack White, Mike Levee, Samuel Goldwyn, George Cohen, Sol Wurtzel, Al Kaufman, Jesse L. Lasky, A. J. Ball and Jason Joy, directors, respectively, of the producers' technical bureau and industrial relations division; Fred W. Beetson, executive vice-president; T. L. Herron, treasurer, and Maurice McKenzie, assistant to Hays.

SUNSHINE FORECAST FOR TODAY

Los Angeles Rain Gauged at .35 of an Inch, Bringing Total to Near Normal

Fair weather was promised for today by Col. H. B. Hersey in charge of the local office of the United States Weather Bureau. Final readings of the rain gauges showed that Los Angeles received .35 of an inch of rain, making the season's total 5.01 inches. The total at this time last year was 5.76 inches. The normal total at this time is 6.06 inches.

Along with the fair weather, a technical designation that permits a few clouds to float around in the heavens without professional embarrassment to the forecaster, moderate temperatures are looked for. Mountain peaks around Los Angeles were covered with snow from three to six inches deep. The top of Mt. San Antonio, or Baldy, is under a heavy blanket of snow. Barring a sudden rise in temperature even some of the lower peaks are expected to have snow on them for week-end visitors.

Following is the rainfall in inches, reported from various Southern California points up to 6 p.m. yesterday:

J. D. CONNELL LAID TO REST

Last Rites Conducted for Pioneer Who Had Taken Part in Stirring Days of Wildest West

Funeral services for J. D. Connell, 91-year-old mining engineer and hotel man, who followed the development of the West through several States, were conducted yesterday from the Little Church of the Flowers, at Forest Lawn Cemetery. Interment, under direction of the Ivy Overholtzer Company, followed in Forest Lawn.

Mr. Connell first came to Los Angeles with Johnson's brigade, stayed here a short time and then followed reports that rich strikes were being made in Nevada mines. He worked the mines there, then traveled to Montana and finally settled in Denver in 1858.

The present site of Denver was planned by Mr. Connell. He built the third house there. He remained in Denver until his pioneer spirit caused him to move on to the Black Hills in South Dakota in 1877. This was during the time that many notorious outlaws roamed the Black Hills, and the hotel which Mr. Connell established in Deadwood, the Wentworth House, often was visited by the historical characters of the plains.

Fourteen years after Mr. Connell established the Wentworth House he returned to California, first settling in San Diego and then in Los Angeles. He opened the old Hamilton Hotel on the site where the Biltmore now stands. The Palms Hotel also was built by Mr. Connell, on Broadway, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

The pioneer had been retired for the last several years and had been in a sanatorium at 2009 West Washington street, where he died last Monday.

He leaves two sons, Leo Connell of Los Angeles, and J. D. Connell, Jr., of San Diego, and a daughter, Mrs. May Miller of Artesia.

BEES STILL HUMMING IN CRYER HAT

Definite Decision Not Yet Made, Declares Mayor Speaking of Third Term

Reports that Major Cryer will be a candidate to succeed himself this year were strengthened last night when the city's official head let it be known that he is considering seriously the matter of throwing his hat into the ring for the third time and has held several conferences with his political friends and supporters.

Although the Mayor declares that he has reached no definite decision on the question he states that he has been watching developments and "feeling out" the public pulse in an effort to determine how the majority of voters in the city would receive an affirmative announcement.

"I haven't reached a decision one way or the other," said Mayor Cryer, "but I have consulted my friends and those persons I come in contact with relative to the matter, hoping to get their reactions. I have not considered the time propitious for any definite decision or announcement, inasmuch as it is sixty days yet before the time to get out petitions, so I will wait for a while before coming to a conclusion."

Despite the official's contention that he still is debating the question, rumors persist that the Mayor already is preparing his announcement to be made within a short time.

NICHOLLS APPROVED FOR JOB

Permanent appointment of C. P. L. Nicholls as supervisor of aquatics for the city, recommended by Supt. Hjelte, was approved by the Playground and Recreation Commission yesterday. Hjelte reported that Nicholls was second in the list of eligibles approved by the civil service department.

TONSIL DERBY HEADED THIS WAY

Gifted of Gab to Get Going and Gargling Toward Glory With Wave of Words (Witty, Wise or Worthless) and Chatter Champion Will Be Chosen

Events of international magnitude are about to recede into insignificance in the light of an event soon to take place in Los Angeles, the results of which may rock the city's social, moral and mental fibers to their very foundations. Byrd's expedition to the Antarctic, the Kellogg peace pact, staggering scientific discoveries and many another subject of world-wide interest will lapse into oblivion in the face of the stupendous experiment.

Tried before, yes, in the effete East. But it needs the sanction and prestige of the West really to lend it weight. So a week from tomorrow, at high noon on the Cinderella Roof a talking marathon will be instituted to determine the vital question of which is the more talkative of the two exes. Every person in California and near-by territory who believes he or she is a gifted talker is invited to enter this endurance contest in an endeavor to prove to the world—well, something or other which undoubtedly will revolutionize our present civilization and have an undying effect upon future generations.

No matter how many entrants start out upon this noble experiment, it will continue until there remains but one talker, and this person will be proclaimed the champion talker, amid great rejoicing and pride for the discovery of such talent and prowess in the Southland.

The contest committee announces that certain medical regulations will have to be observed and that the rules governing this epic feat will be a combination of those for dancing marathons and the six-day bicycle race in New York. Entrants will be allowed fifteen minutes rest in each hour and medical attention and throat gargles will be furnished free. Contestants will be permitted to talk on any subject, thus leaving them unlimited scope in their choice of profound and learned topics for discussion.

FILM STAGES TO RISE ANEW

Paramount to Rebuild Sound Studio at Once; Injured Firemen Returned to Homes

Plans for the immediate reconstruction of the sound stages at the Paramount Studio in Hollywood which were destroyed by a spectacular fire Wednesday were begun yesterday, according to announcement from Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president in charge of production. He also placed the damage figures at approximately $450,000 and said production on talking pictures will not be delayed.

As soon as possible crews will be placed at work to tear down the concrete walls of the damaged building. Investigators were at work yesterday seeking to determine the cause of the fire but the theory is still held that defective wiring was responsible.

The building had just been completed and was undergoing tests. Fortunately none of the sound-recording equipment was destroyed, as the building adjoining the stage which houses this equipment was saved.

All of the firemen injured were able to leave the hospital yesterday for their homes.

Lasky issued the following statement:

"Production will continue exactly as scheduled, and we will fulfill every contractual commitment made to the exchanges and exhibitors. All of the production that was to be launched on the new sound stages will be transferred to the ten stages now in use, as the recording apparatus was housed in another building and was therefore not touched by the blaze. Starting dates will be carried out to the letter and without a single delay.

"No negative or film of any kind was in the structure. Our present stages can well take care of the increased production just as they did when the new building was being constructed."

DOCTORS FIGHT CEMENT PLANT

County Health Board Calls Project "Detriment"

Resolutions Adopted Against Industrial Zoning

Backer Defends Proposal in Talk to Women

Characterizing the proposed cement manufacturing project in the Santa Monica hills as a real detriment to the public health of the community the medical board of the Los Angeles County Health Department yesterday came out vigorously in opposition to the project.

The protest came in the form of resolutions adopted by the board and is in line with the contentions of the property owners of the district, who have been fighting off the cement menace desperately ever since it was first suggested.

SAFEGUARDS NEEDED

After viewing the entire situation with the vision of disinterested professional men, the board notes that in a rapidly growing community like Los Angeles and Southern California the health and lives of the citizens of today and of generations to come must be properly and adequately protected. It notes that one of the factors that set Los Angeles apart from the metropolitan communities of the country at large is the unusual opportunity to enjoy the blessings of nature which have been showered upon this region, giving great possibilities for the enjoyment of recreation and furtherance of health.

The board remarks that the proposed industrial zoning in the Santa Monica Mountains to permit the operation of cement manufacturing projects "would be a factor in contaminating the atmosphere and the ground territory adjacent to such proposed industrial establishments, to the detriment of health and life development of human beings and of all forms of vegetation in such districts."

HEALTH PARAMOUNT

"The pursuit of health, happiness and prosperity that go with healthy citizenship are inalienable rights of the citizens of a State," the resolutions declare, and add that "these health and life interests of the people at large are paramount to the development of industrial wealth which might be taken from the ground to the financial betterment of a comparatively small number of citizens;

"And be it further resolved, that this medical board of the Los Angeles County Health Department go on record as vigorously opposing the establishment of such cement plant industrial zones as are now proposed, in view of the past, present and future conditions which surround the area in question."

Members of the board which adopted the resolution include Dr. Percy T. Magan, Dr. Charles Bennett, Dr. A. E. Gallant, Dr. George Kress and Dr. J. L. Pomeroy.

PRINCIPLE INVOLVED

In commenting on the resolutions, Dr. Pomeroy, the county health officer, said:

"A principle of public health is involved in the preserving of the Santa Monica Mountains as future recreational areas. We have no quarrel with industry but industry should be zoned so as not to endanger the future health of the people or interfere with their opportunities for outdoor recreation."

Alphonso Bell, backer of the proposed cement quarry and grinding mill in Santa Ynez Canyon, addressed the League of Women Voters at luncheon at the Windsor Tea Room yesterday, outlining his plans for the project. He expressed the opinion that the rock quarry, grinding mills and pipe line would not be detrimental in any way to the surrounding territory. Wilkie Woodward, his chief engineer, also spoke, going into details on the plan.

MORE RESOLUTIONS POUND AT ROCK-PLANT PLAN

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 17.—Without a dissenting vote, the Pacific Palisades Improvement League at its meeting here tonight adopted resolutions condemning the proposed rock quarry and cement manufacturing project in Santa Ynez Canyon as a detriment to the community.

The meeting was held at the Pacific Palisades Civic Center, more than 150 persons attending. There were talks by a number of persons, including practically all of the officers of the organization. It was pointed out that the resolutions were drawn only after a thorough study of the project by a special

COULTAS ADVANCED BY NIX

Chief Deputy Appointment Followed by Further Resignations in City Prosecutor's Office

C. P. Coultas, deputy city prosecutor assigned to failure-to-provide department, yesterday was named chief deputy by City Prosecutor Nix. Coultas succeeds John M. Concannon, who resigned the day Nix took over the prosecutor's office.

Miss Edna Jones, for five years secretary to the City Prosecutor, was notified at 4 p.m. yesterday that her resignation would be accepted, effective at the close of business at 5 p.m.

Arthur Rosenblum, deputy prosecutor who handled the Julian usury cases, resigned, effective yesterday, according to a statement from Nix's secretary. Rosenblum, however, declared that the resignation will be effective February 1, next, at the end of the two weeks' leave to which he is entitled.

Later in the day the resignation of A. J. Chotiner, complaint deputy, was accepted by Nix, who earlier had told Chotiner that he did not desire it.

Grove Vail, chief investigator, is the next member of the staff slated for the official ax, according to City Hall rumors, which declare that the resignations of Concannon and Vail and the appointment of Coultas were made a condition of Nix's appointment to the office of City Prosecutor.

Both Chotiner and Rosenblum intend to enter private practice, according to their statements yesterday. Chotiner has engaged offices with his uncle, Jay Chotiner, at 215 West Fifth street, and Rosenblum will be at 806 Union Bank Building.

The Lancer

by Harry A. Carr

THAT women who drive automobiles should have legs like policemen is the startling suggestion of a Santa Barbara traffic expert.

In which case I absolutely insist that the fashion for short skirts be abandoned.

If the self-chauffeuring young ladies would have their brakes tested once in a while perhaps the traffic experts might consent that the present legs continue.

SYMPTOMS

Every doctor and every practical psychologist will understand the self-sufficiency of this boy Northcott, who has thrust aside his lawyers and is conducting his own murder trial.

One of the peculiar symptoms of a certain brand of eccentricity is a vast belief in the subject's mental superiority and an overwhelming desire to show off.

THEATER FAMINE

That only two plays have succeeded out of 200 staged in New York this last year is the wail of producers to a Congressional committee.

They say that the new talkies threaten the very existence of the stage. On the other hand, the movie producers shiver and shake in the fear that the talkies will wreck the movies and promote the predominance of the stage play.

If all other remedies fail, they might—as a very last resort—try making better pictures and better plays. There are too many other entertaining things to do to bother about paying money to see punk amusements.

CHARM OF THE WEST

You never can tell where you are going to find gold. Some of the most important and most interesting contributions to western literature are appearing in Touring Topics, which has been a house organ for the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Into modern life there comes, at times, unaccountable lapses—periods of dead calm—doldrums—intellectual Sargasso Seas . . .

For instance, almost a month has elapsed without anyone bobbing up with the real story of the death of Ambrose Bierce.

My own theory of his assassination by Pancho Villa is that the rebel chieftain read one of his books—and decided to fix matters so he shouldn't write any more.

HOT AND STRONG

The vogue of the books of Mr. Ernest Hemingway is symptomatic of a great change that has come over the reading public since the World War.

A great stylist like Bierce wouldn't get to first base. Personally, I doubt if Stevenson would be as popular again. What we want today is life torn out by the roots and still pulsing with the gush of blood. We don't want style in the sense of artificially polished sentences.

LARGE ESTATE LEFT BUT WILL OVERLOOKED

August H. Rehtmeyer left an estate worth $350,000 but no will, according to a petition for letters of administration filed in the Probate Court yesterday by his daughter, Nettie Rehtmeyer of Glendale. Rehtmeyer died on the 6th inst. The estate is made up of $50,000 worth of real estate and the remainder in mortgages, trust deeds, stocks and bonds. The heirs are Kate Rehtmeyer of Glendale, the widow; Florence Higbee of San Francisco, daughter, and Walter Rehtmeyer of Lindsay, Cal., a son.

Couple Declares Northcott Tried to Poison Them to Get Sons

FORMER RANCH HANDS ON STAND

Pair Tells of Capsules Found in Soup Given Them

Accused Greatly Agitated by Woman's Testimony

Defendant Continues to Wander in Questioning

BY JAMES M. KENDRICK
"Times" Staffs Representative

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 17. (Exclusive) Two mysterious capsules in their food which were observed by them while eating in the ranch home of Gordon Stewart Northcott, were believed to have been meant to deal death, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph A. Dahl testified today in Northcott's trial for life for the asserted butchery of small boys on his Wineville chicken farm.

Mrs. Dahl followed her husband on the witness stand in Superior Judge Freeman's court late today and related what she declared to have been an attempt on Northcott's part to dispose of her and her husband so he could obtain possession of their four small sons.

"We went to the ranch with Mr. Northcott, whom I knew as Mr. Craig and a Mrs. Mayo, supposedly his aunt, whom I afterward learned was his mother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, after they had pretended to us that we would be given work there," Mrs. Dahl testified.

CAPSULES IN SOUP

"When we sat down to a dinner I noticed the capsules in my dish of canned peaches. I looked at my husband who had also noticed them in his bowl and he appeared scared to death, but he maintained his composure and said nothing, until we left the house," the woman stated.

The Dahl family's visit to the Wineville chicken farm where Northcott is asserted to have mistreated and murdered Walter Collins, and Louis and Nelson Winslow, followed several trips made to the Dahl's home where they assert Northcott negotiated with them to take charge of a ranch owned by a wealthy Pasadena friends of his.

The woman identified Northcott as the man whom she met in a Los Angeles charitable institution, when he is asserted to have asked for a "reliable family for ranch work who have boys in the family."

ACCUSED AGITATED

Throughout the man and woman's testimony, the accused slayer showed his extreme agitation and time and time again objected to their testimony as irrelevent, but each time was overruled by Judge Freeman.

The Dahls followed Helen Hickman, secretary of the Hickey Warehouse Company in Ontario, where Northcott stored his furniture for three weeks during his asserted escapades on his isolated chicken farm. She confirmed the storage there of the ranch-house furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Dahl were definite in their identification of Northcott as the man who had hired them and despite Northcott's scowl at them as each sat on the witness stand he failed to affect their testimony.

Both said that Northcott visited their home several times and on each visit asked to be introduced to their four boys.

Northcott completed his examination of Sanford Clark, his nephew, who first exposed the asserted chicken farm murder orgy, shortly after the afternoon session began.

LAUGH WAKENS PRISONERS

Northcott apparently burned the "midnight" oil last night in his desperate effort to find some phase of his nephew's testimony which he will be able to refute.

"I've got it. I've got it now!" he shouted after an outburst of raucous laughter which awakened other prisoners and jail inmates at 3 o'clock this morning, Deputy Sheriff De Crevecoeur reported.

Upon entering the courtroom at the opening of the morning session, Northcott looked drawn and haggard and appeared to have had little sleep.

"Sanford, if I did as you say, decided to kill Louis and Nelson Winslow, did you make any effort or offer any advice to me?" Northcott asked his nephew in one of the first questions propounded during the day.

"You had decided to kill them and that was all there was to it. When you made up your mind you usually carried out what you intended to do," the youthful witness shot back at his interrogator.

"That's right, when I make up my mind I usually carry out my plans, don't I? Ha, ha," Northcott retorted and flashed the snickering smile that has marked his entire cross-examination since he decided yesterday to place his fate in his own hands.

ALWAYS KEPT KEY

"Why didn't you release the Winslow boys from their so-called henhouse prison; you always had the key, didn't you?" Northcott asked.

"Not after you put them in the henhouse, you always took the key with you," young Clark unhesitatingly replied.

Northcott's effort to refute Clark's statement that he virtually was held prisoner by Northcott, was met by the youth's testimony that when he went to neighbors he was always afraid that Northcott was lurking in the background and that if his uncle discovered him mailing a letter he would suffer the same fate that is asserted to have befallen the Winslow and Collins boys.

"Once you told me that you were going away for a couple of days, but I saw you watching me and I was afraid of my life," the boy replied.

Northcott today was as rambling in his cross-examination of young Clark as he was yesterday, when he took charge of his own defense, and veered from one to the other of the four murder accusations against him.

CLARK LOSES FEAR

In lengthy detail the accused youth examined his nephew upon the latter's story of the beatings Northcott is asserted to have administered to his relative while Sanford was acting as the prisoner-major domo on the Wineville chicken farm.

"Did I use the buckle end of a belt as you testified yesterday?" the defendant-counsel asked the witness.

"Well, it didn't make much difference. One time you used one end and when you found it didn't hurt enough you switched to the end with the buckle," the youthful witness replied.

Young Clark apparently has lost the fear he previously has shown for his uncle and when Northcott called him to the large map of the chicken farm to illustrate which of the units of the chickenhouse are concrete floored the boy walked rapidly to the illustration and eyed his uncle defiantly.

His markings as to the dirt and concrete floors were made a matter of court record.

QUESTIONER GIVEN LEEWAY

Northcott wanted to know why his nephew didn't seek neighbors' help if he wanted to desert the ranch ... was in fear of his life. He also ... as to the methods used in ... the axes after the Winslow boys' asserted murders and wanted to know whether washing the death instruments was forced upon Sanford by Northcott.

Throughout a day of one of the most odd cross-examinations in California criminal procedure the prosecution changed its tactics from yesterday's and attempted to confine Northcott to a cross-examination upon relevant questions.

Apparently because he now is playing a lone hand in his fight for his life, Northcott was allowed a great deal of leeway by Judge Freeman, who overruled most of the prosecution's objections.

Flight Backer Signs on Dotted Line

California Development Association Recruit

Miss Rubie Walker, California Development Association, presents membership blank to Capt. G. Allan Hancock, financier-backer of Southern Cross flight, who takes first Los Angeles membership in association's present campaign for 1000 new members in Southern California. The association—which is the State Chamber of Commerce—is conducting a ten-day drive, which opened Thursday, to increase its efficiency in meeting problems and developing industries and resources within the State.

STATE BOOSTERS AIR AIMS

Development Association's Membership Drive Speakers to Stress Goals Sought

Solicitors seeking members for the California Development Association have planned seven meetings at which its officials or other representatives will outline to various groups what they believe to be advantages of affiliation with it.

Today Clinton Miller, a vice-president of the association, will address the Rotary Club luncheon in the Biltmore. He will speak particularly about what his organization is doing along conservation lines. No meeting will be held tomorrow.

B. H. Dyas will speak to a meeting of traffic experts at a luncheon in the Alexandria Monday and will tell what the association is doing along that line. Other association speakers, the phases of association activities which they will discuss and groups addressed are as follows:

Tuesday, Edward Murphy, Statewide building code, Ad Club, Biltmore; Wednesday, Frederick Foster, industry, Kiwanis Club, Biltmore; William May Garland, highway program, supervisors, Biltmore; Thursday, R. E. Fisher, aviation, Executive Association, Jonathan Club; Friday, Maynard McFie, agriculture and foreign trade, Lions' Club, Biltmore.

Orra E. Monnette addressed one such meeting yesterday—a group of secretaries or organizations—in which he said:

"Our organization has routed prejudices. We have effected a State-wide unity. Co-operation of communities has been one of the greatest factors in California's growth."

He said that in the increase of airplane landing fields in California from 27 to 127 in three years the association "directly aided in establishment of twenty-five." Other fields of activity include, he said, agriculture, industry, conservation, foreign trade and highway traffic.

Court Thought Attorney Was Picture Actor

While Superior Judge Rosenkranz was ordering a bench warrant yesterday to bring Frank Williams, connected with the motion-picture industry, into court to explain his delinquency in the matter of alimony, his attorney, Roger Marchetti, was hurrying to the Courthouse.

Marchetti wore noseglasses, a buttonhole bouquet and white spats when he blithely stepped into the courtroom.

"Motion - picture actor," the court thought.

"Why weren't you here—there is a bench warrant out for you?" sternly demanded the judge.

"For me?" exclaimed the astonished attorney "I-I'm Marchetti, a lawyer," he stammered.

"My mistake," apologized the court. "I'll continue the case until January 29," he added, on hearing that Williams misunderstood the time he was to appear.

Mayor Cryer, members of the City Council and other city officials are among the invited guests. The camp will receive its winter dedication at the hands of Supt. Hjelte. Supt. Wadsworth of Big Pines County Camp, E. B. DeGroot, Boy Scout executive; Miss Cornelia Stevenson, Camp Fire Girls' executive; representatives of the Sierra Club, the Girl Scouts, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. are expected to attend.

AUTOMOBILE CERTIFICATE PLOT FOILED

Two Youths Jailed Under Suspicion of Conspiring to Print Duplicates

With the arrest of two youths in Glendale yesterday by investigators for the California Motor Vehicle Department, officers asserted they had frustrated a plot to flood Southern California with counterfeit automobile ownership certificates covering the titles to hundreds of stolen automobiles.

The men arrested gave their names as Vernon Wellborn and Alfred Roch, and their addresses as 510 East Colorado street, Glendale.

The arrest came shortly after an engraver told the officers that the youths had ordered plates engraved which would enable them to duplicate California automobile ownership certificates.

The officers will ask for a complaint charging conspiracy to commit grand theft and forgery today.

Youthful Group Held by Police in Bandit Quiz

Russell F. Brown, 21 years of age, a student, was arrested as a bandit yesterday on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. A revolver and cartridges were found in his room at 2019 Glenwood avenue. At the same time a girl and three other youths were arrested as part of the same group which, the arresting detectives assert, is responsible for numerous gas station hold-ups in and near Los Angeles during recent months.

The prisoners are Brown, Fred Keyes, 23, Cecil Kinard, 21; William Perry, 22, and Lola Hickman, 19, all of 236 Olive street, Burbank. The five were booked last night at Central Police Station on charges of suspicion of robbery. The arresting officers also picked up F. H. Keyes, grandfather of Fred, and charged him with suspicion of counterfeiting. The detectives accused him of raising $1 bills to $20 bills, by erasing original figures and substituting higher ones.

Detective Lieutenants McCaleb, Gibson and Murphy made the arrests. They report that Fred Keyes confessed that he and Russell Brown held up W. F. Askins's lunch stand at 1429 San Fernando Road, Burbank, on the 3rd inst., getting $15. The detectives add that Keyes admits that he, Kinard and Perry held up a gas station at 5054 West Washington Boulevard on the 16th inst. H. U. Loyo, the proprietor, was robbed of $24.

Suit Brought to Block Sale of Schooner

Suit was brought yesterday in the United States District Court against the government for an injunction to prohibit any further steps toward the sale of the schooner Przemysl, seized in Los Angeles Harbor December 3, last, to collect an income tax lien of $307,227.41, filed against Tony Cornero, a fugitive rum runner.

The suit was filed by Joseph Lasalle, a ship broker of Hamburg, Germany, who asserts that he is the sole owner of the vessel, which is under German registry. It also is asked that the tax lien be declared null and void. When the ship was seized, it was stated, no liquor was found on board. Lasalle asserted he leased the boat at Vancouver, B. C.

Motorist Faces Trio of Charges

Charged with liquor possession and transportation, Carl B. Mason, 41 years of age, a contractor at 366 North Curson avenue, was arrested yesterday by Traffic Policeman Kyle of the Wilshire division. The policeman also served Mason with a tag charging that he drove through a school crossing narrowly missing two schoolgirls at Third street and Las Palmas avenue.

Mason was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where police surgeons certified he had been drinking.

PARK TO GET SKIFFS

Appropriation for Cabrillo Beach Pleasure Craft Made

An appropriation of $5780 from Playground and Recreation Department funds for the purchase of a fleet of pleasure craft with which to equip Cabrillo Beach for this year was made by the Playground and Recreation Commission yesterday on recommendation of Supt. Hjelte. From the unincumbered department balance, $400 will be added, bringing the total up to $6180.

From this appropriation twenty skiffs at $70 each, ten outboard motor boats at $90 each, six motors at $180 each, one sailboat at $350, one patrol boat at $1500, accessories, hardware, paints, gas and oil totaling $1250 are to be purchased.

Patten of Brentwood, it was reported by Sid Malden, ranger for the Los Angeles Botanic Garden. She was returned to the sanatorium by police of the Sawtelle station.

PAVING APPROVED

The City Council yesterday approved a report of its Public Works Committee recommending granting of the petition for the paving of Van Nuys Boulevard between San Fernando Road and Kalmia street and the construction of curbs, sidewalks and ornamental lighting conduits. The proceedings will be carried forward under the 1911 act.

Argument Wins Support of Councilman Lewis

Vote Kills Resolution and Concludes Issue

Although the issue had been decided by vote Wednesday afternoon, there was another flare-up of heated argument yesterday before the City Council formally killed the resolution of Councilman Colden asking it to go on record as opposed to the agreement for unification of the rail lines in the harbor district.

Sitting as a committee of the whole Wednesday afternoon the Council voted 9 to 5 against the resolution. This vote, however, was technically only a committee recommendation, and it still was necessary for the Council sitting in regular session to approve the recommendation.

COLDEN SPEAKS

When the matter came before the regular session of the Council yesterday, Councilman Colden took the floor for a last word in explanation of his stand on the unification agreement. Exception to some of the statements he made was taken by several of the other members of the Council and soon Wednesday's argument was raging anew.

In his address yesterday Councilman Colden devoted most of his attention to the matter of the inclusion in the unification district of the portion of Wilmington north of Anaheim street. His plea for Wilmington was received sympathetically by his colleagues, but Councilman Bonelli pointed out again that the only chance of obtaining unified operation at the present time lay in adhering to the agreement as at present drawn and reminded Councilman Colden again that the agreement contains provisions which will allow for the extension of the present unification district after the unified rail system has begun to operate.

ONE VOTE CHANGED

The plea for Wilmington was apparently responsible for the conversion of one of his former opponents to Councilman Colden's side, for when the vote finally was put on the adoption of the committee report killing the resolution, the vote was 8 to 6, Councilman Lewis being the one who voted contrary to his previous vote. Otherwise the division was as it had been in the committee of the whole meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Police Arrest Robber Suspect

Equipped with a revolver, a police whistle, a Federal officer's badge, a cap, a mask made of a handkerchief and a rubber band, a pair of gloves and a tube of drug tablets Orville E. Jamison, 27 years of age, of Corona, displaying the weapon, approached Jimmy Corbett of the Ray Hotel and Miss Ethel Lee of 314 West Tenth street at the latter address and ordered them to "move out as he had a job to do," according to a police report.

Corbett notified police and Officers Middleton and Craig, after searching the neighborhood, found and arrested Jamison at Pico and Dewey streets. He was held on suspicion of robbery.

Wyatt Case May be Decided Today

Judge Fricke of Superior Court is scheduled to decide today the guilt or innocence of Owen E. Wyatt, former officer of the Provident Discount Company, who is charged with six counts of grand theft.

The case has been on trial before Judge Fricke for the past two weeks, prosecution and defense having elected to try the case without a jury. Closing arguments were made yesterday.

Wyatt is asserted to have defrauded several persons out of approximately $35,000 by juggling notes secured by trust deeds.

EXAMINERS DELIBERATE ON LICENSE

Chiropractic Board Hears Arguments in Case of Dr. E. C. Fortin

The State Board of Chiropractic Examiners yesterday opened an inquiry here into the means by which Dr. E. C. Fortin obtained a license to practice chiropractic in California. The hearing was adjourned until today after most of yesterday's session was occupied by a discussion between attorneys as to whether the board could legally call Dr. Fortin to testify for the State. He is one of sixteen chiropractors charged by the board with having obtained their licenses fraudulently.

The lengthy legal argument started when Raymond L. Haight, attorney for the board, introduced into evidence documents purported to be several applications made by Dr. Fortin for licenses to practice various branches of the art of healing. Haight declared that these papers showed Dr. Fortin's application to the Chiropractic Board contained falsities, and he asked the licensee to testify regarding the documents.

Homer J. Castellaw, attorney for the defense, instructed Dr. Fortin not to testify and protested against the board conducting any inquiry along that line. He also argued that the documents were irrelevant and immaterial and said that Dr. Fortin had met all of the legal requirements of the board.

Realty Dealer Called Atheist

Knute Lundeen, 52 years of age, wealthy real estate dealer, is an atheist, an exceptionally slovenly housekeeper and a poor cook, according to the testimony of Mrs. Ruth Norberg Lundeen, 37, in their contested divorce case now on trial before Superior Judge Hanby.

The wife asserted at the hearing yesterday that Lundeen attempted to teach their two children that there is no God and that the miracles in the Bible are trickery.

Mrs. Lundeen also asserted that the two sons who have been living with their father have not been given proper care.

Lundeen asserts that Mrs. Lundeen is extravagant, and that once she kissed another man in the presence of a number of people.

FIRE APPARATUS BIDS APPROVED

Board Indorses Purchase of Twenty-three Pieces

The largest purchase of new fire-fighting equipment for Los Angeles since 1924, when $500,000 was spent for new apparatus, was approved by the Fire Commission yesterday when bids on twenty-three pieces were opened. The total of the low bids, including allowances on old apparatus to be turned in, was $169,791.70, and was referred to the city purchasing agent for action.

Funds for the equipment were included in this year's budget appropriations last year, but at the request of the City Council, which explained that until December 15, 1928, there would be insufficient funds for the purchase, opening of bids on the new apparatus was deferred until yesterday.

The apparatus will go toward replacing older equipment, adding to that in new stations and for equipping six new stations now under construction. The equipment and low bids follow:

Five triple combination pumping engines, water tanks and hose wagons, Seagrave Corporation, $56,650; five combination chemical and hose wagons, Seagrave Corporation, $41,500; four straight pumping engines, American La France and Foamite Corporation, $43,925; one tractor-drawn six-wheel city service truck with tiller, $11,500; one straight hose wagon, $8220; seven one-ton service cars, Reo Motor Car Company, $7996.

WOMEN FIGHT TO GET GIRL

Catherine Jean Summerfield, 16 years of age, went on the witness stand yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Desmond and declared she preferred to live with her maternal aunt, Mrs. Teresa Bouttier, rather than with her stepmother, Mrs. Ethel Summerfield, widow of the late Judge John W. Summerfield.

The hearing was on the question of guardianship of the young daughter of the late judge who died more than a year ago leaving the girl, his only daughter, an estate valued at $20,000.

Represented by Attorney Griffith Jones, Miss Summerfield told the court that she was much happier under the guardianship of her aunt. She said that she had been afraid of her stepmother and could not exchange confidences with her like she could with her aunt.

Following the death of Judge Summerfield the daughter was placed in the custody of the aunt, Mrs. Bouttier. The stepmother, Mrs. Summerfield, filed a petition asking for her guardianship.

Arguments will be made today by Attorney Jones for Mrs. Bouttier and Attorney Thomas White for Mrs. Summerfield.

FOUNDATION TO INCREASE ITS ACTIVITY

W. L. Valentine Elected as Chairman of Organization Advisory Committee

Preparations for increased activity by the Los Angeles Community Foundation were announced yesterday with election of W. L. Valentine as chairman of its advisory committee. The committee will meet monthly hereafter in the Security Trust and Savings Bank, trustee for the foundation.

W. L. Valentine

The committee, which includes Oscar Lawler, E. P. Clark, Dr. W. Jarvis Barlow and P. H. O'Neil, has arranged a tentative program to place the federation's purposes and activities before the public, now that it is established on a permanent basis.

"The foundation," says a statement issued by the organization yesterday, "provides a medium by which persons of large or small means may devote funds for public or philanthropic or for the advancement of religion, education and scientific research or any other specific purpose which they may wish to designate. Under the foundation plan of charitable giving the donor has the assurance that the funds will be properly administered and the further assurance that his funds will not be 'frozen' and useless through generations to come in cases where the original purpose for which they were intended has become obsolete with the passing of the years.

"In short the foundation is a permanent institution for the handling of property willed or given for public or benevolent purposes."

Oil Fire Fighting Aids Suggested

Arrangements for co-operation by all fire-fighting divisions maintained privately by the larger oil companies and the Los Angeles Fire Department, are to be the subject of a conference between Fire Chief Scott and executives of the companies, according to a resolution of the Fire Commission yesterday.

The action was taken as the result of the request of the Texas Company for approval by the commission of a pass which would permit its fire-fighting equipment in the oil-storage and refinery district near the harbor to pass police and fire lines to give assistance to other companies and the Los Angeles department at larger oil fires.

Similar requests have been made by other companies.

Gasoline Price War Parley to be Held Tonight

Proposals to establish the local retail price of gasoline at 17½ cents a gallon and to ask major wholesale oil companies to supply the gasoline at 12½ cents will be made tonight at a meeting of members of the Independent Service Station Association at 4905 South Vermont avenue, according to L. W. Sockman, head of the association.

The plan to bring local dealers out of the so-called gasoline "war" was made at a meeting of the board of directors of the association yesterday, Sockman stated.

Prices remained practically unchanged throughout the Southern California district yesterday. A few low marks remained at 15 cents while several stations maintained the top price of 20½ cents a gallon.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

Assessments for the furnishing of current in the Stone Canyon and Bellagio Road lighting district and the Redondo Boulevard and Venice Boulevard lighting district were confirmed by the City Council yesterday.

STATUE CHOSEN FOR EXHIBIT

Southland Sculptor Wins New Honor

"Kneeling Aphrodite" and Vuk Vuchinich

BY ARTHUR MILLIER

VUK VUCHINICH, young Montenegrin-American sculptor of Santa Barbara, who has just leased a Hollywood studio with the Jugo-Slavic sculptor, Jucca Salamunica, was originally brought to America from his native country as one of a group of twenty likely boys and girls chosen by the American International Education Committee to be educated here that they eventually might go back to their homes as ambassadors of good will from the United States.

But Vuchinich, developing a talent for painting and sculpture, studied his art so well that in 1923 his first painted portrait—a likeness of himself—was accepted by the National Academy of Design and hung "on the line." Later his paintings were exhibited at the Brooklyn Museum and in an international exhibition at the Art institute of Chicago, where "The Art World," supplement of the Chicago Evening Post, picked out his life-size study of "The Amazon" as one of the best works shown.

Ivan Mestrovic, European sculptor, whose gigantic equestrian Indian statues have just been installed in Chicago, took an interest in the young artist, who became his pupil.

Vuchinich came to Santa Barbara a year ago as a ward of Alden Freeman and there his heroic statue, "The Kneeling Aphrodite," has just been selected by the committee for the great exhibition of American sculpture to be held in San Francisco begining April 1, next. This exhibition, made possible by a gift of $100,000 from Archer M. Huntington of New York, is being arranged by the National Sculpture Society and is to contain examples of the work of all bona fide American sculptors without regard to school or style. Vuchinich henceforth will divide his time between Santa Barbara and his Hollywood studio at 2003½ Vista Del Mar.

FATHER WHO KILLED GIRL COMMITTED

Theodore Oakvid Sent to Patton After Hearing at General Hospital

Theodore Oakvid stood before Superior Judge Bowron in the psychopathic court at the General Hospital yesterday and told how he killed his little daughter Sophia, 12 years of age, with a hatchet, because he thought she was mentally unfit to face the struggles of the world.

Judge Bowron, presiding in the court in the absence of Superior Judge Goudd, who is confined at his home with illness, questioned Oakvid concerning his motives for slaying his daughter on November 22, last, at their home in Bell and also his reason for attempting to end his own life after killing the girl.

The patient asserted he sincerely believed that only the fit should live and that his daughter was among those unfit.

According to testimony of Dr. Victor Parkin and Attorney Harris, representing the accused, Oakvid was laboring under a misapprehension as Sophia was sane and normal at the time of her death.

At the close of the hearing Judge Bowron signed an order committing Oakvid to the State Hospital for the Insane at Patton.

City's Plan to Acquire Beach Land Approved

Proposed acquisition of 4580 feet of beach land between Avenue 51 and Playa Del Rey by the City Council yesterday met full approval of the Playground and Recreation Commission, which recommended its purchase in answer to a query from the Council. The land, lying between the ocean front walk and city-owned tidelands, was asserted by Supt. Hjelte to be ideal for bathing purposes.

Hjelte's recommendation that the setback be fifteen feet instead of seventy-five feet was approved by the commission.

RAIL DAMAGES ASKED

Damages amounting to $11,026 are asked in a suit brought by Harry Schultz against the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, now on trial before Superior Judge Wilson. The action followed a collision between an automobile driven by Schultz and a street car at West Tenth street and Westmoreland avenue on January 26, 1928. Schultz contends he received a fractured skull and a permanent injury to his right leg.

The new directory will give the name, address and telephone number of every student, faculty member, administrative officer and employee of the university.

While taking her first driving lesson yesterday Mrs. Edith Livingston of 591 North Bronson avenue, was involved in a collision in which her guest, Mrs. Catherine Smith of Salt Lake City, was injured. Mrs. Smith, 50 years of age, suffered concussion of the brain, contusions and bruises. H. D. Eggleston, 18, of 329 East Chestnut street, Glendale, who was teaching Mrs. Livingston to drive, also suffered bruises and a possible fracture of the right shoulder. Mrs. Livingston was turning out of Wilshire Boulevard into Spaulding street when her car collided with one driven by Charles Chalet, a chauffeur living at 726 South Lake street. Mrs. Smith was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Sigifredo Ruis, 6, was knocked down by a car passing his home at 629 North Grand avenue. H. F. Burgstrom, of 15015 Chapel street, Alhambra, driver of the car, who took the boy to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, said the youngster ran out in front of the car. The boy's injuries included fracture of the right collar bone, possible fracture of the right ankle, and bruises. After receiving treatment he was transferred to the General Hospital.

Attorney Faces Liquor Sentence

Appearing in court in evening clothes, Albert Parker, attorney residing at 811 West Twenty-sixth street, pleaded guilty yesterday before Municipal Judge Ballard to charges of possession and transportation of liquor. Judge Ballard continued the case until tomorrow morning for sentence.

Parker was arrested early yesterday after his automobile had crashed into four others parked in front of the Hall of Justice when he attempted to make a sweeping turn at high speed into Temple street from Broadway. Capt. Patton of the Sheriff's office, whose car was one of those damaged, placed him under arrest. According to Deputy City Prosecutor Higgins, Patton found two quarts of wine and whisky in Parker's machine after his arrest.

Books Will Be Topic Tomorrow

Mrs. Vallely will give a short talk on teaching children to read and think independently.

"Hows and Whys of Human Behavior," by George A. Dorsey and "Elizabeth and Essex," by Litton Strachey, are among the books chosen for the morning's discussion.

CLOCK GIVES RAIDERS TIP IN RUM HUNT

Police Arrest Three Men After Alarm Sounds in House Containing Still

The fifth still raided within a week and, according to police, the most productive of a high-proof alcohol distilling plant was discovered in a large house at 3707 Avalon Boulevard, and three men arrested yesterday. The plant was being operated in three shifts, each of the three men taken into custody working eight hours, according to the report.

Discovery of the plant was through an alarm clock ringing just before dawn. Sergt. Williams and a squad of vice division officers were searching about the neighborhood because of information given them that "somewhere a still was running." Suddenly the alarm rang.

Acting on a hunch the officers entered the house and found, they said, one of the trio relieving another in the operation of a 300-gallon still.

In various rooms the officers reported finding 12,000 gallons of a new kind of concentrated mash, the still, equipped with a superheater capable of turning out "184 proof moon," making the liquor produced of double strength; thirty large vats and about sixty gallons of the finished product.

The men arrested gave their names as Phillip Danna, 35 years of age; John Barr, 33, and Thomas Dragna, 43. The first two were booked at the City Jail on four charges and the third on two charges of violating the liquor laws.

Names' Absence on Stockholders' List Causes Suit

An odd legal tangle involving the question of whether a stockholder in a company whose name had not been written on its stockholders' list before it went into bankruptcy can be held liable for the defunct concern's debts is now being threshed out before Superior Judge Bishop.

The suit, according to attorneys, is one of the first of its kind to be tried in the California courts.

The action is the one of the United States National Bank against William Stiller, Marcus Cohn, and E. W. Kay for $25,000.

The bank asserts that the three defendants had been the principal stockholders in a concern known as the Pacific Cotton and Finance Corporation; that the corporation went into bankruptcy, leaving the bank holding a promissory note in the sum of $25,000, no part of which has been paid. It is the contention of the bank that the note is a stockholders' liability, and that the defendants as stockholders should pay it.

Driver to Stand Assault Trial

Reginald J. Coulter, truck driver for Blake, Moffitt & Towne, paper dealers, was ordered held by Municipal Judge Gibbs yesterday for trial by Superior Court on charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. The court set bail at $5000.

Coulter is accused by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Holland of firing three bullets into the body of Vincent C. Collore, 8727 Baring Cross, assistant purchasing agent for the company, because he declared the latter had "persecuted" him. Collore is recovering from his wounds.

The shooting took place on the 7th inst. in the office of the superintendent of the paper company at 242 South Los Angeles street. Employees who aided in disarming Coulter were witnesses in the preliminary hearing by Holland.

Mrs. Audra Butt pictured her husband, Wilfred L. Butt, as an egotistical, selfish and self-centered individual, who, while buying himself plenty of clothes, purchased her only one pair of shoes during their married life, when she testified at the hearing on her petition for a divorce before Superior Judge Stafford yesterday.

Mrs. Butt said she married Butt at Los Angeles on November 6, 1927, and only lived with him five months because of his attitude and failure properly to support her.

"During the entire time we were together we went to only two shows and I had to pay the admission," the wife asserted.

A decree was granted.

Today's Bible Text

Let us come before God's presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto Him with psalms. Psalm xcv:2.

GIRLS, TAKE NOTICE

Here's good news for economical swains who want to make one engagement ring serve for many times. A New York judge has decreed that such a ring belongs to the donor until after the wedding. This ruling may reduce the number of the collections now being made by the flapper sorority.

HOPES OF HENRY

Henry Ford is looking for a world that is free of cigars and beer talk. He wearies of jokes about prohibition and he doesn't care to smoke. If the world is made up of tractors and motors it is all right with him, but why not let rum die without so much conversation? The trouble is that there are too many pallbearers to make it a dumb affair.

UP IN THE AIR

Said that an Arizona aviation company has ordered sixty-four planes at one swoop. They are to be of assorted sizes and capacity—some of them carrying six or more passengers. Mostly they are to fly out of Phoenix and disclose the scenic marvels and magnificent distances of the Southwest. Also the Colorado River and the Grand Canyon will be shown to all comers. The original Phoenix was quite some bird and the city bearing its name continues to soar.

THE BIG WINGS

Day by day notable additions are being made to the aviation industry in this section. The Maddux lines have eight or ten big planes with a carrying capacity of twelve passengers and now they are trying out the latest giant of the skies. This is a beautiful machine that can readily take care of eighteen passengers and is fitted up with all the comforts and conveniences that are possible to heavenly traffic. It is possible that the new eagle may be used in a service between Los Angeles and Mexico City, and be but the forefiyer of others of its type.

THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

The Parisian theaters are also undergoing the uplift—if that is something that can be undergone. The chorus girls are being backed into long skirts and the so-called nude shows are over. They were only run, so they say, to accommodate American tourists and this is no longer worth while. It is rather embarrassing when the entertainers in the great capitals of Europe announce that they must have indecent shows in order to entertain their Yankee guests. A glance at last year's bill of fare along Gotham's Rialto would indicate some warrant for the statement. But it is pleasant to note that we are taking stock and trying to find out what really is the matter with us.

HOME OF HONEY

Honey is now announced to be a disinfectant. It inhales moisture, and if a microbe think to use it as a parking place, speedy absorption leaves but a shell upon the shore of the jar.

This is good news to California, the home of honey. Here flowers run riot and the bees do the rest. Few desert spots can be found so barren but sage grows there. And sage honey is the most highly esteemed of all bee sweets.

To be told that honey is a disinfectant is also personally comforting in the extreme. We had been brought up on carbolic acid. We have been rescued from swift death by it. As a baby we were swathed in it and in childhood days cuts and bruises were a crying invitation to the bottle with the skull and cross-bones.

To this day our fish tastes of its compounds and our orchard fumigations suggest something which the wealth of orange blossoms fails to neutralize. They remind us of funerals instead of weddings. But with honey as a disinfectant, the orange would seem to bear its own preservative. Perchance its good offices may extend farther than to render dry bread palatable and to enlarge the tribe of optimists.

Here in California where bees flourish, health also has its habitation. Everything from the dry air to the bee hive is curative. Honey is liquid sunshine. To those who cannot come, it may be sent.

ARIZONA AND THE COLORADO

About the most that can be said of developments in connection with Boulder Dam since the convening of the Utah and Arizona Legislatures is that the situation is highly uncertain and that almost anything may happen. Three more or less conflicting views have made themselves apparent in Arizona: one that Arizona should fight to the last ditch, attacking the constitutionality of the bill immediately in the Supreme Court, which seems to be the idea of the State's Colorado River Commission; one that Arizona should seek further negotiations with California and Nevada in the hope of drawing up a three-State treaty, which seems to be the idea of Gov. Phillips; and one that the Legislature should take the matter out of the hands of the Governor and commission and deal with it itself—how is not indicated—which seems to be the idea of some, at least, of the legislators.

Belief that Arizonans generally feel that the State is well protected by the Boulder Dam bill and stands to gain far more than she will lose by the dam's construction, is expressed locally by a number of people familiar with the situation.

There is no question that Arizona would benefit in several ways. One of these is that approximately $100,000,000 would be spent for labor and materials partly within her borders; another that the district around Yuma needs flood protection almost as much as it is needed in the Imperial Valley; a third the possibility that the State itself will receive a considerable revenue from power development; and there are many others, including 2,800,000 acre feet or more of water that can be used for irrigation. Gov. Phillips says this isn't enough; that the State must have the 3,000,000 acre feet it asked for at the Denver conference, that it must have all the water of the Gila, that it must have revenue at least equal to the taxes it would receive if the dam and power plants were privately built structures, and so on.

It may be well enough to try to get them, but Arizona is in danger of losing very solid and substantial things by a chase after the unattainable.

There is a very strong probability that, so far as amount of water is concerned, Arizona will be able to take, if the dam is built, all she can use or want, since the amount available has almost certainly been greatly underestimated. The 15,000,000 acre feet yearly flow which the Colorado River Compact assumed as its basis was admittedly 20 per cent less than the actual average flow; further, the Upper Basin States are unlikely to have use for all of the 7,500,000 acre feet they are allotted; still further, a portion of what they do use will return to the stream. So that if Arizona is standing out over a matter of 200,000 acre feet of water she is worrying unnecessarily about something of no practical consequence. So far as a guarantee of any particular revenue is concerned here again the State is in danger of casting away the substance for the shadow. In any case, the revenue is dependent upon the commercial success of the scheme; Arizona could not collect taxes from a private dam-operating company unless that company made money enough to pay them. The Federal government must be guaranteed the return of its advances for dam construction; to impose further guarantees might be to burden the enterprise to the breaking point. Arizona should be a good sport and take her chances.

If it did not involve too much delay, a suit in the Supreme Court might prove very advantageous to the project and to similar projects of the future by settling once and for all many disputed points of State's rights. Since the suit would have to be filed in the Supreme Court directly, that body might be able to reach it in a reasonable time. Incidentally, Arizona is hazarding something even by such a suit, since it is conceivable that the high court might rule that the control of the Federal government over the Colorado is absolute.

Everything considered, the best thing for California and Arizona is to get together in a spirit of compromise and harmony and form, with Nevada, a tri-State agreement so that construction may start at once.

THE HARDY CASE

Action of the American Bar Association in dropping from its membership rolls Judge Carlos S. Hardy of the Superior Court is a judgment that his acceptance of what he says was a gift of $2500 from Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson was a violation of the ethics of the profession and in contravention of the high standards of conduct expected from a judge on the bench. It does not bear on the controversy now pending in the State Supreme Court over the powers of the State Bar of California.

Unlike our State Bar, which is an arm of the government, the American Bar Association is in the category of a private club, whose action in disciplining its members has no other effect.

The question before the Supreme Court is whether the State Bar can discipline a judge on the bench. Judge McComb has ruled that this power is possessed only by the Legislature, and is to be exercised by a process akin to impeachment—removal by a joint resolution. He based the ruling on the theory that a judge, who is forbidden by statute to practice law, is not and cannot be a member of the State Bar, which is composed of practicing lawyers only, and that the State Bar cannot inquire into the actions of a nonmember. On behalf of Judge Hardy it is contended that the independence of the judiciary, so important to justice, is threatened by the State Bar's assumption of authority in such matters. This is a much larger and more important question than the American Bar Association's executive committee had to pass upon; it is the question as to whether a judge is accountable to anyone but his constituency, who can exercise the recall, and the whole people of the State as represented in the Legislature; or whether the people by ratification of the State Bar Act have constituted a third method of control over the courts.

The State Assembly Judiciary Committee's action in voting to have charges of impeachment brought against Judge Hardy, will provide the thorough airing of the whole matter which was sought by the State Bar. If it results in removal, the question before the Supreme Court will become academic as far as Judge Hardy is concerned; but the question should nevertheless be settled.

SALVATION ARMY SECURE

A purely administration schism in the high council of the Salvation Army, brought about by the physical breakdown of its aged commander-in-chief, Gen. Bramwell Booth, should not lead the public to suppose that the useful activities of this splendid Christian organization will be affected or its power for good lessened by this unfortunate occurrence. The forced retirement of the leader, undertaken by the high council with manifest regret, will not sow any seeds of discord either among the officers or the rank and file of the Salvation Army. Those who know the high type of the men and women, banded together under its banner are not doubting the unimpaired capacity of the army for carrying on its mission of help and healing.

Publicity given by the newspapers of the world to the doings at Sunbury-on-Thames, because of their dramatic nature, has emphasized, not the passing diplomatic struggle among the high officials, but the position of universally recognized importance occupied by the Salvation Army itself. From the first desperate struggles of its founder, Gen. William Booth, to obtain a hearing, through years of misrepresentation and hostility, the Salvation Army has fought valiantly for the permanent place it has now won in the hearts of all who love their fellow-men. Its success will always be associated with the name of William Booth. But it no longer depends on it.

From its birth as the offspring of the efforts of one man the Salvation Army has grown into a democratic world-wide institution with thousands of workers and millions in property, conditions that demand a broadening of control and a larger responsibility in trusteeship. If the action of the commissioners should lead to a remodeling of the constitution as drawn by Gen. William Booth, to meet the changed circumstances under which it now functions, ultimate good for the Salvation Army and its cause may follow the present unfortunate situation at headquarters.

At any rate there will be no hampering or hindering of the field work of the loyal supporters of the army in their diversified labors among the poor and needy. No longer does the army need the eclat of one name to uphold its traditions. It has passed beyond that stage of growth. William Booth and his family which has followed so faithfully in his footsteps will always be honored through this institution for bettering humanity. But the Salvation Army is greater than the Booth family.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

POP-POP-POP-POP-POP!

Not firecrackers, g. r., nor yet a passing motorcycle. It's our New Year's resolutions.

V. W. St. John, editor and owner of the Mena (Ark.) Star, has just been in to see us. Years ago "Saint" was one of those who taught us to read proof. And never was man more perfectly nicknamed. He never smoked, drank, chewed, swore, overate or failed to keep a watchful eye on any bad habit which even dreamed of annexing itself to him. He kept in good physical trim, took exercises daily, held himself right even when at home, breathed correctly and so lived that nature might stand up and say to all the world, "This is a super man as Bryant and Shakespeare said.

Compromise With Conscience

But now "Saint" is in California because the doctors told him if he didn't take a rest he'd blow up entirely.

However, California has put him on his feet. He's gained thirty-five pounds, and looks fine.

But as we looked at him the happy thought came to us that maybe our old pipe had killed thousands of germs of flu and one thing and another—our wife says it ought to kill anything—and so we filled it up again.

A Horse Tale

We would have been glad to see "Saint," even if he hadn't given us that good alibi, because he's a man with the sort of heart we like.

He had been out to see Kellogg's Arabian horses, and was enthusiastic about them. And that recalled an incident. When "Saint" went down to Mena and bought a paper he also bought the finest horse in the county.

After every other business man had sold his horses and bought a car, "Saint" continued to ride horseback. He was the Marco Hellman and Victor McLaughlin of his town. Not 'till he could find just the gentle driver he sought would he sell his horse. Then he drove a car a couple of years. But one day he saw his ex-horse driven by a man who didn't handle it to suit him—so he bought it back.

We wouldn't care if a man like that decided to stay in California permanently.

Self-Lured Californians

"An Old Californian" pays us a high compliment. He thinks we can work miracles—can stop the tide of people coming to California. He says there are more people than jobs here already.

Well, we've never advised anyone who hasn't either money to invest or a job in sight to come to California. Furthermore, the Chamber of Commerce and the All-Year Club and other organizations don't, either. The simple fact is that nothing on earth can stop people from coming to California. They want to come here, they hear from relatives and friends who have come out that they are getting along all right, they figure that if those folks are getting by they can, too, and they just insist on coming, just as many unfinanced adventurers go to New York or any other major field of endeavor. And we sincerely believe that a larger percentage of them get along well here than anywhere else, because this country is growing and developing all the time.

The Kidnaping Squad

Nobody shanghaied, lured, bamboozled, tricked, or even invited us to come to California. We just managed to skimp together enough money and came. Nor have we met anyone else who was ruthlessly torn from his eastern home and dragged out here. Nobody who writes the Chamber of Commerce or any other organization is advised to come here unless he is sufficiently financed to take care of himself. If we'd starved when we first arrived we couldn't have blamed anyone for it but ourself. And when things weren't going so well we felt like one of our neighbors. "I estimate my income at $33 a day," he said. "I make about $8 a day with this little truck of mine, and it's worth $25 a day to me to live in this climate." He'd come out from Nebraska, where winter on the farm was too much for him.

But from the way we hear some people talk, somebody here must have about 10,000 cowboys riding all through the Middle West and East, roping unsuspecting persons and bringing them out here, bound and gagged. Of course such folks have a right to kick if California doesn't meet them with golden platters heaped high, and stuff their pockets with deeds to marble palaces. But the rest of us, who come in without knocking, should go out the same way, or else show appreciation of California hospitality.

"Sweet and Low, Sweet and Low"

First prize in the simile contest today goes to J. R. H. for this one: "As reassuring as an ambulance siren."

KEEPING THE PEACE

Bolivia rings up the League of Nations on the wire and announces the willingness of the nation to accept the arbitration of the World Court in the settlement of the government's boundary dispute with Paraguay. There is also talk of Pan-American arbitration to decide responsibility for the friction that has already taken place. The principle of arbitration at least appears to be accepted by all parties and this is a comforting thought to the rest of the world as well as a glorious benison to the parties most at interest.

AN AWFUL BORE

Among the exhibits at the Western Metal Congress at the Shrine Auditorium is a drill that can bore into solid iron at a speed of more than ten feet a minute. A tool like that should make an efficient Congressional probe. It is a pity that the grand jury couldn't have had one of these things to bore into the Julian episode or the City Hall puzzle.

ALMOST AN ATROCITY

By James J. Montague

In Turkey, teachers are now being supplied with airplanes

In vain the Turkish truant,
When pleasant days and cool
Tempt him to rove to some snug cove
Not far from old Stamboul
Looks, longing, out the window,
His lot is stern and grim,
He's well aware, poor lad, that there
Is no escape for him.

Let him but dare to venture
Beyond the schoolhouse door
And hasten out with gladsome shout
The suburbs to explore,
And some lynx-opticed master
Whose plane is passing by
Along the gale will hardly fail
To spot him from the sky.

I'm glad that in my boyhood
No teachers sailed the blue
To seek me where I made my lair
The warm spring mornings through.
I have fond recollections
Of many a shady glen
Where many a kid both could and did
Play hookey now and then.

I also hope this custom
Of watching overhead
The lad who strays in pleasant ways
May never, never spread,
For youth, now bright and joyous
Would soon turn cold and dry
And lose the zest which makes it blest
If teachers all could fly!

Hoover, Crusader

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Kyle D. Palmer, in his striking article in the Los Angeles Times of today, quotes Mrs. Willebrandt, in part, as follows: "The foremost difficulty in enforcement is paradoxically, that of voluntary obedience to the law. The first great step (toward successful enforcement)" she said, "should come in the form of a strong and sustained appeal to the people as a whole to obey the law—to obey it from a sense of public duty and of personal regard for individual welfare."

I am pessimistic on that last phrase. Neither the examples of the leading American citizens nor the exhortations of its moral and spiritual leaders have succeeded in stemming the flood of disobedience to the prohibition laws. It will require a crusade—and that crusade can best be built around one man—and he is Herbert Hoover, the incoming President.

Will the American voters—Republican and Democrat—be worthy of their leader? I believe no stronger definite answer in the affirmative is open to those American voters than that they shall form a Herbert Hoover League, devoted to the enforcement and maintenance of the Eighteenth Amendment, and crusade for it as the majority of them have voted for Herbert Hoover. Would it mean anything to Herbert Hoover to have such a league of 5,000,000 supporters when he takes the oath on March 4, next, to uphold the laws of this country? The fight for prohibition is the fight of youth against example. I believe the colleges could well take the leadership in such a crusade.

"NIL DESPERANDUM."

The Future Home

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your article today (January 15) criticising Mr. Ford's Utopia gives us much food for thought. I fear, however, it was written by a man not very familiar with a household and the duties that go with it.

Mr. Ford, the world admits, is a man of vision and this one of sending drudgery from the kitchen and the farm will come true also and your writer need not worry about the housewife and the farmer not keeping busy. They will be just as busy as the big business men who have eliminated drudgery from their vocations.

I have a wonderful picture of the future home. The lady of the house rings a bell, telephones her order for dinner at 6. If husband wants company for dinner she says, "all right, dearie." She goes to her club in the afternoon—no worries whatever. The dinner is brought to the door at the appointed hour all done to a turn by experts trained along that line.

Why should we housekeepers not call on experts the same as the business man? The farmer likewise? Yes, it is being done, and is the solution of the problem.

MRS. C. H. BARTON.

Ozora W. Howard

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In an editorial of yesterday's date, headed "Soldiers of Science," you paid generous tribute to one who will be a cherished memory of many in Los Angeles, and far beyond it, for years to come.

But what you couldn't know was the exceptionally high esteem he was held in by the hundreds of men who have had the happy experience of working under him, in some of the numerous schemes of his designing, which have done so much to beautify homes in Los Angeles, and the surrounding territory. On reading your opening words, the following lines were suggested to me:

The watchful cacti lay upon his bier,
And oh, how eloquent to friends is this,
Fine guardianship, at these meet obsequies,
Of one who loved them, while he wended here.
Unnumbered spines, they have; with each a spear
Upraised to strike arising enemies
Who would—with false word—rob the treasuries,
Which sweet remembrance now is bringing near,
The favored ones, who bear him company
On this last trek, which ne'er will reach an end
For one enshrined in the memory
Of all he met where'er he chose to wend.
And this poor tribute tender we to thee,
Our master, many days—but each day friend.

A TRAP FOR THE "SMARTY"

The next time you perform a trick or a stunt of any kind and some "smarty" makes light of it, don't get "ruffled." Instead compliment him on his sharp eyes and invite him to assist you in your next stunt. This you announce is going to be a juggling feat and everybody is asked to look closely to detect any tricks. First ask him to hold your cane (if you haven't a cane a straight stick or part of a broom handle will do.) Then you step up on a chair and place the brim of a glass filled with water against the ceiling. Now ask the "assistant" to place the cane or stick against the bottom of the glass and hold it there. When he does so you let go of the glass, step down off the chair, carry it to one side of the room and sit down. After a few minutes he will see the light when everybody enjoys a good laugh at his expense. And if he isn't willing to take a good wetting he must foolishly stand there holding the glass against the ceiling until you choose to relieve him.—[The Pathfinder.

HERBERT HOOVER AND ALASKA

BY SCOTT C. BONE
Governor of Alaska 1921-25

During the campaign I voiced the opinion that the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for President of the United States was rich in promise for Alaska—that wonderland of the North, which, for sixty-one years, while producing wealth in excess of a billion dollars, has been a neglected domain, dealt with academically, when dealt with at all, and allowed to shift for itself, a sort of step-child of Uncle Sam's.

Now, since Herbert Hoover has been chosen President of the United States I venture the further opinion that Alaska, at his constructive hands, will make greater progress these next four years of his administration than it has during more than half a century since its purchase from Russia by William Henry Seward. Herbert Hoover knows Alaska—understands its needs—as has no other American President. Only one previous head of the nation, Warren G. Harding, ever set foot in Alaska.

Three members of President Harding's Cabinet—Secretaries Work, Wallace and Hoover—and Speaker Gillett of the National House of Representatives, accompanied him on his tour of the Northland. Hearings were held by the Cabinet officers at all stopping places and frequent conferences occurred aboard the transport Henderson.

Of the distinguished visitors, the keenest observer and listener was Herbert Hoover, whose comments in varied discussions invariably disclosed a practical grasp of conditions and needs. A frontier land was not new to him. The experiences coming to him from day to day, the glimpses into the wilds, were interesting, but not novel. He at once attuned himself to Alaska and Alaskans and was the one member of the visiting party who accepted what he saw as a matter of course. Scenic sights did not dazzle him, or warp his vision of the material interests of the Territory. He was not a skeptic as to the railroad. Of course, it was not a paying proposition in the initial stages of its operation, no more than had the transcontinental lines been profitable when first built through a wilderness of States and over the Rocky Mountains; but this great Alaska project would justify the expenditures involved just as the wisdom of Hill and Villard and other captains of industry had belatedly been demonstrated in earlier days. Road and trail building, in evidence throughout the journey, naturally appealed to and received the unqualified approval of the practical Secretary of Commerce. Only through such constructive work could Alaska be opened up to settlement and come into its own.

The Secretary's primary concern was in the fisheries. He had succeeded in securing the enactment of legislation centering authority in and supervision over this vast industry in his department, and his agents were then engaged in formulating regulations, restricting the catch and zoning the fishing areas. Believing in the wisdom of giving Alaskans a voice in all territorial affairs, it was at this time that he created an advisory fisheries board to co-operate with the Bureau of Fisheries in working out an acceptable and workable plan of conservation.

There had been persistent outcries about the need of protecting the forests, but no popular interest in the urgent need of safeguarding the fisheries. His step toward this end encountered somewhat violent opposition on the part of the packers and the fishermen alike. The delegate from Alaska, representing the radical element, insisted upon restoring the primitive rights of the natives (Indians) assailed the Secretary vehemently, in speech and in print, and obstructed action stubbornly. Unawed by such assaults, Herbert Hoover proceeded deliberately to carry out his own policies. In a short while the packers became convinced that the reforms were beneficial in a business sense, and withdrew all opposition. But the radical element in the Territory is still unreconciled. Secretary Hoover by his action accomplished the greatest bit of constructive work yet rendered to Alaska.

A rational conservationist, he was not unmindful on his journey to the Northland of the decaying growth of timber, in the forest reserves comprising 30,000,000 acres. All in the rain belt, and unendangered by fire, there had at that time hardly been a dent in these colossal stands of spruce, hemlock and cedar. The obvious inquiry was why Alaska, through this timber, was not supplying in large part the wood pulp and print paper supply of the country. Manufacturers were investing huge capital in Canada, but were looking askance at Alaska, because of regulations of the Forest Service, which were regarded as too stringent. Since then the service has succeeded in interesting capital and there is today a prospect that at least one big pulp and paper plant will be established and in operation within a few years.

An arch foe of bureaucracy, an exponent of co-ordination, undoubtedly Herbert Hoover has scant regard, if not contempt, for the administrative system in vogue in Alaska, with seven departments in Washington having a hand in the government of the Territory. The Harding administration was committed to a reorganization plan, but the opposition of bureaus affected proved too powerful to overcome.

Children Use Soap for Sculpture Instead, Nowadays

Demonstration of "Art" Interesting
Gertrude Saunders at South Park Playground showing Norma Robinson and R. C. Leechman how it's done

"SCULPTURE" of a new order is being introduced on Los Angeles playgrounds.

Unusual possibilities in the way of art are found in a bar of laundry soap when brought out by the skillful hands of children ranging from 4 to 9 years of age.

Rabbits, owls, ducks, pigeons and numerous other creatures are whittled out by busy little fingers. They make remarkably life-like reproductions of birds and beasts. The Playground and Recreation Department is planning to make soap "sculpture" a permanent feature of the play activities at many recreation centers.

eral government adequate to the exigencies of the Union.'

STATES CALLED TOGETHER

"The Annapolis convention gave sanction to Hamilton's plan by adopting a resolution calling for a general convention of the States for the purpose of revising the Articles of Confederation.

"Congress, pursuant to this recommendation, issued a call for a constitutional convention to meet at Philadelphia on May 14, 1787. All the States responded to this call except Rhode Island, which was bitterly opposed to any central government; it was not represented in that convention. As one historian says, 'Fearing a loss of independence and restriction upon paper money.'

"As revealing the state of mind in which Gen. Washington viewed the conditions of his country at this juncture, we quote from a letter written by him to James Madison in October following the Annapolis convention, in which he says:

WASHINGTON GLOOMY

"'No day was ever more clouded than the present. . . . We are fast verging to anarchy and to confusion. . . . How melancholy the reflection. . . . What stronger evidence can be given of the want of energy in our government than these disorders? . . . A liberal and energetic Constitution, well guarded and closely watched to prevent encroachments might restore us.'

"And from a letter just ten days later written to Bushrod Washington, Gen. Washington says:

"'The fabric which took nine years, at the expense of much blood and treasure, to rear, now totters to the foundation and without support must fall.'

"James Madison, in writing to Edmund Randolph about this time, speaks of the state of the country in this wise:

SITUATION CRITICAL

"'Our situation is becoming every day more and more critical. No money comes into the Federal Treasury; no respect is paid to the Federal authority, and people on reflecting unanimously agree that the existing Confederacy is tottering to its foundation. Many individuals of weight, particularly in the eastern district, are suspected of leaning toward monarchy. Other individuals predict a partition of these States into two or more confederacies. It is pretty certain that if some radical amendment of the single one cannot be devised and introduced, one or the other of these resolutions, the latter, no doubt, will take place.'

"Whether a sufficient number of States would respond to the call for the convention recommended by the Annapolis convention to justify the hope that anything could be accomplished, was at first doubtful. Some of Washington's friends who had no faith in such a convention being able to accomplish anything, tried to persuade him to stay away and not be identified with a failure. Others urged him to accept the appointment as a delegate, among them Madison and Randolph, who urged him to accept, insisting that his personal presence would be one of the strongest factors in favor of any plan which the convention might produce. He did attend, and with what anxiety and sense of responsibility, we may judge from the correspondence just quoted."

PLANS FOR CANYON TUNNEL LAID ASIDE

After receiving a communication from the Hollywood-Santa Monica-La Brea Chamber of Commerce recommending the building of a tunnel under Mulholland Drive at Laurel Canyon, the City Council asked its Public Works Committee to get a report on the project from the City Engineer. That official reported that the tunnel would cost $746,000. The committee, in passing this report on the Council yesterday said the estimated cost of the tunnel makes it prohibitive at this time and the Council decided to take no further action at present.

AL G. BARNES SUIT RESTS WITH JUDGE

Court Hears Arguments on Validity of Divorce Asserted Given in Nevada

Following arguments which lasted all yesterday morning Superior Judge Dooling took under submission a decision relative to permitting Mrs. Sarah Jane Stonehouse to proceed with the trial of her separate maintenance suit against Al G. Barnes Stonehouse, circus owner.

If the court here holds that Barnes had lived in Nevada long enough to establish a legal residence there then he will decide that an asserted decree given there is valid. Then Mrs. Stonehouse cannot continue her action for separate maintenance.

If the court here decides that the Nevada decree obtained by Barnes is not valid the separate maintenance suit will be prosecuted by Mrs. Stonehouse.

Court Balks Double Damage for Eye Loss

Superior Judge Schauer yesterday threw out of court the $50,000 damage suit of Lawrence Smith against the Santa Catalina Island Company, sustaining an important point concerning the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Smith brought his suit against Santa Catalina Island Company, a Catalina physician and a Catalina hospital for the loss of an eye.

Attorneys for the defendant showed to the court that the Santa Catalina Island Company had paid for the injury and the loss of Smith's eye through the Workmen's Compensation Act, and that if he was allowed to recover damages through his suit he would be paid twice for the same injury.

DRUGGISTS LOSE WINE TONIC SUIT

Court Denies Injunction in Long Beach Issue

Advances Trial of Case to Next Monday

Ordinance Against Sale in Effect Today

Under a ruling made by Superior Judge Yankwich late yesterday Long Beach's medicinal wine ordinance will go into effect today.

Judge Yankwich refused to grant druggists of the beach city an injunction to restrain city officials from enforcing the mandate against the sale of medicinal wine tonics.

In refusing to grant the injunction, asked on the grounds that the ordinance passed on December 18, last, is unconstitutional, Judge Yankwich, as a relief measure, shortened the period for the return of the case for final adjudication, setting the hearing for next Monday.

George Moore, Long Beach druggist, appeared in behalf of the druggists.

Moore declared that druggists will be compelled to throw away or otherwise dispose of as much as 75 per cent of the wares on their shelves if the mandates of the ordinance are carried out, which defines a "wine tonic" as any liquid, whether medicated or not, which contains more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol, which could be used as a beverage.

Judge Yankwich declined to go into the merits of the case. He said:

"Only in extreme cases should a court enjoin officers from enforcing an ordinance because the presumption is toward its constitutionality. These druggists cannot suffer by waiting a few days."

POLICE ANNOUNCE STRICT ENFORCEMENT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 17.—Those convivial souls who, since the advent of prohibition, have depended on their druggists for cheer, through the medium of wine tonics, wine elixirs and the like, must seek another source for their liquid joy after tonight. For, at midnight, the recently enacted ordinance prohibiting the sale or display of wine tonics in Long Beach becomes effective. And there will be no period of grace extended to the druggists or to the purchasers, Chief of Police Yancy declared today. Strict enforcement of the ordinance will be the order to the police department and the vice squad has been detailed to devote its entire time to checking on this new phase of Long Beach prohibition.

The ordinance, demanded by church interests here, and adopted December 18, last, is construed to include any tonic of medicinal preparation containing one-half of 1 per cent or more of alcohol, capable of being used for beverage purposes. A fine of $500 or 180 days in jail for offenders is the "teeth" of the new ordinance.

The local association of druggists, it was said today, will test the legality of the new ordinance in the higher courts.

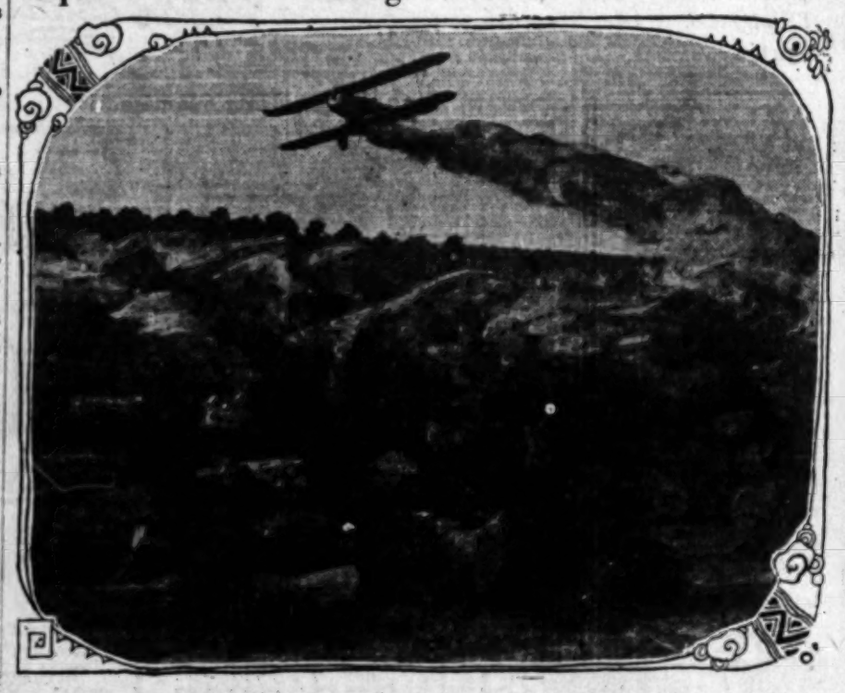
THUNDERING DEATH RAINED ON SPIDERS

Airplane "Dusts" Orange Groves to Kill Insects



How War on Insects Is Conducted [U. & A. photo]

THE Western ...sters is the name of a new company formed to fight insects, especially red spiders, by airplane in the orange groves of Southern California. The new scheme is being tried out on the Bastanchury ranch near Fullerton, where the company has taken a contract to dust 420 acres of orange trees. From twenty-five to thirty pounds of sulphur are spread per acre at the rate of 100 acres of trees an hour, it is asserted.

The airplane used is a Thunderbird W-14, with a special mechanism operated by a small propeller which turns an agitator in the hopper, providing an even flow of sulphur dust. This is dropped into a Venturi tube and blown out by the blast of the ship's propeller. The airplane flies from fifteen to twenty feet above the trees, traveling at the rate of 150 miles an hour. The method has been used successfully in the East on wheat and cotton, but this is said to be the first time airplanes have been used in dusting orange groves. About 10,500 pounds of sulphur will be employed in dusting 420 acres.

A. I. LASKER JURY TO BE LOCKED UP

Court Issues Order for Strict Guard in Trial of Financier on Theft Charge

Under an order issued yesterday by Judge Wilson of Superior Court, the jury in the case of A. I. Lasker, former head of the Lasker Finance Corporation, will be locked up during the remainder of the trial.

The order came as an aftermath to charges of asserted jury tampering earlier in the week which resulted in the dismissal of one of the jurors in the case. In dismissing the juror, Judge Wilson cleared his name of any assertion of misconduct. The order to lock up the jury for the balance of the case was made to prevent any possible complaint of jury tampering during the time the jurors are not actually in the jury box.

Lasker is on trial on charges of grand theft and making false entries in the books of the Lasker Finance Corporation. The case will be resumed today.

Metal Congress Hears Advance Due to Science

A revolution in the art of cutting metals was predicted yesterday by Dr. Zay Jeffries of Cleveland, president of the American Society of Steel Treating, who spoke before delegates at the Western Metal Congress in Shrine Auditorium.

Due to new tools made of carboloy, diadmondite, wedia, borium and similar substances, Dr. Jeffries said, it will be possible to cut such materials as manganese steel, bakelite and other substances which heretofore could not be machined.

Scientists were complimented on their advancement. Dr. Jeffries said the work of one group had saved the country $2,900,000,000 annually in electric-light bills by production of tungsten lamp filaments.

The convention concludes today with programs by the Society of Automotive Engineers and the American Welding Society. Late registrations brought the total delegates to 3473. The annual banquet of the American Society for Steel Treating was held last night in the Biltmore.

Wife Cut Off in Will Left by J. M. Maloney

James M. Maloney, who died on the 2nd inst. leaving an estate valued at $12,000, disinherited his wife, Ann L. Paegelow Maloney, according to his will filed for probate yesterday. Maloney was a resident of Hollywood. One paragraph of the will of the deceased says:

"I am purposely disinheriting my wife, Ann L. Paegelow Maloney, who deserted me and has been gone three years. She has money and property of her own. She is not the mother of my two sons."

Mrs. Maloney, according to the petition, resides at 400 East Fordham Road, New York.

All of the property left by Maloney, under the terms of his will, goes to his two "beloved sons," Pirie J. Maloney and James K. Maloney, 1525 Cassil Place, Los Angeles.

J. Romeo La Perle, an old friend of the deceased, is named as executor. Attorney M. R. Norcop filed the petition for him.

Five special trains on the Union Pacific, each of twelve coaches, will bring more than 1200 Montana residents to Los Angeles next Monday. The event is the annual midwinter Montana excursion to Southern California. The excursion will have fully a third more travelers than in former years.

The Union Pacific inaugurates a special round-trip fare that allows for a stay in California which will enable the return journey to be completed by midnight April 8. The tickets allow stopovers at any point in Nevada and California on the west-bound trip and at any point en route on the return.

Members of the Montana State Society will be at Central Station Monday morning when the first of the specials arrives, at 11:40 o'clock, and will remain until the last of the trains arrives after ten-minute intervals.

OPENING OF BROADWAY MADE LEGAL

Final Bars to Widening from Pico Southward to Forty-second Removed

The last legal barrier to the opening and widening of Broadway from Pico to Forty-second street was swept away yesterday when Superior Judge Burnell signed an interlocutory decree, bringing to a close the long-drawn-out case of the City of Los Angeles vs. David H. McCartney, et al.

About 200 defendants were involved in the suit, brought to determine the damages to be awarded property owners affected by the opening and widening of the thoroughfare. The project is said to involve about $2,000,000 worth of frontage. The original judgment in the case was entered by Judge Burnell several months ago, and the signing of the decree terminates the case.

According to Donald Keith, deputy City Attorney, who handled the case, all that remains now is to collect the assessments and proceed with the work, which is expected to be undertaken immediately.

LAST RITES FOR MULLEN TO BE TODAY

Pallbearers Chosen from Employees of Store of Which He Was Head

Last rites for Andrew J. Mullen, president and general manager of Mullen & Bluett, clothiers, will be conducted this morning with services at the home of Mrs. G. Allan Hancock, an aunt, at 3189 Wilshire Boulevard, and later at St. Basil's Church. The first service will be at 9:15 o'clock and the other at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Two other clothing stores, Silverwood's and Desmond's, will pay tribute to their fellow business man by closing their establishments for the funeral services, it was stated last night.

Pallbearers were selected by Mr. Mullen before his death from employees of his company, all of whom, with the exception of one, have been in the service of the store more than fifteen years. They are R. G. Cate, R. C. Halstead, Herbert Nourse, James P. Scott, Tom L. Jones, Randolph P. Jones, Reid Dunlap and Charles Baierski.

PALESTINE SOCIETY ELECTS FLEISHMAN

Mr. Fleishman has just returned from a visit to Palestine, where the society operates a loan fund to aid farmers. Other officers elected are M. S. Meyberg, J. Lowenstine and Adolph Sieroty, vice-presidents; Henry Klein, treasurer; Irving I. Turner, Samuel Tierman and Harry Fram, secretaries.

PARAMOUNT SIGNS YOUNG PLAYER

Grant Withers and Marian Nixon Chosen by Warners; M.-G.-M. Looks for Youngsters for College Film; Irene Rich is Planning to Go On Stage

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Another little girl is to have a big hand in the making of a picture. She is Adrienne Dore, who has just been signed by Lasky on a long-term contract.

ADRIENNE DORE

At present Miss Dore is playing a small featured part with Clara Bow in "A Wild Party," but so excellent is her work in this picture, and so well does her voice register, that, not only has she been signed on a long-term contract, but it is known that Paramount has some fine things in view for her.

Having been born in Idaho and educated in Seattle, Miss Dore naturally, according to the way Mme. Fate and the human powers that be appear to handle things of this sort, was chosen as Miss Los Angeles in 1925. The award won her a trip to Atlantic City, after which, on visiting New York, she got a part on Broadway in "Oh, Kay." She was seen by some F.B.O. officials, who offered her a picture chance with that organization, after which she applied to Paramount for work, and was the first girl to be chosen to support Miss Bow.

WARNERS GET LEADS FOR PRESS PICTURE

Stories of newspaper life are going to be the order of the day for the screen apparently, and Warner Brothers are planning to give James Starr's story, "Headlines," a splendid break, with Vitaphone development, and with an excellent cast.

MARIAN NIXON

Grant Withers and Marian Nixon have been chosen for the leading roles.

Withers will not be wholly at sea as a reporter, inasmuch as he formerly worked on a Colorado sheet, and his grandfather owned a string of papers. His voice is said to register excellently.

Marian Nixon has been forging ahead very fast of late, especially as it has been found that she, too, has a good recording voice.

Boscoe Karns Another Reporter

Speaking of newspaper pictures, reporters and other writers, Roscoe Karns might just as well make up his mind to settle down to the writer's life.

ROSCOE KARNS

Karns has been making a big hit in the leading role of the reporter in "The Front Page," down at the Belasco, and now he has been signed for the part of a press agent in Paramount's "The Man I Love," featuring Richard Arlen.

Pat O'Malley has likewise been signed for a featured role, that of a prize fighter in the picture.

William Wellman is directing the film, which is to be a talker.

M.G.M. Looks for Talent

It may sound like a Cinderella tale, but the fact remains that three of the best leads that have ever developed in pictures are wide open for two boys and a girl who may have had little or no previous screen experience.

Sam Wood, discoverer of Charles Rogers, Johnny Mack Brown and Anita Page, is broadcasting that he wants three more young persons with the same type of bubbling, spontaneous youth which has carried this trio to the heights. The parts Wood has to offer are not bits but leads, the big star parts of "College Days," a 100 per cent talking picture written by Al Boasberg.

The director says that he has been unable to find just the natural, human youthful types he must have to fit the title and topic of his new story. Maybe they are already in pictures, but if so they have not been called to the director's attention.

Irene Rich on Stage

If all goes well, Irene Rich will shortly make her debut on the stage of a local theater, playing the lead in a production.

IRENE RICH

Nothing definite is yet arranged, but there seems little doubt but that Miss Rich's voice will be heard by the fans, not in a picture, but in person.

Miss Rich has had some stock experience before going into pictures, and her screen popularity will doubtless be a strong drawing card.

At present Miss Rich is being starred in a Trem Carr production being made at the Mack Sennett studios, called "Shanghai Rose." Supporting her are Dick Walling, Ruth Hyatt, William Conklin and Sid Saylor. Scott Pembroke is directing.

Play for Theater Mart

"The Lighthouse," an original play in three acts and a prologue, by Alice Pike Barney, will be presented at the Theater Mart on the nights of the 23rd, 24th, 25th and 26th inst.

Olga Zacsek is to play the leading role. She is remembered for her excellent work with Reginald Pole in "The Idiot," produced at Trinity Auditorium last year.

Others who will appear are Victor Kohlberg, Tom London, Peter Richmond, Earl Hicks, Joe Legardo, Corinne Ross, Paul Spier and Peter Kirk. Ivan Christie is directing.

WOMAN CHIROPRACTOR CHARGED WITH MURDER

Florence B. Goodhue, a chiropractor, was charged with the murder of Mrs. Z. P. Mahan, who died in Roosevelt Hospital on the 10th inst. from an asserted illegal operation, according to a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Shelley. The complaint charges that the operation was performed on the 5th inst.

Heavy Penalties in Traffic Court

Jail sentences and a heavy fine were meted out in Traffic Court yesterday in three cases where liquor was asserted to have figured in accidents. Judge Swain sentenced Baldwin A. Brugeer, 960 South Ardmore avenue, to thirty days in jail. Judge McLay sent Myron C. Green, 1025 North Gramercy Place, to jail for ten days and fined Mrs. Helen Shannon, 1511 Cochran avenue, $50.

Police declared that Brugeer's car struck another at La Salle and Twentieth streets. Green's machine wrecked that of Harvey Low, 1833 North Bronson avenue, according to Deputy City Prosecutor Jack, and Mrs. Shannon figured in a crash at Florence avenue and Figueroa street.

Scientific addresses, election of new officers, talking shop and a number of entertainment features will characterize the two-day Junior National Master Photo Finishers' convention, which opens today in the Alexandria.

W. F. Honnen, president of the western division, said 300 delegates are expected. Addresses will be delivered by Fred Meyer, national president, of Portland, Or.; H. A. Cunningham of Utica, N. Y., national vice-president, and M. C. Griswold, representative of the Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y.

MRS. WANKOWSKI IMPROVES STEADILY

It was reported yesterday that Mrs. Robert Wankowski, wife of Gen. Wankowski, is improving steadily following an operation for appendicitis performed last Saturday at the Santa Monica Hospital. Gen. and Mrs. Wankowski live at Venice.

REGISTRATION OPENS MONDAY

Registration begins Monday for the Young Women's Christian Association swimming and gymnasium classes for the spring term. Classes are open for all ages from 6 to 80 years of age. The term lasts from February 1 to May 15. There will be private and group classes in swimming. Dancing lessons include clog, soft shoe, social and interpretive. Basketball, tennis and horseback riding are a few of the other features of the program.

SCHOOL OFFERS PLAY

Fairfax High School's young actors of the winter class of '29 tonight present "Capt. Applejack," an old Broadway comedy success, as their annual theatrical effort. Hugh McClanahan plays the title role. In the cast are Virginia Woodbury, Mary Caffray, Ann Prosk, Margery Charlotte Pearson, Frederick Hammel, Howard Thompson, Clifton Cowgill, Frederic Etcheverry and Stuart Durkee. Miss Araxie Jamgochian is directing.

COURSE FOR STORY WRITERS

Students of short story will learn the art of writing from Dr. Frederick T. Blanchard, chairman of the English department at the University of California, who has announced a sequel to the course in short-story writing given recently by the extension division of the University of California. The new extension course will be directed principally upon European short-story writers. The class will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday nights in Room 714 of the Hillstreet Theater Building, and will continue weekly for fifteen weeks.

"REDEEMING SIN" WILL OPEN SOON

Popular Team of Costello and Nagel Reunited for for Vitaphone Picture

The lovely Dolores Costello and the ever-popular Conrad Nagel, the duo who opened Warner Brothers' Theater almost a year ago, will be welcomed back to that house the 26th inst., when they commence a three-weeks' engagement in "The Redeeming Sin," newest of Warner Brothers' Vitaphone pictures. Miss Costello will be seen and heard in a role different from any of her previous efforts, as she will play a fiery little Parisienne whose companions are Apaches of the French underworld

The scenes are shown in the settings that range from Paris cabarets to the great sewers underneath the streets.

Nagel plays a young doctor whose heart Dolores starts out to break in revenge for a fancied hurt. She ends by falling in love with him.

Warner executives declare that this is Miss Costello's greatest role since her never to be forgotten characterization in "The Sea Beast."

The story is by L. V. Jefferson, and Howard Bretherton directed.

The cast in addition to Miss Costello and Nagel include Georgie Stone, Warner Richmond, Philippe de Lacy and Nine Quartearo.

Larry Ceballos will present one of his stage revues, and Forbstein's orchestra will play a new overture. There will also be a Vitaphone short subject.

Tropical Vistas to Fill Screen at Boulevard

"White Shadows in the South Seas," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's colorful romance of the pearl traffic in the islands, opens today at the Boulevard Theater for a week's run. Because of the popularity of the film, "White Shadows" has been moved directly to the Vermont and Washington house from Loew's State, where it closed yesterday.

On the stage Lynn Cowan presents a new revue, featuring his band, the Boulevard Girls, and West Coast variety acts.

Wolheim to be Honored Guest

Louis Wolheim, stage and screen star, will be guest of honor at the midnight performance of Lupino Lane's Music Box Revue in Hollywood. In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, Lane will stage some "ad lib" scenes from "The Hairy Ape" and "What Price Glory," stage successes in which Wolheim first gained fame.

Stars from the Orpheum, Hill-street and Pantages will also attend this midnight show, it is said, and be introduced to the audience by Lane, who will act as master of ceremonies.

"Divine Lady" Titled by Duo

Harry Carr, the "Lancer" of the Los Angeles Times, and Edwin Justus Mayer, playwright, who will be especially remembered for his "The Firebrand," wrote the titles for Corinne Griffith's production, "The Divine Lady," which is to have its world premiere at the Carthay Circle Theater immediately following the close of "The Barker," now in the final two weeks of its engagement at the Circle.

The screen adaptation of this E. Barrington novel is by Forrest Halsey. Frank Lloyd directed. The cast supporting Miss Griffith numbers such well-known names as Victor Varconi, H. B. Warner, Ian Keith, William Conklin, Marie Dressler, Dorothy Cumming, Evelyn Hall and Michael Vavitch.

Masquers Revel Sunday Evening

With Henry Clive, noted artist, as master of ceremonies, the Masquers' Club will stage its first "revel" of the new year at the club quarters on North Sycamore avenue, Hollywood, Sunday night.

Sketches by the following authors will be presented, with some of the foremost actors of stage and screen cast for important roles: Edwin Burke, Addison Burkhardt, Roy Cooper Megrue, William Cowen, Guy Coburn, Harry Tate and Wal Pink. Robert Edeson, Armand Kalis and Brandon Hurst.

"Jester" Sam Hardy announces that the list of actors appearing Sunday night includes Eddie Dowling, who just arrived from the other Broadway; Charles King, Edmund Breese, Mitchell Lewis, Earle Foxe, Robert Frazer, Craufurd Kent, Johnny Burke, John Boles, James Young, Eddie Gribbon and Montagu Love.

The "revel" is staged for Masquers only, with guests limited to 100.

Berlin Creator of Theme Song for Lupe Velez

America's greatest popular song scrivener, Irving Berlin, wrote what he considers his most beautiful love ballad when he composed "Where Is the Song of Songs for Me?" as a theme for D. W. Griffith's forthcoming picture, "Lady of the Pavements."

Miss Velez is heard in three different scenes singing "Where Is the Song of Songs for Me?" via the synchronization. This is only one of several ballads she sings in the picture, but it is carried through as the theme, and is said to heighten the drama of many situations.

Recordings of this latest Berlin waltz are just out and are already selling like the veritable caloric pastry.

"Lady of the Pavements" starts at the United Artists Theater on Wednesday.

"Desert Song" Finds New Oasis

Nora White

And a cast of favorites will bring the Romberg operetta back to town on Sunday evening. The Mayan will house the production for two weeks.

"WHOOPEE WEEK" BEGINS

Special events are planned for every night of "Whoopee Week," which begins today at Loew's State, with a new program topped by the Fox sound picture, "Let's Make Whoopee."

Lina Basquette, Follies dancer and screen star, who received her dance training in Los Angeles under Ernest Belcher, will make her first stage appearance since her rise to stardom. The dancer will be headlined all this week in Fanchon and Marco stage idea.

The latest thing in talkies—Mack Sennett's first slapstick contribution, in sound, with the comedy characters using spoken dialogue all through the two reels and exaggerated sound effects for fun purposes, is an added attraction. The comedy is called "The Lion's Roar."

The special nightly events for "Whoopee Week" include personal appearances of stars, special cabaret nights with their revue stars in person, and a collegiate and high school night.

CHOIR ADDS NEW SPIRIT TO PROGRAM

Chorales of Bach, Handel Contribute Religious Note to Orchestral Concert

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles, under the baton of Georg Schneevoigt, distinguished itself in that not unfamiliar overture to "Oberon" by Carl Maria Von Weber at the concert last night and there were also certain splendid moments of beauty in the finale of Brahms' third symphony. John Smallman's A Cappella Choir gave an excellent account of good training in the very long and difficult Bach chorale, "Sing Ye To The Lord," written for double choir and roused the multitude to an appreciative warmth through the singing of Handel's "Hallelujah," with orchestra.

The "Oberon" is one of the concert pieces the Philharmonic plays superbly if not interfered with. For Brahms it requires a master. The Brahms third does not play itself. Not until the third movement last night, did the work begin to unfold. In the subsequent climax both the conductor and the orchestra reached a magnificent frenzy of glorious sound. Here the native ability of Prof. Schneevoigt had full play. But the first movement was unutterably dull and the Andante so careless as to be a desecration.

The Bach number of unusual length, which the A Cappella Choir elected to sing at its first appearance with the orchestra, was a vocal feat. The work is one of the most interesting pieces of complex choral writing in existence and the Smallman choir sang it with joy and zest. However, it is not yet fully within its power. The voices are not toned down sufficiently and transitions are far from smooth. The faults seemed to be largely with individual voices and not within the responsibilities of their very able conductor.

When the orchestra accompanied the choir in the soul-stirring Handelin hymn of praise the effect was compelling. It is natural to regret that some other presentation of a choral work written with orchestra was not given.

The concert will be repeated this afternoon.

AUDREY FERRIS IN PERSON

Personal appearance of Audrey Ferris will be a special feature at the Uptown Theater tonight, where her starring picture, "The Little Wildcat," opens a three-day engagement. "The Little Wildcat" is a talking picture from the Warner studios, and Miss Ferris, who was a Wampas baby star of 1928, has her first starring role in the new vehicle. Monday, "Submarine," with Jack Holt, will open a four-day showing.

YOUTH FLAMES AT FIGUEROA

Modern youth in its more-flaming moments is portrayed by Alice White and Jack Mulhall in "Naughty Baby," which opens a three-day engagement at the Figueroa Theater today. The film is presented with sound effects and synchronized musical accompaniment. Monday, "The Air Circus," Fox talking picture, with Sue Carol and David Rollins, will open a four-day engagement.

"WOMANHOOD" UNDER FIRE

"Why Women Cheat," hailed as a "sensational expose of modern womanhood," has its initial Los Angeles showing at the Lincoln Theater tonight, presented by the colored Lafayette Players. Edward Thompson plays the husband and Evelyn Preer is seen in the role of the unfaithful wife.

WHAT HILLIARD IS DOING

Ernest Hilliard has just completed an important supporting role in "The Dude Ranch," starring Tom Mix for F.B.O.

Treacy Foils Doctors With Apple a Day

If there is anything in the old adage about an apple a day keeping the doctor away, then Emerson Treacy, now playing Bud Weaver in the Henry Duffy Players' production of the comedy, "Take My Advice," at the President, believes that he has the doctors beaten.

Treacy consumes not one, but three apples during each performance—which gives him an average of thirty a week.

"I'm beginning to believe that my friends are right," dryly comments Treacy, "when they tell me I am full of applesauce."

According to his own estimate, he consumed 210 apples during the run of the play in San Francisco and he is out to break that record here. "I know all the different varieties," he says, "sookums, Wenatchees, winesaps, sheepsnose, Jonathans and a dozen more. My favorite of them all, however, is that old-fashioned hard and rusty winter apple that used to give me the stomach ache when I was a boy."

PLAYLETS STAGED AT RITZ

"Burglars Prefer Twin Beds," a one-act play by Harold Shumate, well-known scenarist and playwright, will be presented by the Beverly Hills Community Players at the Ritz Theater tonight and tomorrow night. The playlet was introduced at the Writers' Club recently. "Capt. Swagger," introducing R. C. A. Photophone, is the film attraction. Rod La Rocque and Sue Carol have principal roles. The stage playlet is the first of a series to be presented at the Wilshire and La Brea house by the Beverly Players on Friday and Saturday nights.

RUTH CHATTERTON AT M.-G.-M.

Ruth Chatterton will play "Madame X" in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking version of the stage play. Lionel Barrymore will direct it. Lewis Stone will portray Floriot, the husband.

DATE GIVEN ON OPENING AT CHINESE

"Broadway Melody" Will be Heard in Premiere the 30th Inst.

Night of the 30th inst. will witness the world premiere of "The Broadway Melody," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking, singing and sound production, in Grauman's Chinese Theater, according to an announcement just made by Sid Grauman.

The spectacular opening originally was tentatively set for five days earlier, but the elaborate preparations Grauman is making to introduce the all-synchronized picturization of New York's Great White Way required additional time for completion.

Grauman for the past several days has been busily engaged in negotiating for artists to be brought here from the East to appear in the stage prologue.

Metropolitan's Four-Ply Bill Arrives Today

Colleen Moore's latest comedy, the debut of a Chicago theater organist, an unusual stage presentation and a new Marion Harris Movietone reel will be linked on the bill for the Metropolitan Theater for the six days starting today.

"Synthetic Sin" is the screen opus in which First National's black-haired comedienne is starred. It is called a perfect type of picture for Colleen, giving her ample chance to display her well-known ability for comedy. It is an adaptation of Frederic and Fanny Hatton's play of the same name directed by William Seiter, Miss Moore's director on "Happiness Ahead."

Milton Charles is the organist who will preside at the newly overhauled Wurlitzer organ. He is a recording artist and a showman of unique ability.

"Oh Teacher," is the Publix presentation which will serve to feature Ray "Rubberlegs" Bolger of Gus Edwards's revue fame and a vaudeville headliner. Henry Busse will be seen and heard in his last week as musical director and Eddie Magill, "the megaphone king," will have a new selection.

BROWN WILL PASS ON CURRENT STAGE HITS

Clarence Brown's rush trip to New York is not solely for the purpose of finding a man to play the character of Stephen Tromholt in "Wonder of Women," the director's next picture at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Coupled with that difficult task is the fact that Brown was also called to New York to view two stage plays now on Broadway with the idea that they were particularly applicable as material for him to screen following "Wonder of Women."

Brown had read manuscripts of these stage successes and was favorably impressed with them. He considered it a better policy, however, that he witness how they acted before he did anything definite. If a deal is consummated with either play it will be adapted and scenarized during the production of "Wonder of Women."

MILEAGE RECORDED— BUT WHAT OF CORNS?

"I wish I knew how many miles I walk in this show," mused Robert McWade one evening last week as the curtain fell on the final act of "Daddies," at the Hollywood Play House.

McWade no longer needs to speculate on his pedal activities in the comedy. Two nights later the entire company lined up on the stage just before the curtain went up on the first act and Doris Phillips, the 17-year-old leading woman, presented the character actor with a pedometer.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Miss Eleanor Walles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Irving Walles of Fourth avenue, has chosen Wednesday, April 17, as the date for her wedding with Artemus Dwight Lamb, the ceremony to take place at 4 p.m. in St. Paul's Cathedral, and to be followed by a reception for the bridal party, relatives and a few close friends at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Hancock Banning, in West Adams street at Grand avenue.

Miss Walles has chosen Mrs. John Thornton, sister of her fiance, as matron of honor, other attendants to include Mrs. Robert H. Edwards, Jr. (Helene Cerf,) at whose wedding she was a bridesmaid; Miss Elizabeth McArthur, Miss Helen Chandler, Miss Elizabeth Masson, Miss Alice McReynolds and Miss Jean Young, sister of Mr. Lamb, and two small cousins of the bride, Nancy Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Brown (Frieda Maw,) and Katherine Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Brown (Adele Creevy of New York.)

John Thornton will serve as best man, but the list of ushers has not yet been completed, as some of them will come from New York if possible.

Many lovely affairs have been given in honor of this popular young bride-elect, among them being the dinner with which Miss Martha Marsh entertained at the Biltmore preceding the dance given by John Bixby. Sixteen guests were bidden.

Mrs. Thornton gave a luncheon for Miss Walles and Miss Elizabeth Masson ... dinner party at which Mr. Lamb shared the honors.

Mr. Lamb is planning to take his bride to Europe for the honeymoon, and after their return they will make their home here.

There will be no affairs given for Miss Walles for several weeks, as she is quite busy getting her trousseau and making plans for the wedding.

Luncheon Party

Honoring Mrs. Sloan Orcutt, who has been the incentive for many beautifully planned affairs since her return from Europe, and an extended visit with relatives and friends in the East, Mrs. George H. Bishop entertained with a smart luncheon party Wednesday afternoon at her home in Lucerne Boulevard, covers being arranged for eighteen guests.

The decorations of spring flowers were charmingly carried out with a pink and blue motif, delphiniums and snapdragons with a profusion of ferns and tulle, and the table was lighted by tall whip candles.

Mrs. Orcutt since her return has made her home at the Langham. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are planning to leave at noon the 26th inst., for Honolulu, taking their servants and motor, and will be away for at least four months.

Smart Affair

Miss Evelyn Hamburger and her sister, Mrs. Jennie Marx, who for the past five years have made their home in Paris, but have been sojourning in California for some months, will entertain next Wednesday afternoon with a luncheon at the Women's Athletic Club in South Flower street.

In Pasadena

The Vista Del Arroyo in Pasadena has been chosen by Mrs. Ben Givens for a luncheon she is planning for Thursday afternoon, the 31st inst.

Farewell Luncheon

Mrs. Beverly Scott, who with Mr. Scott is planning to leave for Honolulu within the next month, is planning a luncheon for Friday afternoon, February 1, at the Biltmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott will return to Los Angeles from the Hawaiian Islands before leaving for their annual trip abroad.

Musicale-Tea

Invitations are being issued by Mrs. Marshall Stookey Anderson of 1838 West Duarte Road, San Gabriel, for a musicale and tea with which she is planning to honor Mrs. Julio Endelman, the affair to take place Tuesday, the 29th inst., at the Mary Louise in West Seventh street, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

At the Maryland

One of the loveliest of the season's affairs was the opening dinner and dance given Saturday evening at the Maryland in Pasadena, which although open throughout the year, always chooses a date early in the New Year for its winter opening.

D. M. Linnard, who recently took back the management of the famous hostelry, was enthusiastically welcomed when he entered the dining-room with his party of guests, the orchestra playing "Auld Lang Syne," and all the guests already seated in the room rose to their feet and gave him a big hand.

The dining-room was charming in its decorations, the walls having been entirely covered with silver cloth and wall baskets of flowers suspended at intervals, while the chandeliers were garlanded with ferns, smilax and clusters of flowers tied with great satin ribbon bows, and each table was centered with low baskets and plaques of sweet peas, roses and sprays of maidenhair ferns, nearly every State in the Union being represented by the guests assembled. Smilax roses were wound around the huge pillars and the whole presented a garden of fragrant flowers, while palms and potted plants added to the decorative scheme.

The immense lobby also was transformed into a floral garden, and after dinner a most attractive Arabian Nights program was given, after which general dancing was enjoyed till the wee sma' hours.

Many large dinner parties were given, Mr. and Mrs. Linnard having as guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wheeler Royce, Mrs. S. A. Royce of Liberty, N. Y.; Mrs. James Hackett and George Hackett of Vancouver, B. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Esberg of San Francisco, while Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nickerson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Tooker, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Joy, Otto Mears, Miss Jean Nickerson and Dick Mcorhouse.

With Mr. and Mrs. Lon F. Chapin were Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. MacLaughlin and their house guest, Mrs. H. A. Ray of Beaver, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. John Wayman, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Van Nuys, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Dilworth(Mrs. E. H. Bean, Dr. Fitch C. E. Mattison and Robert Blythe, while Mrs. Emery Holms had as her guests Capt. and Mrs. Lorenzo L. Snow, Miss Eleanor Genereaux of San Francisco, Mrs. H. B. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Bowman and Mr. O'Connor, al lof Salt Lake City, and Lieut. James Carroll of the Army Air Corps.

With Mrs. Durand Kennett were her daughter, Miss Dorothy Ellis Dunn, and a coterie of young friends, including Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Howard, Mrs. Daphne Brown, Miss Marion Campbell, Miss Mildred Preston, Gary Campbell, Herbert Van Blarcom Acker, Robert Campbell and Robert Preston, while with Miss Alice B. Strong were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, Miss Jeannette Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser, Miss Frances Strong, Ernest H. May and Fred Hogue, and with Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Jarvis were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gulick, Mr. and Mrs. Elvon Musik, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rogers, Mrs. John Why of Germantown, Pa.; Miss Carrie Frost and the hosts.

Many other large and smaller parties were given both by winter visitors and residents of both Pasadena and Los Angeles.

Afternoon Affair

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Gurdon Wallace Wattles at 1824 North Curson avenue, Hollywood, will be the scene tomorrow afternoon of a large gathering when Mrs. Wattles president of the Bureau of Vocational Service, will entertain members of that organization and their friends. Weather permitting, tea will be served in the garden, well known as one of the loveliest in California. Other members of the board of managers who will assist Mrs. Wattles in receiving will be Mrs. Frank William Davey, Miss Carmelita Rosecrans, Mrs. Watson Dean Crocker, Miss Ethel Palmer, Mrs. Gussie O. Edwards, Miss Cora E. Wilson, Dr. Marvin L. Darsie, Ben F. Pearson and J. F. T. O'Connor.

A former board member who will be present is Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, just returned to Los Angeles after two years traveling around the world. This being the annual meeting of the bureau, she will be re-elected to the board of managers, having consented to serve again because of her deep interest in the service rendered Los Angeles girls and women by the Community Chest organization.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

HIS PLAY SCHEMES

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

When it comes time to tidy the nursery floor it is taken for granted that all the playthings are to be put back on the shelves or dumped unceremoniously into the big toy box. It must seem to the child that nothing he has made or done that day is worth holding over for another.

The child's play schemes should be looked at through the eyes of the child. If a fine railroad track has been made of blocks that afternoon it might be well to let it lie overnight. It is worth stepping over carefully, for tomorrow, perhaps, the young engineer may add something to his original plan.

If it is obvious that a shoe box has become the baby doll's bed and that some miscellaneous bits of cloth have been made into sheets and blankets, doll and bed deserve the consideration of being left undisturbed for a few days until the child's interests have shifted to something else.

There are two good reasons why it is sometimes wise to sacrifice the neatness of the nursery to the child's play. The first has to do with his intellectual development. It helps him to organize his knowledge of the world and to crystallize his observations if he is encouraged to associate all his experiences in a given field in a continuous play scheme which he is allowed to develop and elaborate over a few days.

The second concerns his emotional attitude toward himself and his work. It helps his self-respect to feel that not only the work which grown-ups do counts for something, but that his own is also worthy of serious consideration. It tends to develop thoroughness, making the child less likely, when he is older, to be satisfied with sketchy and superficial methods of work.

Divorce Action Charges Denied

According to her cross-complaint filed in the divorce action brought against her by her husband, Mrs. Catherine Grant was given a big surprise by statements set forth in his petition.

In the action of the husband, L. G. Grant, he asserts that she left him in 1914 after having been married to him since 1904. The wife avers that she was still living with Grant when he filed his suit.

Mrs. Grant also takes her husband to task for his assertion that there is no community property. She says there are several barber shops, an expensive car, stocks and bonds and several thousand dollars in cash that can be classed as community property.

Ebell Club

Senator Piles addressed several hundred women of Los Angeles Ebell yesterday on: "Colombia the Beautiful."

Appointed as ambassador to Colombia where he served for six years under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, Senator Piles accumulated a wealth of information on the life of the educated class living in the southern republic.

"One of the startling surprises I had while in Bogota, the capital," Piles stated, "was to find how many beautiful and charming women there were embued with all the graces and feminine looks that we expect, in Paris, Vienna, Florence, but are not prepared for in South America. They spoke English fluently, French and Spanish also. They knew how to entertain. They had received their education in Europe. They wore the smartest Parisian frocks. To be entertained by these women made up the happiest days of my life," the ex-ambassador stated.

Officers Elected

There is a little group of women, growing ever smaller, that in these busy days are seldom noted in their activities. Time was when they were all and all among women of the United States, and it was from their group that the woman's club movement started. I refer to the Women's Relief Corps of the Grand Army of the Republic. To pick lint to make bandages, to cook food and send it to the Union soldiers in the Civil War—these and a hundred and one other tender ministrations were their missions. They in their hooped skirts and beribboned hair to whom the "boys" referred as they marched away singing "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Bartlett-Logan Post No. 6, Grand Army of the Republic and Bartlett-Logan Woman's Relief Corps, No. 7, conducted a joint installation and reception for their officers at Patriotic Hall one day this week. It was a beautiful sight to see here in California far away from the scenes of their war activities, these staunch and true patriots all of them well beyond the three-score and ten, happy in their social life together. Col. R. C. Martin, past department commander of the Department of California and Nevada was installing officer and Mrs. Jessie Ford, past president of the relief corps, assisted.

Mrs. Van Ness Leavitt, sister of Herbert Hoover was the honor guest and was presented with a basket of gorgeous flowers. Mrs. Mary Peterson presided as chairman of entertainment and those whom she presented to appear upon the program were relatives of members of the G.A.R. or W.R.C. They included little Lorea Newhall of Venice in dance numbers, and Mrs. Sara Swepston, vocalist.

The retiring president, Mrs. Belle Barrett, was the recipient of many gifts, among them being a handsome watch from the corps and a bridge lamp from her officers.

Newly elected officers of the W. R. C. are Mrs. May Hepburn, president; Mrs. Alma Kleindinst, senior vice-president; Mrs. Emma Kinner, junior vice-president; Mrs. Leah La Mont, secretary; Mrs. Ella Pierce, chaplain; Mrs. Maude Butterfield, conductor; Mrs. Helen Aldrich, assistant conductor; Mrs. Margaret Gregory, guard; Miss Addie Adams, assistant guard; Mrs. Gertrude Langdon, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Mary Skelton, press; Mrs. Lucy Weston, first color-bearer; Mrs. Agnes Hopkins, Mrs. Nell McCombs and Mrs. Anna Dunlevy, second, third and fourth color-bearers; Mrs. Mary Peterson, musician, and Mrs. Rhoda Gibson, treasurer.

California Federation

Mrs. Edward H. Jacobs, chairman of the department of motion pictures for the California Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside this morning at a conference in the Boulevard Theater at 10 o'clock. The speakers will be Rabbi Magnin and Mrs. W. A. Littlefield.

The meeting is being held in the interest of the junior matinees and both speakers will discuss the subject of suitability of pictures for children at these matinees at West Coast theaters. Following the business session, members of the federation will attend a theater party at the Boulevard to see "White Shadows in the South Seas" when Monte Blue will be present as he will also at the conference.

Daughters of American Revolution

Mrs. Jesse H. Shreve, junior past State regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution for California, has been nominated for the office of reporter-general on the ticket headed by Mrs. Julius Young Talmadge, whom the State of Georgia D.A.R. has nominated for the office of president-general. Mrs. Daisy Talmadge Pitts of Georgia, sister-in-law of the candidate for the chief office, was a guest of honor at the council of regents of California conducted at the Alexandria Tuesday.

Mrs. Emmet H. Wilson, State vice-regent, Mrs. Theodore Jesse Hoover of Palo Alto being chief, presided at the meeting and announced that the "Pioneer Mother" statue with which the D.A.R. is marking old trails will be placed at Upland to mark the pioneer roads in that vicinity. Ceremonies will be conducted February 1 when many distinguished throughout California will be present.

Mrs. W. E. Wright, chairman of Indian welfare, recounted recent indignities to the California Indian and made a plea for the women to unite against further abuses of the "first Americans" who live in this State. Mrs. Wright introduced two Indian women prominent in club and welfare work, Mrs. May Montanya and Mrs. Jeanne L'Strange Cappell, both of whom spoke briefly.

Mrs. Haden Guest, British author and accomplished harpist, has become interested in aviation and recently completed her first solo flight.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy
author of "The First Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday:

Sunday—Breakfast: Waffle, crisp bacon, stewed figs. Lunch: Potato on the half shell, spinach, celery and ripe olives. Dinner: Celery soup, baked chicken or Belgian hare, string beans, salad of grated raw carrots, pineapple snow.

Monday—Breakfast: Coddled eggs, retoasted cereal biscuit, stewed prunes. Lunch: Cooked carrots and peas, stuffed celery. Dinner: Broiled steak, oyster plant, cooked lettuce, salad of chopped raw cabbage, jello or jell-well with cream.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Retoasted breakfast food with cream (no sugar,) stewed apricots. Lunch: Cornmeal muffins, string beans, raw celery. Dinner: Broiled mutton chops, baked ground beets, tomato-spinach-asparagus salad, baked pear.

Wednesday—Breakfast: Poached eggs on Melba toast, broiled ham, stewed raisins. Lunch: Raw apples, all desired, with peanut butter (eaten bread and butter fashion.) Dinner: Vegetable soup, roast beef, mashed turnips, stewed tomatoes, salad of raw celery, *small dish of junket.

Thursday—Breakfast: Cottage cheese, toasted shredded wheat biscuit, applesauce. Lunch: Baked squash, salad of molded vegetables (cucumber, celery, parsley.) Dinner: Roast pork, oyster plant, spinach, McCoy salad, baked apple.

Friday—Breakfast: French omelet, whole-wheat muffins and butter. Lunch: Boiled rice, string beans, salad of chopped raw cabbage and celery. Dinner: Broiled halibut, baked egg plant, boiled beets, sliced tomatoes, no dessert.

Saturday—Breakfast: Grapefruit, all desired. Lunch: Macaroni, spinach, head lettuce. Dinner: Vegetable soup, salisbury steak, cooked celery, baked parsnips, salad of cold cooked asparagus (canned,) jello or jell-well with whipped cream.

*Junket tablets may be purchased in any grocery store. They are a form of rennet, the chief importance of which, from a food standpoint, is the property of coagulating milk. A wholesome and delicious dessert or noonday lunch may be made by dissolving one of the tablets in a little cold water and adding to lukewarm milk that has been sweetened with a little honey or maple syrup, which imparts a delicate flavor.

A convenient way of preparing is to measure out a pint of sweet milk into a quart bottle and let stand in warm water until the milk is lukewarm. Measure into the milk four scant teaspoonfuls of honey or maple syrup, replace the cap on the bottle and shake vigorously until thoroughly mixed, then add the dissolved junket tablet and shake again for a few seconds. Pour into individual molds and let stand undisturbed until coagulation takes place, then place in the ice box or other cool place until ready to serve. For a change, raisins may be used in place of the honey or syrup. Simply prepare the milk as directed and pour into the molds, adding a few raisins to each mold. This fruit furnishes enough fruit sugar to give the desired sweet taste without the honey or syrup.

These measurements make four generous portions.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

RUBBING OIL ON BODY

Question: A. M. writes: "Twice a week I have been rubbing pure olive oil on my body. The reason is merely that it is restful and I have an idea that it would keep my skin healthy. Is there any possibility of injury to the skin or of growing hair?"

Answer: There can be no danger in your rubbing the olive oil on your body providing you also take a daily sponge or shower bath to remove any oil residue which would become rancid if not removed soon enough. Rub the oil on after you have taken your bath.

ARE THESE FATTENING?

Question: M. S. writes: "Would like to know if Melba toast is fattening if eaten without butter. Also would like to know if berries are fattening if eaten without cream or sugar."

Answer: The dextrin of Melba toast is considered just as fattening as the starch of the bread before being toasted. The only thing which can be considered fattening about berries is the sugar they contain, but if the only sugar you use is that which you get from toast or berries, you need have no fear about gaining too much weight.

DISLOCATED BONES

Question: I. W. writes: "Will you please tell me through your question and answer column what I could do with my bones? I am 21 years of age, have had a dislocated knee, also a jaw bone. This is all on the left side and my bones crack every time I move and they still go out."

A.: I would advise you to consult an osteopath and also change your diet so that you eat plenty of foods containing the mineral elements needed to grow strong bones.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

To Thin Batter

Should the cake batter seem too stiff, beat an egg and add a bit at a time until the batter is of the consistency desired. Never pour in milk to thin a batter; it will result in poor cake.

Hard Butter

In winter the butter is usually very hard and the only way to cut a nice even slice is to wrap a piece of waxed paper over the knife and then cut through the butter. It will then cut perfectly smoothly.

Once Each Day

Instead of sweeping the kitchen floor in between scrubbings, make a heavy flannel bag for your broom and go over the floor with this each day. You will find the number of scrubbings greatly diminished.

Will Keep Better

Put the leftover soup in a china or earthenware bowl. Do not keep it in the aluminum of metal vessel in which it was cooked. It is not wholesome and is very apt to change the flavor.

A Stamp Holder

Paste an envelope in the top of your box of stationery to hold stamps. Then you will not have a wild search for them when some one is waiting to mail your letter.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

OVERFEEDING TINY BABY VERY BAD POLICY

Mrs. O. M. writes: "I wish you would give me some advice on these questions. My baby boy is 3 months of age and weighs fourteen pounds. I nurse him about every three hours and I give him three ounces of sugar water, one teaspoonful of ——— food in three ounces of water and one teaspoonful of orange juice mixed with three ounces of water. Is this the right amount of orange juice? Am I giving it the right way? Shall I increase the amount of orange juice?

"He is a healthy and happy boy, only he has diarrhea. He has had it all the time. Will orange juice make it worse? Is there anything I can give him that will stop it?"

Answer: In the first place, stop the ——— food and sugar water right away. Those are the probable causes of the diarrhea. A nursing baby, one who weighs fourteen pounds at 3 months of age, is in no need of extra food, and if he were it wouldn't be the things you are giving him. Sugar is very laxative and all the carbohydrate foods are, too, so these are causing the diarrhea, I feel very sure.

The orange juice is being given all right and you can increase by teaspoonfuls up to the juice of half an orange by six months. If it is given directly before a bottle it will not be as laxative as if given one hour before one.

Babies do not need sugar in their drinking water. Sugar is a food. It is not a flavoring. Water is to quench a baby's thirst as well as to supply his fluid needs, and in the case of some nursing babies getting a lot of breast milk there isn't a great deal of water needed. You are using nine ounces a day, which is a lot.

Nurse not oftener than once in three hours. "About" every three hours has a most irregular sound.

Mrs. A. F. S. writes: "So many mothers have trouble keeping baby covered at night. This is my method. His nightie is very long and draws together with a string at the bottom. I draw up bottom and then fasten to the bed with strings. He can turn over but cannot pull his feet up over the blankets. I fasten these on both sides of the bed, leaving them loose enough so he can turn over easily. He is never cold. I pin a blanket on the side of his crib to keep off the drafts from his window."

partment of Commerce, in picking a field. Elliott arrived from the East yesterday by plane and also is a guest at the Biltmore. He is superintending the installation of lights and radio equipment the Department of Commerce is assisting the Transcontinental Air Transport Company in placing along its route.

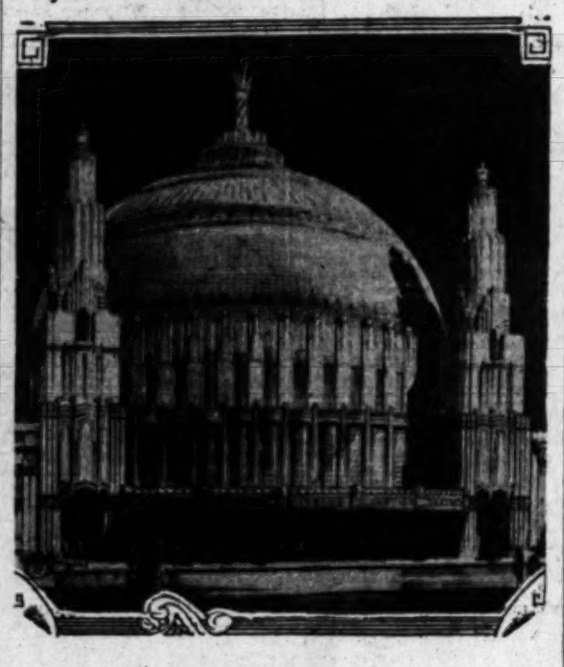
Both Elliott and Maj. Lamphier declare that night flying over the route is safe and in time the transport company undoubtedly will be able to bring Los Angeles within thirty-six hours of New York, including a night train trip between Columbus, O., and New York, and an allowance of more than six hours for stops to rest and feed passengers.

The first operations probably will start soon after June 1, next, and will be based on a forty-eight-hour trip schedule with passengers spending two nights on trains, according to Lamphier.

The major predicts that within three years all first-class mail will be carried by airplanes. He expressed himself as being very glad to reach Los Angeles and have an opportunity to "thaw out." He said that he nearly froze while flying over Illinois.

UNIQUE STRUCTURE PROJECTED

City of Stars to Get Planetarium



As Architect Sees Proposed Building

PLANS for a $1,750,000 market, garage and planetarium to be built on the south side of Hollywood Boulevard near Highland avenue, were announced yesterday by C. E. Toberman, real estate broker and developer. Morgan, Walls & Clements, architects and engineers, have completed plans and specifications for the structure.

A large dome, to rise 100 feet, will top the structure, which will be of unique architecture and extend through the block to Hawthorne avenue and along this thoroughfare from Highland avenue to McCadden Place.

The enterprise will serve the citizens of Hollywood and vicinity with an all inclusive market and shopping center combined with a garage which will accommodate more than 500 cars. As a focal point of interest for the metropolitan area and the west as well, the building will house the first planetarium to be installed west of the Mississippi River.

The planetarium is of educational value and will bring to all those who visit the domed lecture hall on the second floor an interesting view of the heavens. The dome is hemispherical in shape, having a white inner surface, and in the center there is an optical projection apparatus which throws on the inside of the dome images of the sun, moon, all of the planets and the 4500 stars that are visible to the naked eye, including the Milky Way. These projected images move as the real bodies appear to move in the sky.

RECEIVER ASKED IN MYSTERY

Wife of Missing Ontario Millionaire Appeals to Court After Vain Search

Unable to locate her husband, Charles Frankish, millionaire and former resident of Ontario, after making a world-wide search for him, Mrs. Sari B. Frankish appeared before Presiding Superior Judge Keetch late yesterday, asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of his property.

Supported by affidavits to the effect that she has conducted a futile search for her husband throughout the United States, Canada and Europe, Mrs. Frankish's petition asserts that his property is in the hands of relatives who are not looking after her interests properly.

Mrs. Frankish filed a suit for separate maintenance against her husband last spring. She asserted that Frankish gave her strychnine instead of sleeping tablets and then refused to call a doctor. She also accused him of deserting her.

In her plea for the appointment of a receiver to handle Frankish's property until he can be located Mrs. Frankish asserts her husband's relatives are hostile toward her.

GRAND JURY CHOSEN FOR THIS MONTH

Twenty-three Men Named to Federal Body Which Indicts Score First Sitting

Twenty-three men were selected yesterday by United States District Judge James to serve on the January Federal grand jury. The selection was made from thirty-six persons who appeared out of a venire of seventy-five. After the jurors were sworn in they went into a session that lasted until late in the evening. The jury returned indictments against twenty-two persons, one being secret.

The jurors selected are Fred W. Beau de Zart, foreman; Earl Armstrong, E. J. Badham, Alex T. Bagley, Harry S. Bottsford, J. A. Bullard, Theodore R. Cadwallader, Richard J. Mier, Leland F. Dolley, Edgar Lloyd Hampton, F. R. Harris, Alex McKiegan, B. O. Miller, Raymond S. Masson, Alan E. Morphy, Francis Moulton, Francis S. McCarry, Edward Y. Partridge, Leland B. Lewis, John R. Swan, R. E. Vandervoort, Elmer T. Wadewitz and Homer B. Wright.

Scenario Chief Returns After Sojourn in East

Firmly convinced that producers will have to look to original story writers for material for talking pictures, Edward J. Montagne, scenario editor-in-chief for Universal studios, yesterday returned after an absence of several months in the East. Montagne, accompanied by Curtis Benton, scenarist, has been scouring the eastern market for stage plays suitable for the sound films.

EDWARD J. MONTAGNE

"The current successful stage plays are almost nil," said Montagne. "Moreover, those embodying a semblance of an idea that would lend itself to the screen are held for exorbitant prices."

Woman Sought in Death Case Gives Self Up

Sought on warrants charging murder and manslaughter, Mrs. Florence B. Goodhall, 48 years of age, of 2318 West Washington Boulevard, yesterday surrendered to the Central homicide squad. She was accompanied by counsel, George F. Rankin, and gave herself up to Detective Lieutenant Jones.

Mrs. Goodhall is a chiropractor. Municipal Judge Lewis P. Russill yesterday issued two warrants for her arrest, charging that on the 3rd inst. she performed an illegal operation on Mrs. Z. P. Mayhan of South Gate. The latter died in Roosevelt Hospital on the 10th inst. Two days later a Coroner's jury recommended that Mrs. Goodhall be held in connection with the death. Issuance of warrants followed an investigation by W. Byrne of the State Medical Board. Mrs. Goodhall was locked up in the County Jail.

Cooking Session to Fill Requests

The recipes that Mrs. Mabelle (Chef) Wyman will demonstrate during her cooking session today at 1:30 p.m. in the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway, are all numbers for which there have been many requests, and include candied sweet potatoes, hominy loaf, cheese cake, lemon meringue pie and Russian turnovers.

There has been a popular demand for unbaked fruit cake and Mrs. Wyman will tell her class how to make it at this time.

ILLINOIS PICNIC PLANNED

Henry J. Brubaker, president of the Illinois Society in Los Angeles, has issued a call for all Illinoisans to attend the picnic reunion tomorrow at Sycamore Grove. The basket dinner will be followed at 2 p.m. by an entertainment program. Headquarters and registers for each county will be maintained.

BRANCH RADIO OFFICE OPENED

Chapple Heads Los Angeles Wireless Division

Broadcast Work Only Part of Official Duty

Examinations for Operators to Be Given Weekly

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

The Los Angeles branch of the sixth district, Department of Commerce radio division, the headquarters of which is located in San Francisco, is now "open to the public."

It is at the new City Hall in Room 317 where the telephone number is MEtropolitan 5200, local 330, and is in charge of James M. Chapple, assistant radio inspector.

Five days a week he goes down to the harbor at noon to check the radio apparatus of ships and each Tuesday he holds examinations at 9 a.m. for amateurs and commercial operators. This schedule will be followed through the year, with the exception of holidays.

CHANGES IN EXAMS

There have been several changes recently in the issuing of licenses. Men must now have had twelve months of service on sea or land before taking the examination for a commercial license, first class.

The commercial, second class, cannot qualify for chief operator on ships clearing for foreign ports.

Commencing about February 1, examinations will be conducted in San Diego, and thereafter at intervals of approximately three months.

Part of the duties of the new office include the checking of Southern California radio stations to see that they keep on their assigned frequencies.

This is done for each station three nights a week from a point outside of the city. Later, when other scientific equipment is added to the office, it is probable that this will be done from the City Hall.

Mr. Chapple reports that all of the stations in this county are on their specified wave lengths, with the exception of three transmitters which are a trifle wobbly.

TRADES GROUP HELPS

They are still within the allowance given by law, but each station is now at work on the problem of keeping exactly on its own frequency.

The local branch office finds that its broadcast activity is but a part of the varied duties. However, when fans report interference the office will do its best to iron out the difficulties.

Whenever the interference is electrical it will be turned over to the interference committee of the Radio Trades Association, as the Department of Commerce radio division is not allowed by law to look after that class of trouble.

If the interference is caused by amateur operators, that comes within the scope of the local branch.

Mr. Chapple was at one time radio inspector at Norfolk, Va., after which he left government service to engage in commercial activity. Later he returned to the Federal service and for the past year has been an assistant inspector at San Francisco, losing seniority rights when he resigned to go into business.

Rider Favorites in Polo Skirmish

Hitchcock's Team Will Play Here Next Week

BY FRANK ROCHE

The San Mateo Blue polo riders and the Midwick Country Club's Purple four will clash today on the Midwick turf in the third game on the Southland mallet program. The Blue riders will gallop on the field slight favorites because of their thrilling victory over the Purple horsemen last Sunday in an overtime game. The San Mateo mallet swingers copped the tilt last Sunday by a 10-to-9 score. Today the Purple team has been revamped and the local players expect to reverse the order of things by trimming the Blue polo squad.

CURTIS G. SHAW

LINEUPS CHANGE LINE-UP

The Purple team will line up today with James Bedrero at No. 1 in place of Charles Wrightsman. Hal Roach will ride at No. 2; Teddy Roach at No. 3 and Dr. Harry Wilson at back. The San Mateo squad remains the same as usual with Curtis Shaw at No. 1; George Howard at No. 2; Lindsey Howard at No. 3 and Dick Schwerin at back. The San Mateo riders will remain here for one more game after today's contest. They will clash with the Midwick Whites on Sunday in a rematch. The team led by Neil McCarthy romped away to a 10-to-3 victory in the opening game of the polo season over the Blues. The San Mateo riders believe they will get even for that defeat when they battle the Whites on Sunday.

Shaw is one of the most colorful in low-goal circles. He was winners last year of the Coast championships and were runners-up in the play-off at Cleveland.

There have been one change in the lineup this season and it is a significant one. Old Hugh Drury, veteran man of polo, who led his team to fame nationally, has retired from active competition. His place is taken by a new man, Dick Schwerin, well known Midwick and Del Monte player.

It is not known definitely whether the polo days are over, but if they have been one of its most colorful members. Drury has been active in polo picture since before

Trojan Greek Track Meet on Today

With 770 entries in the seventeen different events on the program, the annual University of Southern California intrafraternity track meet is scheduled for 3 o'clock in the Coliseum today. Kappa Sigma, defending champion, is a slight favorite to repeat. Each Greek-letter organization carries the colors of a sorority into the affair. Coach Dean Cromwell rules out all varsity, freshmen and ineligibles of known ability, which permits the rest of the male population of the university to run wild for honor and glory. Frequently the Trojan coach uncovers some promising material in these affairs, and he expects to be on particular lookout today for distance men and quartermilers.

BRUIN FIVE TO TAKE ON BEAR SQUAD

U.C.L.A. Line-up Changed by Caddy Works; Teams Meet Tonight, Tomorrow

With every intention of knocking the University of California Golden Bears off of the top of the Pacific Coast Conference basketball standings, fourteen Bruin cagers, accompanied by Coach Caddy Works, left here last night from Glendale for Berkeley, where the University of California at Los Angeles five will play two court games with California tonight and tomorrow night.

CADDY WORKS.

Still smarting from the 34-to-20 defeat received at the hands of Stanford last Saturday night at Palo Alto, the Bruins will attempt to start a first-class fracas in the Bear family tonight in an effort to cop the first game of the series.

The inability of the U.C.L.A. defense and offense to function with any degree of skill in the Stanford game has resulted in some revolutionary changes in the Bruin line-up that will be presented for California's inspection. Capt. Sammy Bulter, a guard, has been shifted to his

"Peaches" Headley Starts Rally Which Brings Win to Locals, 5 to 2

The Hollywood Millionaires maintained their lead in the California Ice Hockey League last night by defeating the San Francisco club, 5 to 2, at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. It was anybody's game until the final four minutes of play, when "Peaches" Headley, star defense man of the locals, started a rally, which swept the visitors off their feet.

Ward opened the scoring in the first period, when he tallied twice for Hollywood. Giroux, star of the Seals, scored once for his club in this stanza. Westwick tied the count with a San Francisco score in the second period while Hollywood went scoreless.

After sixteen minutes of play in the final stanza, Headley broke loose and tallied. Smith and Peltier followed in quick succession and the game was developing into a rout when time was called.

The same two clubs play again Monday night.

DON KENNEDY DEFEATS GODINEZ AT PASADENA

LA NATIVIDADS AND UNION OILERS TIE

The La Natividads and the Union Oil hockey teams played a 2-to-2 tie at the Palais De Glace last night. Result of the game left the two teams tied for the leadership of the league, inasmuch as they were already in this position before the clash started.

All the scores came in the second period, Wells and Miles tallying for La Natividads and Hayden and Marion for the Oilers.

TELEPHONE GIRLS BEST

The girls' basketball team of the Southern California Telephone Company defeated the Woodbury College quintet, 22 to 15, yesterday at Jefferson High School. Johnson starred for the winners with Jensen playing a good game for the losers.

CARDS DUE TOMORROW

Revamped Stanford Quintet Plays Trojan Tossers in One Game at Olympic

BY BRAVEN DYER

Packing a real threat, the Stanford University basketball team arrives in Los Angeles tomorrow morning to play Leo Calland's Trojan tossers at the Olympic the same evening.

For the first time in many years the Redshirts are blazing the way in the Pacific Coast Conference race. That is they are undefeated and technically tied with California for first honors. This is the cause of no small amount of rejoicing on the part of Stanford rooters, who haven't been able to rejoice very loudly over basketball victories since the days of Nip McHose and Ernie Nevers.

COACH "HUSKY" HUNT

It will be quite a home-coming evening for many of the Stanford players. The big star of the team this year is Vance Fawcett, former Hollywood High School youth who also starred for the Hollywood Athletic Club. Fawcett is playing a great game at forward for the Cards.

Jim Mears, another former Foothiller, alternates with Johnny McCandless at center. McCandless is also a local boy, hailing from Inglewood High School.

Then there's Capt. Harlow Rothert, who got his preliminary education at Los Angeles High School. Capt. Rothert didn't set the world on fire with his athletic achievements at the Roman Institution but has been a "wow" a Stanford. He blossomed out into a first-class shot putter and has also done yeoman service on the gridiron. Rothert is playing guard on Coach Husky Hunt's quintet, Mike Reynolds, up from last year's frosh outfit, fills the other guard berth.

Harry Berg, a veteran from last season, has been playing forward along with Fawcett. The two make a mean combination.

Outcome of tomorrow night's

ELKS PLAN BIG SPORT CARNIVAL

Stadium Holding 20,000 to be Built for Event Scheduled in May

The Los Angeles Elks' Lodge, No. 99, will sponsor a national sports exhibition during the second week in May, which will launch the first indoor track and field program ever staged in Southern California. The announcement of the meet was made yesterday by Exalted Ruler Jack Doyle, well-known sportsman.

JACK DOYLE

The Elks plan to hold their sports exposition in a specially constructed building at Washington and Hill streets. An athletic stadium with a seating capacity for 20,000 persons will be constructed by the Elks. An eight-lap track will be laid out for the athletic carnival in which the leading athletes on the Pacific Coast will be invited to take part.

The Elks intend to stage Pacific Coast and Southern California championships in all branches of athletics for schools, colleges, clubs and other organizations.

The world's leading athletic stars will be invited to give exhibitions under the supervision of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Educational displays featuring aeronautics, motor boats, outdoor recreations, governmental forestry and fish and game exhibits will make up part of the sports exposition, it was announced. Six hundred booths will be provided for national and local exhibitors. The receipts will go to the Elks' charity fund, Mr. Doyle announced.

The dates for the exposition were announced as May 9 to May 19.

FRENCH UNDECIDED ABOUT SENDING OLYMPIC TEAM HERE

PARIS, Jan. 19. (AP)—"Shall France send an Olympic team to Los Angeles in 1932?" is a question that Match, the most widely read sporting weekly in France, has asked of fifty prominent athletic officials.

The answer has been "no" seven times out of ten but the matter is far from being decided. Although most of the officials believe the expense of the long journey is too great, Count Clary, president of the French Olympic committee and Frantz-Reichel, its secretary and the organiser of the 1924 Olympic games at Paris, have answered affirmatively. The conclusion drawn by the paper is that the financial difficulties will be overcome and a team numbering probably 20 or 25 will represent France in California.

LIGHT-HEAVY CHAMPION IS SEEKING TRIO OF BOUTS

Anxious to Tackle 'Bulldog' Before Hudkins Gets Chance; to Train for Emanuel Ring Tilt

BY KAY OWE

Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, is almost certain to box Mickey Walker before Walker tackles Ace Hudkins. This was indicated yesterday when Matchmaker Wad Wadhams of the Olympic sounded out Kearns and Walker regarding such a bout.

Lichtenstein to be Buried in New York

The body of Larney Lichtenstein, nationally known sportsman and manager of boxers, who died Wednesday evening at Hollywood Hospital from an infection of the neck, will be shipped to New York today for burial. Lichtenstein's nearest relative, a sister named Mrs. P. E. Sheid, who resides in New York, will have charge of the funeral.

Lichtenstein managed many outstanding fighters during his long career in sports. Jimmy Clabby, Ad Wolgast, Tony Caponi, Eddie Gooseman and Lou Rollinger all were handled by Lichtenstein at one time. Larney managed Wolgast after Ad had seen his best days.

Lichtenstein, who was in his fifty-ninth year, started his career as a soft-shoe dancer in Chicago when he was a boy. He began his sports career by managing wrestlers, but later turned to the boxing game. At the time of his death he had Baby Joe Gans, local junior welterweight, who is one of the leading contenders for the title.

Loughran heads for Los Angeles today and will arrive here next Tuesday to train for the Armand Emanuel classic on February 5. He is accompanied by his manager, Joe Smith, and his trainer.

Tommy Loughran

In a long-distance call with Smith the Olympic matchmaker learned that Loughran wants to fight two and probably three fights on the Coast while he is here.

Kearns and Walker are keener for a Loughran fight than they are for Hudkins. This is naturally true.

TWO TITLES

Walker is defending the middleweight title if he fights the Wildcat. He is defending nothing and has a chance to win the 175-pound championship of the world if he meets Loughran.

"I've got several surprises to announce when Loughran gets out here for the Emanuel fight," says Kearns.

"The Pacific Coast is going to see some great fights staged here this year. Walker and I are interested in everything—Colima, Hudkins, Loughran or anybody else the promoters can get for us.

"Walker is going to fight oftener this year, and he will hold two titles before many more months roll by.

"Why, Micky thinks he can lick all these heavyweights around the country, too. He weighs as much as Fitzsimmons—and old Fitz did it."

Emanuel boxed Harry Dillon in Minneapolis last night and will be back in Los Angeles by next Tuesday. It so happens he may arrive the same day as Loughran.

PLAN TRAINING

In the absence of the Emanuels Tommy Maloney, first lieutenant for the stable, is making plans for Armand's training.

Charley Emanuel thought when he left here he wanted an outdoor camp for his boy. Maloney has several spots lined up for the Jewish fighter, who expects to prove himself against the light-heavy champion.

"Armand has great confidence in himself to defeat Loughran," says Maloney. "He was afraid of

Emanuel Wins Eastern Bout From Dillon

Roy Michaelson, Minneapolis, 150, knocked out Red Carr, Winnipeg, in the second round of a scheduled six-round fight. Carr weighed 149.

Jimmy Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweight, won an easy six-round bout over Tommy Haval, Pine City.

"THINK of it, Dick! Dad told me that if I pass in math, I can have that suit I saw at Oviatt's. There's nothing I want more. It's one of those tan imported shetlands and you can bet I'm going to do plenty of cramming from now 'till time for exams."

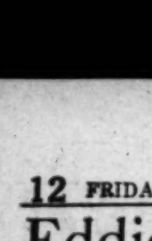
The last of a series of elimination trials in the middleweight division will be staged tonight at the Hollywood American Legion stadium and the winner meets Bert Colima for the Pacific Coast championship. Homer Sheridan, having made better progress in the last few months, is favored over Eddie Gill.



HOMER SHERIDAN

Fight fans believe Colima and Sheridan would play to a capacity house. The Mexican has long claimed the Coast title, but now it is disputed by Homer Sheridan because Homer stayed Joe Cordoza, who Colima fought to a draw. Many believe Cordoza really beat the Mexican. It took Sheridan four rounds to flatten Cordoza. Sheridan also beat Roy Moore by a bigger margin than did Colima. That is why the fans want to see Colima and Sheridan.

Reports have been circulated that Sheridan was trying to duck the Gill fight because Eddie floored him in a gymnasium workout. Sheridan laughs that off by saying he will prove tonight that he has had nothing to worry about and he will dispose of Gill just as he did Mike Hector and Cordoza, both of whom fight just like Gill. All the ringside seats are about sold, which proves that the regulars are planning on being present to see the slugging match.

There should be lots of action on the Hollywood bill. Jackie Mandell has been a big winner for more than a year. He meets a tough lad from San Diego tonight in Ray Montoya. This pair of bantamweights will probably cram more action into six rounds than any other fighters on the bill tonight. Mandell is the favorite.

Carmen Tuzzalino is attracting attention because the Italian boy has the reputation of being a socker. He shows signs of being one of the best lads discovered in months. In two professional fights he has scored a pair of knockouts. Tuzzalino was good enough as an amateur to make the American Olympic team last summer.

The pair of four-rounders feature Herman Brunden and Al Andrade, middleweights, in the second spot and Frankie Abendino and Leonard Bennett, lightweights, in the curtain-raiser.

most of the players on the Blue team were bored. He has been one of the most picturesque figures that polo has ever seen.

PUPILS OF DRURY

Kenneth Walsh, George Pope and Lindsey Howard were all taught the game of polo by Drury. They have made good pupils, as Midwick players can testify. Schwerin is the only member of the team who has not been a Drury pupil.

With the arrival of the Australian team on Sunday and the coming of the Rancho San Carlos riders next week, polo at Midwick is expected to enjoy its greatest year. The Australian team, composed of Capt. Stuart Pierson, Curtis Skeene, Fred Beverage, Walter Dillingham and Edward Baldwin, shipped forty-eight ponies here from "down under." The ponies traveled 6000 miles in order to play here.

The ponies had a special section of the ship reserved for them on the journey to the States. One hundred and twenty-five tons of sand was distributed on the deck so that the ponies could be exercised.

POLO MASCOT

Among the ponies from Australia is a mascot named Peggy, which is the smallest pony in the world.

The Australians will swing into action on the fifth of next month. They will play in high-goal games.

Tommy Hitchcock, the world's greatest player, is expected here one week from Sunday. Hitchcock will play with the San Carlos team. Capt. Forrester and Capt. Woolfort, two English stars, will play with the San Carlos team. Arden Roark, brother of the famous English international back, and George Gordon Moore make up the rest of the San Carlos squad. Hitchcock will not play until a week from Sunday. The others will play at Midwick on Wednesday and Friday of next week.

The line-ups today:

Midwick Purples		San Mateo Blues
Brodero	No. 1	Walsh
Roach	No. 2	Pope
Miller	No. 3	Howard

FIRST AND GREATEST FIGHT STAGED BY TEX RICKARD WAS NELSON'S BATTLE WITH GANS

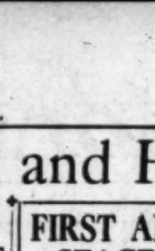
This is the only autobiography written by Tex Rickard. It was prepared in collaboration exclusively by The Times and The North American Newspaper Alliance. Shortly before Rickard's death he discussed with Bulger plans for publication of these memoirs in book form. Following is the tenth installment of the autobiography, which is appearing in daily chapters.

BY TEX RICKARD
(In Collaboration With Bozeman Bulger.)

Written exclusively for The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance

(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

I was sitting in my office at Goldfield reading a newspaper when my eye came across an item about a fight between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson and the chances of finding a place to hold it.



TEX RICKARD

Always I have been a reader of newspapers and I have made a point of reading them all the way through. Up to the moment my eye fell on that item I had never so much as thought of even seeing a prize fight—a big one, I mean.

All of us had a great pride in Goldfield as a town and had tried numerous means of getting outsiders interested.

On the spur of the moment I threw the paper aside, walked over to the telegraph office and sent a message to Nolan, the manager of Battling Nelson.

"How much would you want to hold the Gans-Nelson fight in Goldfield?" I wired.

It never had occurred to me to consult others up to that time. My training in Alaska had taught me to act on my own and do it quietly.

PUTS IN BID

I doubt if Nolan ever had heard of Goldfield, but he replied, saying that $30,000 would be the price. Up to that time nobody ever had heard of that much money being guaranteed for a fight. I had no idea what one had cost or would cost. The moment I got Nolan's telegram, though, it struck me that it would be worth that much to have people all over the country talking about Goldfield.

I had a vague idea, of course, but I never dreamed just how much attention the affair really would attract.

With the telegram in my hand I ran into Al Mayer up the street. He was in business in our town.

"I'll take $5000 of this, Al," I said to him, smiling. "You want any of it?"

"I'll take $5000," he said. "That's a big idea."

Farther down the street I ran into Graham Rice.

"It's a great notion," he exclaimed. "I'll take $5000 or any part of it. If you don't see anybody else I'll take all of it."

I walked around talking about my scheme and I did not find a single man unwilling to put up some part of the guarantee. In less than an hour I could have guaranteed $30,000.

That afternoon I telegraphed Nolan, accepting his proposition.

FAME SPREADS

In another twenty-four hours my name was known all over the country. Goldfield was famous in less than a week.

At first the sporting men were inclined to give our little town the laugh. Every time any cracks were made about us being able to stage a fight, though, I would offer to put up the money in gold. That was never necessary. To tell you the truth, not one of those men ever had to put up a cent.

A man who did much to establish me with the sporting world, including the newspaper men, was Bat Masterson, now dead. Bat had known me in Texas when he was a sheriff and a dead shot. Later he became a writer and a fight authority.

"I don't know much about Goldfield," he wrote in his paper, "but I do know that if Tex Rickard says he will guarantee $30,000, the fighters can bank on getting paid. Rickard's word is as good as gold."

I always appreciated that more than I ever could make Masterson understand. My standing was good enough in the mining regions, but in the East somebody had come out and vouched for me.

Of course, I had had a vague notion that holding a championship fight in a little out-of-the-way place would appeal to some people as a novelty, but, honestly, I hadn't the slightest idea of just how far that would go.

BUSY MONTH

I was in for the busiest month of my life, dealing with things that I knew nothing about. Until a man gets mixed up with a thing like that he hasn't the slightest notion of how many irritating details can come up. They kidded us around the country, but as we say in the West, we Goldfield fellows had our necks bowed and tails curled and were going like a bull yearling through a peach orchard. We were going to make a success of that fight if everyone of us went broke.

Nolan agreed to sign up at my terms and so did Gans. That poor darkey had to make most of his arrangements himself, and, believe me, I made it a point to see that he got a square deal.

The most important matter at the start was the building of an arena. Even this did not cut into the money we had guaranteed. I got a concern to furnish the lumber and build it with the understanding that the lumber could be returned when the stand was taken down. Practically the only cost was the labor. My credit was good enough for all that. Not once did I have to call on the men who had guaranteed to see the fight through. Let me explain that I was the actual promoter of the fight and was to receive whatever profit came out of it. My friends were simply backing me. I will explain in a succeeding chapter just how it never cost a single one of them a nickel, except what he spent in celebrating.

The thing that astonished me and began opening my eyes to what I had really done was the arrival in town of newspaper men. As things were getting under way I noticed a funny-looking tent down the street and made inquiries.

WRITERS SHOW UP

The occupant was Bill McGeehan, the sporting writer, now in New York. He had come up from San Francisco. With him was Rube Goldberg, now a famous cartoonist.

That they should come to Goldfield and camp out just to write about my fight was amazing to me. In a week or so I got used to that. Two dozen of the writers had arrived. Our town was humming.

It was the arrival of Nolan, Nelson's manager, that threw us into a high fever. Everything had gone smoothly up to that time. All had seemed sportsmanlike. With him came trouble, constant nagging. Nobody ever had as tough a time getting an even break as did poor Joe Gans.

That, though, will take another chapter.

IOWA CASABA STAR PLAYS CLEAN GAME

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. (AP)—If roughness of play can be accurately determined by the number of personal fouls called, Irving Nelson, Iowa's flashy forward, is the smoothest sharpshooter in the Big Ten basketball championship campaign.

In three conference games not one personal foul has been called against Nelson, who is second to Wilcox in individual scoring for the Hawks, with twenty-six points.

Tenhopen, Wisconsin's rangy center, has the most personal fouls—fourteen in four games.

SHORE SIGNS WITH BRUINS

REGINA (Sask.) Jan. 17. (AP)—Aubrey Shore, defense man of the Melville club of the Saskatchewan Amateur Hockey Association, has left for Chicago to sign up with the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, thereby adding another tangle to conflicting claims for his services.

ACCURATE DRIVING JUST AS IMPORTANT AS TRUE PUTTING

BY JESS SWEETSER,
Former United States and British Amateur Champion

(Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Jess Sweetser is admittedly one of the great amateur players of all time. He won one national amateur title and was finalist in another. He is the only American-born golfer ever to win the British amateur championship, and he has been a member of several international Walker Cup sides.

When I say I think driving is as important as putting it may sound heretical to those who insist on the value of the short game. It is true no one can be a winning golfer unless he is consistent around the green, but it is equally true that no one can advance far unless he can bash the ball far and straight off the tee.

The short drive leaves you with many problems the long hitter does not face. On the average par four hole nowadays the leading player faces a mashie shot or a mashie-niblick, perhaps. The weaker hitter has often to play a long iron or a spoon, with a consequent risk of not getting the direction—for a long iron or wood shot cannot be controlled as easily as a mashie.

Bobby Jones, it seems to me, is the best driver I ever saw. His drives are as long as any, and so consistently straight that it becomes disheartening waiting to see the ball kick off into the rough.

Phillips Finlay, young Harvard student, hit the best tee shot I've seen. Finlay is one of the most terrific belters in golf.

He was playing with Francis Ouimet and Roland Mackenzie in a threesome, before the last national amateur championship at Brae Burn.

The fourth hole there is 318 yards long, with a trap 300 yards from the tee and directly in front of the green. Phil hit one of the most prodigious wallops imaginable. The ball cleared the trap and rolled to the center of the green. There may have been better drives than that, but I never expect to see a finer one.

I use a square stance, with both feet on a line, take a slow backswing and hit from the inside out. In a short article like this it isn't possible to go into the technical phases of a shot. There are many technical phases, but the best advice that can be given any new golfer is to keep the head down, the eyes on the ball, and try to hit it.

Powerful hitting isn't just a matter of style. To some it may seem that Cyril Tolley overswings and Abe Mitchell doesn't follow through and Major Hezlet pokes at the ball. That they are all good, long hitters shows timing is much more important than style.

Every shot in golf is contingent on proper timing. It doesn't matter whether one is awkward or graceful if that habit is acquired. And one of the most important factors in timing is the slow backswing.

MOVE TO OUST ENOCH BAGSHAW

Student Board Advocates Buying Up Contract

Faculty Committee Sticks by Grid Mentor

Washington Coach Says He Awaits Developments

SEATTLE, Jan. 17. (AP)—The fate of Coach Enoch Bagshaw, University of Washington football coach, was being debated tonight at a special meeting of the Student Board of Control called by Smith Troy, student body president.

ENOCH BAGSHAW.

Troy, backed by a number of alumni advocated the buying up of Bagshaw's contract, which has three years to run, for $24,266.65, the amount he would receive if he remained as the Husky coach.

The student president asserted that he had sufficient votes in the board to effect Bagshaw's ouster. However, the faculty Athletic Committee, which has a right to pass on all actions of the board affecting coaches, has indorsed Bagshaw.

If the board should move for an ouster, and the committee refuse to accept it, the matter would be left in the hands of M. Lyle Spencer, president of the university, who has repeatedly refused to take any stand whatever in dissension over the football coach.

Two compromise plans presented by Bagshaw's opponents were turned down before the meeting was called.

One proposed employment of a new assistant coach, who would step into Bagshaw's shoes provided he showed sufficient ability to warrant the move. Bagshaw would accept the suggestion only if he were allowed to select his new assistant, while his opponents insisted that they be allowed to select him.

Under the second plan Bagshaw would have tendered his resignation on account of ill health, and receive the balance due him under his contract. Although the coach has been in poor health the last few seasons, he declined the proposal.

Bagshaw refused himself to take a hand in the meeting tonight, leaving his case in the hands of football players and assistant coaches.

"I am going to take no steps in the matter," he said, "nor will I make any statements other than to point to my record during the last eight years and to the fact that there are few, if any, football men listed among the opposition."

Among those who have issued statements indorsing Bagshaw is Chuck Carroll, all-American halfback whose collegiate football was played under Bagshaw.

Berry of Smiley Hall was high-point scorer with a victory in the high hurdles and a third place in the discus. Sheldon of Hadley was next in line with places in the same events. The meet closes on Saturday, according to an announcement from Coach Bob Strehle.

Ciuci Stars With Putter

BY SOL METZGER

Given a few more years of experience Henry Ciuci, one of the younger pros of Italian-American parentage, will make his mark in the golf world. Henry, like his friend, Gene Sarazen, of similar extraction, has figured that the way to reach the top on the links is by preparing himself via long hours of rigorous practice with all clubs. As a result he came through in one of the money events in Florida last winter and was in the run for the 1928 United States open until the final round.

He's a great little hitter and excellent putter. Stance is only slightly open with a dash more of weight on the left than the right leg, as is always the case with an open stance. Position is quite erect.

The point about his putting that shows it to be strong is his splendid follow through. Anyone who has mastered a rhythmic swing has a fine follow through. He gets it by letting the left arm go out toward the cup after the ball is stroked. That's a big point in keeping the blade of the putter at right angles to the cup all through the last half of the stroke. Note how the blade of his putter is open at the finish of his stroke as I have sketched him. You have to do that to insure holding the ball on the line. Tomorrow—Gene Sarazen putting.

Inability to make approach shots hold the green adds several strokes to one's score. Sol Metzger's leaflet, "The Art of Pitching," will enable you to cut down your score. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and secure a copy.

BRUIN CAGERS TACKLE BEARS

original forward position on Bruin basketball teams the past two years, and Larry Wilde, regular forward, has been jerked from the starting line-up. Replacing Balter at guard, Lubin, a former Lincoln High School basketeer who stands six feet, four inches in his holeproof sox, will start, with Bob Baker still at the other basket-guarding position. Bill Woodroof will start as center. Milo Young and Carl Knowles will also see plenty of action at center against Cal if all reports from the Bruin institution are accurate. The changes will have an advantageous effect in that they will add height to the local team. Larry Wilde's basket eye, which hasn't functioned well lately, is the big reason for the forward being benched.

However, the word has gone out from U.C.L.A. that the changes in the Bruin line-up are probably temporary, since Coach Works's object is mostly to get some more fight into the Bruin hoopsters. However, if any fancy basketball is displayed by the substitutes the changes will doubtless be permanent.

Coach Nibs Price's basketball boys will enter tonight's game favorites, due to the double defeat they dished out to Southern California last week-end in Los Angeles, but the Bruins are not out of the betting by any means. The absence of "Frenchy" Larrieu from the California line-up will not help the northerners.

Coach Caddy Works took along with him three less men than he did to the Stanford encounter last Saturday night. The Bruin squad that will meet the Golden Bears tonight is composed of Capt. Sammy Balter, Larry Wilde, Dick Linthicum, Erwin Piper, Carl Shy and Fred Kiensle, forwards; Bill Woodroof, Milo Young and Carl Knowles, centers; Bob Baker, Hal Smith, Al Sunseri, Frank Lubin and Richard Von Hagen, guards. Coach Wilbur Johns, U.C.L.A. freshman basketball mentor, scouted the Golden Bears early this season, and accompanied the team to Berkeley as an assistant to Coach Works. Assistant Coach "Si" Gibbs, Trainer "Scotty" Finlay and Richard Callahan, student manager, also took the train up north last night.

U.C.L.A.		California
Balter	F.	Weber
Linthicum	F.	Ten Eyck
Woodroof	C.	Corbin
Lubin[	G.	McCoy
Baker	G.	Gregory

STANFORD FIVE DUE TOMORROW

game will be watched with more than usual interest, as it will serve to give a line on the respective strength of the Trojans and Bruins. Stanford upset U.C.L.A., 34 to 20, in the north last week, springing a surprise of major proportions.

LA SALLE, CARDOZA IN WILMINGTON GO

Bobby LaSalle and Joe Cardoza, meeting at 154 pounds, go to the post Wednesday night at Wilmington. They are to step ten rounds.

The semifinal shows Joe Rienhardt against Mexican Tommy O'Brien while Sammy Jackson, aggressive Ocean Park negro, faces Johnny Woods in the special. Both bouts are six-rounders.

PETERS IMPRESSES FANS

Chippewa Indian, Who Boxes Brown at Olympic, Shows Class in Daily Workouts

Ernie Peters, Chippewa Indian, fights more like a Filipino. The little redskin, who boxes Newsboy Brown in the Olympic Tuesday night, is making a good impression at the Manhattan Gymnasium, where he is training.

His ring actions suggest the colorful fighting of Speedy Dado, the little doll the Filipino folks like so much.

Art Winch, who is handling Peters, says the Indian is a sensation in Chicago. He throws just as many gloves as Brown, and the Newsboy has never been accused of being slow.

Brown boxed eight rounds at the Main-street yesterday and his old speed is coming back. He has been out of the ring since he fought in London.

The Olympic will be in a good spot, no matter who wins next week. If Brown takes the Chippewa chief he will be sent against Kid Francis in February. If Peters wins Wadhams would like to make a match between him and Dado.

Peters is a very light bantam. He fights around 112 most of the time. This weight is getting hard for Brown to make, and a lot of folks would like to see him test Francis before Fidel La Barba gets back from Australia.

Little Mexico is going to support Jose Peregrini, the star middleweight, Tuesday night in his second Olympic start. Peregrini boxes Tim Charles.

There are as many Mexican fans buying the reserved seats this week as there were last week for Bert Colima.

Peregrini was born in Mexico and does not yet speak the English language. He is idolized by the folks down around the Plaza. He gets as much attention as a champion.

Jimmy Payne to Run Only Low Hurdles

James Payne, sensational University of Southern California hurdler, will run only the low sticks this year, according to his coach, Dean B. Cromwell. Payne, who has run the high hurdles in 14 4-5s. and the lows in 23 2-5s., should by specializing in the low barriers be able to come close to C. R. Brookins's world mark of 23s. flat, his coach believes.

The Southern California star performed sensationally last year despite the fact that he had cracked a leg bone in an early season meet.

Oxy Trackmen Will Perform in Class Meet

Approximately sixty of Coach Joe Pipal's prospective members of the Occidental track and field team of 1929 will perform in the first meet of the year tomorrow at Patterson Field, where the interclass track supremacy of the Eagle Rock institution will be decided.

The hammer throw opens the event at 1:30 o'clock. The shot and discus, pole vault, hurdle events and sprint races follow shortly afterward. Every letter winner of last year's team, except those lost by graduation, and Ward Schweizer, who will not go out for the third and last year on the cinderpath, will take part in the event tomorrow.

MORGAN SIGNS FOR CHICAGO TITLE GO

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Tod Morgan will risk his junior lightweight title in Chicago soon against the winner of the ten-round match between Tony Canzoneri, New York, and Armando Santiago, Cuba.

Promoter Jim Mullen announced last night in declaring all principals involved had agreed to the match.

HARRY KRAUSE SIGNS WITH MISSION BELLS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Harry Krause, left-handed pitching veteran of the San Francisco Missions, today sent in his signed contract for 1929. Krause was released last midseason by Oakland after many years of service with that club. He was picked up by the Missions and finished the season with a flourish that saw him win nearly all his games. Krause has passed the 40-year mark, but President Wade Killefer expects him to have a banner year.

REDS SEEKING HARD HITTERS

Extra-Base Clouters Needed by Cincinnati Club

Swanson, Crabtree, Shaner to Bolster Outfield

Joe Stripp Expected to Put Punch in Infield

BY RAY C. WILKERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

CINCINNATI (O.) Jan. 17. (AP)—Advent of 1929 marked the tenth year the Cincinnati Reds have labored without a pennant.

And speaking of the numeral "10" reminds Jack Hendricks, Red pilot, that if the proposed ten-man - team idea was a reality it might provide a batting punch his team lacked last year. Hendricks needs batters who can travel farther than ninety feet on their hits—and to the uninitiated ninety feet is the distance from the plate to first base. Hendricks needs sluggers who can propel doubles and triples.

Last summer the Reds had a one-base complex, the proof of which is in the figures—they ranked at the bottom of the league in total bases. It was not only Hendricks's pitchers who failed to hit; his regulars likewise were guilty. Pid Purdy, outfielder, had the highest regular mark and he just edged into the .300 class by a scant 9 points.

ROOKIES HIT HARD

In order to strengthen the club with sluggers who can run 180 and 270 feet in safety on their hits, the Cincinnati management has secured several long-distance swatters from the minors and was favored with drawing hitting talent in the draft.

In Earl Crabtree, Oklahoma City, Evar Swanson, Mission, Cal., and Walter Shaner, Chattanooga, formerly with the Red Sox, the Reds obtained a hard-hitting minor-league outfield. They will argue it out with Walker, Allen, Zitzmann, Purdy and Callaghan, last summer's regulars. Hendricks said six gardeners will be carried.

Third base offers an unsolved problem. "Jersey" Joe Stripp, purchased from Columbus last year, is the only candidate who is a natural hitter. But Walter Lutzke, formerly with Cleveland, obtained in the draft, is a more polished fielder. Chuck Dressen, last year's mainstay, must hustle to ward off the Stripp-Lutzke threat. If Stripp is crowded off third, Hendricks has indicated he may use him as an understudy to George Kelly at first, because the team needs the advantage of Stripp's long-distance hits. Wally Pipp also is available at first, but the Red leader would like to trade him.

Ford headed the league fielders at short last year and is slated to retain his post, but is not looked upon to aid the offensive, since he batted only .241. Clarke Pittinger will be called upon if Ford continues the light stick work.

NO WORRY AT SECOND

Hugh Critz, second base. No worry there. Critz is a dependable hitter and a great defensive player.

The Reds lost strength behind the plate when "Bubbles" Hargrave was named to manage St. Paul. Picinich is the only veteran receiver on the roster. Three youngsters, Clyde Sukeforth, Ed McMullen, Minneapolis, and Leo Dixon, Baltimore, seek the runner-up position to Picinich.

Numerous pitching additions in Ash and Meeker from Columbus; Gudat, Dayton; Johnson, Rock Island; Pile, McCook and Smith, North Platte, will be looked over by Hendricks at the Orlando (Fla.) training camp in hopes the veteran mound corps of Lucas, Rixey, Donohue, Kolp and Luque can be bolstered.

Ouafi Writes He's Lonesome

PARIS, Jan. 17. (AP)—El Ouafi, the little French Arab winner of the Olympic marathon, who is engaged in a professional running tour in America, writes that he is lonelier in America than in the Moroccan desert. The reason is that so few Americans speak his language.

"I haven't spoken fifty words in Arabic since arriving here," he wrote to a former fellow-worker in the automobile plant at Lavallois.

Concerning his opponent in his professional races he wrote, "Ray is a good runner for twenty-five kilometers (a little over fifteen miles) but I can beat him from forty kilometers up. I should like to run him 100 kilometers (more than sixty miles.)"

MAIN-STREET FIGHT CARD IS COMPLETED

The complete line-up of bouts on tomorrow night's regular weekly boxing program at the Main-street Athletic Club was announced today by Carlo Curtis. In addition to the Eddie Gleason-Joe Guerrero lightweight battle, the program includes:

Frank Leonard vs. Aurelio Herrera, 147 pounds.
Dynamite Jackson vs. Janitor Anderson, 230 pounds.
Johnny Bair vs. Bobby Baray, 126 pounds.
Young Bello vs. Tiger Elliott, 136 pounds.
Charley Rivers vs. Joe Comeaux, 138 pounds.

PING PONG RUINS GRIDDER

RABBIT PUNCHES

KILLS ROCKNE GOSSIP

THE appointment of San Willaman as head football coach at Ohio State ends the talk about Knute Rockne succeeding Doc Wilce at the Buckeye institution.

There might have been a little more to the story if the bald-headed Notre Dame mentor was footloose, but he is still in the early stages of a long-term contract at South Bend.

But Knute's name always makes good newspaper "copy" whenever some major institution is in need of a coach. The boys had him headed for Columbia a few years ago right after Southern California had him signed.

So it was natural when the overzealous alumni of Ohio State forced Doc Wilce's resignation that Rockne's name should be prominently mentioned as a successor.

Rock has what Dempsey possesses as a fighter—color, verve spontaneity. He is a native wit, a spellbinder as a talker, a great developer of young men, and a wonderful football coach.

But when the scribes of the Middle West talked up Rockne as successor they seem to have closed their eyes to the fact that Notre Dame under Rockne had the worst year in 1928 of his regime.

Notre Dame had never lost more than two games a season, much less three, in a period ranging over ten years that Rockne has been tutoring the Irish.

And if you know Rockne you know that he would never leave Notre Dame under those circumstances. When Rockne quits South Bend it will be at the end of a better season than the 1928 one.

ONE OF THE "HORSEMEN"

HOWEVER, it does look as if Ohio State will have the benefit of some of Notre Dame coaching after all.

Willaman, a Buckeye star over fifteen years ago, has asked Don Miller, one of the "Four Horsemen," to become an assistant, coaching the backfield.

Miller has been at Georgia Tech ever since graduation from Notre Dame four years ago, and came to the Coast with Coach Bill Alexander for the New Year's Day game with California.

And Columbus, O., is much closer to Cleveland, O., than Atlanta, Ga.

A REAL VETERAN

THE boxing world knew so little of Larney Lichtenstein except as a veteran manager that even the old-timers can't recall the date of his advent. George Hussey says he handled fighters over thirty years.

It probably was longer than that. Larney Lichtenstein was a character in this city back in the old twenty-round days—long before the game was bowed out as the result of Bull Young's death after a fight with Jess Willard at old Vernon.

Larney had many fighters, but the pride of his collection—the one he pointed to as the greatest fighter he ever handled—was Cyclone Johnny Thompson.

Cyclone Johnny was a Dane. He waged many fights in this city in the old days and he drew no weight limit. Cyclone Johnny was a lightweight. As such he fought lightweights, welterweights, middleweights, and the wind-up of his career saw him tackling Gunboat Smith, a heavyweight.

I know of no manager in this city today as much of a link between the old fighting days here and the new as was Larney Lichtenstein.

DEATH'S TOLL

THE death of the veteran calls attention to the fact that the Grim Reaper has taken an unusual toll from sport world celebrities the past few weeks:

Fred Thomson, former all-around track-and-field champion.

Tex Rickard, greatest fight promoter of all time.

Wyatt Earp, two-gun man of the old West and referee of the Sharkey-Fitzsimmons bout in San Francisco back in 1896.

Larney Lichtenstein, nationally known manager of boxers.

FAMOUS SCISSORS HOLD IS GREAT HELP TO JOE STECHER

The body scissor hold that Joe Stecher, former mat king, will use in his efforts to dispose of Paul Jones when they clash in a finish mat battle at the Olympic Wednesday night is said to be about as punishing and effective as the grip was more than a decade ago when the big Nebraskan first became recognized head of the heavyweight division.

During the five months that Stecher was preparing for his scheduled mat comeback, the former champion spent much of his time developing the strength he once had in his powerful legs. Breaking sacks of wheat with them, as was his method of developing his leg muscles some years ago, was revived for the recent training siege. When Stecher was able to again apply a pressure of nearly 3000 pounds with his legs, Anton Stecher, Joe's brother and manager, announced that the "scissor king" was ready for his comeback.

Anton was Stecher's only trainer during the time he was getting ready to come out of retirement. As in the days of old, when these two used to go back into the barn after the chores each day to wrestle, they worked several hours a day on a private ring on their farm in Dodge. A change in wrestling style from the defensive to the offensive, a greater diversity of holds, and more speed were the things given the most attention, aside from the body scissors, according to reports received here.

As a result in this change in style, Stecher is now said to be more colorful than at any time during his career, and is expected to give Jones a tough, fast battle.

Dick Daviscourt, the Wichita giant, will clash with Jack O'Malley, a young 215-pound eastern mat star, in the special event, while Jack Roller and Dr. P. A. Mullikan meet in a jiu-jitsu bout in the opener.

MERCURY FIVE PLAY SANTA MONICA TEAM

Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball players, unbeaten in three games in the Big Six division of the Southern California A.A.U. League, play their fourth league game tomorrow night, meeting the Santa Monica Y.M.C.A. at the Santa Monica Municipal Auditorium.

The Mercuries have been improving fast with every start, playing their best game of the season in trimming the Alhambra A.C. by a score of 42 to 21 Tuesday. Previous victories were scored against Pasadena Athletic and Country Club and San Diego Athletic Club.

TOWN CLUB CAGERS MEET SOUTHWESTERN

The Los Angeles Town Club basketball team will endeavor to turn back the strong Southwestern University five tonight. The game is scheduled to be played on the Santouse Junior High courts, at Santouse and Pico at 8 o'clock. The Town Club will rely on the shooting of Powers and Rose at forwards and the sensational guarding of Capt. Wangeman to beat Southwestern.

MILWAUKEE PRESIDENT ILL

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Jan. 17. (AP) Henry J. Killilea, attorney and president of the Milwaukee Association baseball club, today suffered a stroke and was taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

Soccer Lead at Stake in Sunday Tilts

Sunday's soccer double-header at Loyola Field looms up as the season's classic with the two games having considerable bearing on the league leadership. Hollywood's clash with the Mercury squad is an important one for the Movie men. A win for Danny Ritchie's players will put them out in front of the group with a good margin, while a victory for L.A.A.C. and a win by Magyars over the Vikings will create a triple tie for first place. Should Magyars win and L.A.A.C. take a tumble before the Sheiks, the Movie City players will still cling to their league leadership. The two games will be the best tilts of the season and the Loyola Field should be just about filled when Magyars and Vikings open the card.

The Rose Bowl tilts have considerable attached to the outcome with the teams farther down in the race fighting to get a notch nearer the leaders. Scots tackle the Richfield Oil team and unless the Oilers show improvement the Scotchmen will run off with a victory. Pasadena A.C.C. have the Sons as their opponents in the second game and this affair should be of an even nature with the conquerors of Hollywood seeking further advances in the league standing.

LEOPARDS TO TACKLE AZTEC FIVE

First Tilt of Series Tonight; Occidental Quintet Plays Redlands Tomorrow

San Diego State may tie with the Occidental College cagers for the leadership of the Southern California Conference if the Aztecs defeat the La Verne Leopards in the southern gymnasium tonight in the first of a two-game series between the two quintets.

The Aztecs opened the season last week with a convincing victory over Coach Beefy Heath's Pomona Sagehens. The Oxy cagers have played two tilts to date and won both of these tilts. A victory tonight for the Aztecs would tie up the conference leadership between the Tigers and Ye Southern five with both teams boasting a clean slate and two conquests over conference foes.

Tomorrow night the La Verne and San Diego teams meet in the second game of a two-game series at San Diego. At the same time, Coach Kienholz's fighting Bengals, reputed the class of the conference, will be fighting a determined Bulldog quintet from Redlands, considered one of the biggest threats to the Oxy supremacy.

SAGEHEN CAGERS PREP FOR CALTECH GAME

CLAREMONT, January 17. (Exclusive)—It's up to "Beefy" Health's Pomona cagers to sink the Caltech quintet here Saturday night if they expect to remain in the race for the Southern California Conference basketball championship. Last Saturday's defeat at the hands of San Diego State College put the Sagehens in a hole right at the start and another licking will definitely eliminate them as title-contenders. On the other hand, an unbroken string of victories until the Occidental series will give the blue cagers a fighting chance.

Caltech looked pretty wobbly at the first of the season and two weeks ago, the Sagehens would have been 2-to-1 favorites. Right now, however, with the San Diego defeat on their own record and the corresponding improvement of the Engineers the clash here Saturday looks about even. Comparative scores, in fact, give Tech a slight advantage over Pomona. The Engineers thumped California Christian College, and that squad licked San Diego State, but whether the analogy will continue to Caltech victory is another matter.

The Pomona boys have been through a strenuous training grind during the past few days and are certain to be in better shape than they were at San Diego. Likewise, playing on their own floor is certain to make a big difference.

A different line-up will go on the floor against Tech than did against San Diego. Capt. Clarence Bishop has been moved up from guard to his old berth at center and Al Putnam, goes from center to forward, relegating Frank Dyer to the side lines. Owen Kelson, sophomore guard, will replace Bishop, Harold Hadfield will play the other forward and Walt Shannon the other guard.
